Christian Missions Attacked

(Times News Services)
JERUSALEM — British and French diplomatic envoys today protested to the Israeli foreign ministry against violent demonstrations against Christian institutions by Jewish religious zealots Tuesday.

Police sources said a total of 125 persons have been taken into custody in connection with Tuesday's outbreak of anti-missionary demonstrations by an "action group" of zealots in Jerusalem, Haifa and Jaffa.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol promised that those responsible would be brought to trial.

The youths broke into church schools and slapped children, assaulted a policeman and a teacher, molested a Roman Catholic archbishop and caused some damage, witnesses reported.

The demonstrators were said to be members of the Hever Hapellion (Circle of Activists), an association of Orthodox students who favor anti-missionary laws.

Rioters invaded the courtyard of the French-directed convent school of St. Joseph in Jerusalem. Roman Catholic sisters bolted all inner doors and called police, who arrested more than 100 demonstrators for trespassing.

REFUSE ANOTHER GROUP
Jerusalem police refused another group trying to break into the Finnish mission school. One demonstrator was arrested on charges of attacking a policeman.

In Jaffa, about 100 demonstrators broke into the Church of Scotland school. School officials said the youths slapped several children, assaulted a teacher and caused some damage. Police seized placards reading, "end the disgrace of missions" and arrested seven demonstrators.

Archbishop George Hakim, leader of the Greek Catholic community in Israel, witnessed the Jaffa demonstration. He told reporters he was "molested and grossly insulted" by the youths.

In Haifa, witnesses said the demonstrators broke into the American-European Beth El Messianic mission children's hostel and school shouting "tyrants" and "hangmen." Both Jews and non-Jews attend the school.

About 36 frightened children hid under beds and in closets. The hostel's physician, Dr. Elisabeth Sterling, was reported to have suffered a broken finger in a scuffle. Nine demonstrators were arrested.

White Students End Mixed School Boycott

'BETTER NO FOOTBALL THAN LET NEGROES IN'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI)—Football players at desegregated Tuskegee High School voted Tuesday to disband the team and cancel the school's remaining football games.

A statement by the players said "an overwhelming majority" of the team decided not to represent a racially mixed student body. Thirteen Negroes entered the school Tuesday.

B.C. Forest Expands Crofton Pulp Plant

$18.5 Million Project

An $18,500,000 expansion of B.C. Forest Products' bleached kraft pulp mill at Crofton was announced today by company president T. N. Beaupre.

The expansion, scheduled for completion by July 1965, will employ up to 200 workers during the construction period.

"The hiring of extra labor is contingent on engineering plans now underway and the calling of tenders," a company spokesman said.

Mr. Beaupre said the expansion will add a further 325 tons per day to the mills present output.

MORE PULP, MORE PAPER

On completion, the capacity of the original mill, which came into production in 1958, will have been increased from 425 tons at that time to 950 tons of Kraft pulp and 350 tons of newsprint per day.

This is the second expansion this year by the company. At its annual meeting in March, B.C. Forest Products reported it was expanding its pulp mill by 30,000 tons a year.

"Our decision to expand further was influenced by the increasing world-wide demand for high-quality bleached sulphate pulps," Mr. Beaupre said.

Major expenditures will be for causticizing and liquor preparation, brown stock screening and washing, bleach plant, pulp drying machine, finishing room, fresh water supply and effluent facilities.

MODERN EQUIPMENT

"The design and selection of equipment is being directed towards further improvement in pulp qualities, and the most up-to-date equipment in pollution controls will be incorporated."

Mr. Beaupre said the design will also provide for further expansion to ensure that the mill can produce sufficient quantities of chemical pulp for a second newsprint machine and to maintain its supply of market kraft pulps.

In 1962 the company began construction of a newsprint mill on its Crofton site at an estimated cost of $25,000,000.

"This project is progressing most satisfactorily," Mr. Beaupre said, "and production is expected to begin by the middle of 1964."

LAID GROUNDWORK

"Work was also started to expand the capacity of the Crofton pulp mill by 30,000 tons per year and this laid the groundwork for expansion."

"The initial increase will enable the mill to further the chemical pulp requirements of the first newsprint machine."

Mr. Beaupre said the expanded facilities at Crofton, have given permanent employment to 250 persons at a cost of about $32,000,000.

"They have also contributed to substantially increased payrolls in many logging operations."

He said better utilization of the woods resources of both the company and independent suppliers will be obtained through the use of considerable quantities of salvage wood.

"It will also mean fuller integration of the company's sawmill, plywood and wood products operations at Victoria, Tofino and Hammond."

H. A. Simons Ltd. of Vancouver are consulting engineers for the expansion project.

HIT-RUN SUSPECT FOUND 7 YEARS AFTER MISHAP

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 45-year-old salesman was charged today with failing to remain at the scene of an accident—seven years after the accident happened.

Police said Thomas Joseph Dame was arrested by RCMP at 100 Mile House and was returned to Vancouver to face the charge.

In the Jan. 28, 1956 accident, Mrs. Neda Leckich and her daughter Elizabeth, then eight years old, were struck down. Neither was seriously injured.

Police said they traced the owner of the car said to be involved through its licence number given by a witness, but found the owner had moved, leaving no forwarding address.

The RCMP were recently asked to look out for the man after police heard he had been spotted in Vancouver and Kamloops.

'Remove Brother' U.S. Urges Diem

(Times News Services)

SAIGON — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has asked President Ngo Dinh Diem to oust his brother from the government and lift press censorship, a high official source said today.

Lodge told the president "it would be advisable" for his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, to leave the country, the source said.

This was the first time the United States has formally asked for Nhu's ouster, although the state department has said informally it would like to see him go.

Diem told The Associated Press last Thursday Lodge had not approached him on the subject.

No immediate reaction from the Saigon government was reported, but U.S. officials believed the request would be turned down by Diem.

The president has said repeatedly he regards Nhu, his political adviser, as extremely helpful.

The United States feels Nhu holds too much personal power, and objects to his methods in cracking down on Buddhists and other non-Communist opponents of the government.

OCCUPY HIGH SCHOOLS

Troops meanwhile occupied Saigon high schools again today as students talked of continuing a wave of anti-government strikes.

Few incidents were reported, however.

Pupils interviewed at some schools said they wanted to continue the strikes but said security forces were too strong.

They said they resented government statements that the strike wave has been organized by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Reds Launch Big Attack

CAI NUOC (AP) — Massive Communist guerrilla forces launched co-ordinated attacks on South Viet Nam towns Tuesday and set off the bloodiest fighting in the area in many months.

This district capital temporarily was overrun by the Communist Viet Cong and Dam Doi, 20 miles away, was burned and sacked.

Firm, Rival Union Blamed by Banks

MONTREAL (CP)—The Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.) today charged the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC) and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited with responsibility for the bombing last Friday in Chicago of the Upper Lakes vessel Howard L. Shaw.

SIU President Harold Banks, in a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson, said his union was "deeply shocked and surprised" by the violence, and considered it "extremely detrimental to the position of the SIU at this time."

Mr. Banks' union was blamed by a federal inquiry for most of the labor strife on the Great Lakes in recent months.

Among the chief recommendations of the inquiry were that maritime unions be controlled by a federal trusteeship and that Mr. Banks himself be fired.

The Maritime Trades Department of the AFL-CIO in the United States, of which the SIU is a member, has accused the Upper Lakes company of engineering the Chicago explosion to bring pressure to bear on the Canadian government to act and has posted a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the bombers.

The Howard L. Shaw is manned by Canadian Maritime Union crews.

18 Die In Crash

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — An Indian Airlines Viscount airliner carrying 13 passengers and five crew members crashed and burned south of New Delhi today. An airline spokesman said there was no possibility of survivors.

By HAROLD MORRISON
WASHINGTON (CP) — Dismissing any thought of a truce, Seafarers Union boss Paul Hall says he'll pursue the Great Lakes shipping battle even if the Canadian Parliament places all maritime unions under trusteeship.

Warning that such legislation might jeopardize the prosperity of Canadian shipping, the hefty president of the Seafarers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) Tuesday blasted the Canadian and U.S. governments, Canadian labor leadership and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

He denied that the SIU had anything to do with the mysterious dynamiting of the company's Howard L. Shaw freighter in Chicago last week and suggested the company's own private detective force may know more about the matter than the SIU.

It was more than a matter of coincidence, Hall said at a press conference, that incidents of violence come up just before SIU and sympathetic unions have to appear in court.

This had happened in the past and in each case, the violence hurt the SIU's case. Therefore, the SIU had nothing to gain from the ship blast but the Upper Lakes Company did, Hall maintained.

He said he regretted the Chicago incident, fearing it would hurt the International Long-

WOMEN LEAD RACE PROTEST IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Hundreds of white property owners ringed the city hall today in a massed protest against a proposed ordinance that would ban discrimination in real estate deals.

Busload after busload of the demonstrators arrived from their neighborhoods. Police estimated the throng at about 3,000.

Most of the pickets were women.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Typhoon Gloria, with centre winds of 140 miles an hour, smashed across Formosa tonight. It deluged the island with nearly two feet of rain and marooned more than 100,000 persons on dikes along the Tamsui River here.

The massive storm, biggest of the Pacific season so far, roared in from the Philippines, poured 21 inches of rain on Formosa in 36 hours and sent streams surging through cities and villages.

At least five persons were reported killed on Formosa, raising the over-all death toll of the typhoon to at least 22. The storm had left 17 dead in its sweep across the northern Philippines.

Police feared the casualty figures might run into the thousands, with other thousands made homeless by the winds and the floods. U.S. military families were forced to leave their homes on low-lying lands.

BLOWN OFF RAILS
Three persons were killed at Hsinchu near Taipei when the winds blew a train off the rails and sent the engine and first car tumbling down an embankment into a raging river. A mother and her child were killed in a Taipei suburb when their house collapsed.

More than 10,000 rescue workers struggled with rubber rafts and landing barges today to remove more than 100,000 persons who took refuge atop the giant Tamsui River dike.

They were working against both time and tide. When high tide came tonight, the rivers backed up and the water rose swiftly along the dike.

The long downpour filled the reservoir of the new Shihmen dam to overflowing. With all floodgates open, more than 6,000 cubic feet of water a second gushed into the swollen rivers that empty into the Tamsui.

In the harbor of the northern port city of Keelung, dozens of craft floundered helplessly in the rough seas.

WIRE BRIEFS

Liberals Seek Change

BRIGHTON (Reuters)—The annual convention of Britain's Liberal party passed a resolution today calling for establishment of an elected non-hereditary upper house of Parliament to replace the present House of Lords.

166 Cadets Jailed

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuters)—A martial court handed down prison sentences today on 166 war academy cadets for their part in an abortive coup May 21. Seventy-five of them were jailed for four years and deprived of civil rights for life.

Woman Brutally Slain

LONDON (UPI)—An attractive 30-year-old woman chiropodist was found brutally slashed to death today in the basement of a Victorian-style Methodist church. Police speculated she may have been the victim of a "Jack-the-Ripper" killer.

Nigerian Jailed

LAGOS, Nigeria (Reuters)—Chief Obafemi Awolowo, leader of Nigeria's opposition Action party, today was sentenced to 10 years in prison for plotting to overthrow the federal government. His deputy leader, Chief Anthony Enahoro, was sentenced Saturday to 15 years.

JAILED 3 YEARS

Armored car driver Douglas Brown, who admitted stealing more than $500,000 from his employers, was sentenced in Vancouver today to three years in prison. Brown, 35, was caught in Rio de Janeiro.

Judy Rapped By Premier Of Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Premier Roberts of Ontario today accused Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh of playing provincial politics with the Canada pension plan and said he will deal directly with Prime Minister Pearson on this subject in future.

(See story page 29.)

Mr. Roberts, campaigning for the Sept. 25 provincial general election, told reporters he was "completely astounded" at reading a report quoting Miss LaMarsh as saying Tuesday that Ontario does not know what it is going to do about the pension scheme.

"I am going to have to disregard her completely," the premier said. "It's obvious she is trying to inject herself into this provincial election campaign on an issue of national importance."

Grain Sale Under Wraps

OTTAWA (CP)—Official silence was maintained today on reports that a major grain agreement is being lined up with Soviet Russia.

But informants said the agreement—if it comes—might exceed the amounts involved in each of the long-term accords with Red China, which set out minimum shipments of 112,000,000 bushels.

Chairman W. C. McNamara of the Canadian Wheat Board, in Ottawa for the discussions, was quoted Tuesday night as saying any announcement of a major deal was premature.

In Alabama, Mister Kennedy voted a black "Aye."

Often a party slate shows th' writin' on th' wall.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

If you're an animal lover here's a number to remember: 385-6321.

Never heard of it? Then you're not a proper animal-lover. Because 385-6321 is the emergency number of the Victoria branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The other SPCA number, 383-0514, is used during office hours—but the emergency number is on duty 24 hours a day.

Reason we're bringing this up now is an early-morning accident in which a dog was hurt and in great pain, and there was no answer at the regular SPCA number.

Please, everyone . . . remember 385-6321.

George Whittaker, for many years manager of Canada Trust in this city, is revisiting friends on a Victoria holiday and managing to work in the odd round of golf.

George has recently assumed a top spot in the company's head office in London, Ont., but remains one of the most ardent Victoria boosters in the country.

Only a true Victorian will appreciate the story two American friends visiting from Beverly Hills related with puzzlement.

They were curious about those "rising sun" flags Premier Bennett dreamed up as an emblem for our go-go-go province, and approached a native on the Causeway to ask about them.

"Why," came the answer, "that's a flag the Queen gave to our premier because he doesn't smoke, drink or play bingo."

Here is some news for plant-lovers. Further increases are planned for the big collection of indoor ornamental plants at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton.

Sam Arrowsmith, farm foreman, said 17 new varieties of flowers, especially suited for hanging baskets, have been ordered from the United States.

"The plants are terrific," he said. "They should be quite an attraction when in full bloom."

Jack Crossley, horticulturist who is in charge of the greenhouse flowers, reports that people are now coming from far and wide to see the ornamentals.

"We had more visitors wanting to see our greenhouse ornamentals this summer than any other year," he said.

The burly star then wrote to a Deep Cove neighbor—Gray Campbell of 16001 Medrona Drive—asking him to enter the house, dig the American dollars out of a drawer and send them on to Hollywood.

"Hate to trouble you," Mr. Cabot wrote. "Be a good scout, sing a few bars of Rose Marie and forward the spuds." Mr. Cabot appears on Channel 2 every Monday at 8 p.m. in the TV show, "Stump the Stars." shoremen's Association (AFL-CIO) which comes up on contempt charges Sept. 16. The ILA has been working closely with the SIU in picketing and boycotting the Howard L. Shaw, tied up in Chicago since April 22.

The Shaw is manned by members of the Canadian Maritime Union, backed by the Canadian Labor Congress in a fight to oust the SIU of Canada from the Great Lakes. This fight has brought many outbursts of violence.

LANGUAGE COLORFUL

In colorful waterfront language, Hall accused Claude Jodoin, president of the CLC, of being a trade union "prostitute" who had betrayed freedom of union movement by endorsing the proposed Canadian legislation and urging immediate parliamentary consideration of the trusteeship idea.

Hall said the trusteeship proposal, which would include seizure of the Canadian SIU under Harold C. Banks, is as restrictive as that which had been adopted in British Guiana and which caused a general strike there.

It was socialism at its worst. Jodoin's support of it showed he was a "gutless" leader bending his knees to the government, Hall said.

The tough waterfront leader threw punches everywhere. He said the SIU is getting "shabby" treatment at the hands of the U.S. government, which has shown sympathy for the Canadian government's position.

NORRIS CRITICIZED

Hall added some highly-delegatory remarks about Mr. Justice T. G. Norris who investigated the Canadian SIU activities and urged an immediate union clean-up including the ouster of Banks as union leader. Hall said Banks' personal attitude might be criticized but not his basic attitude to the union membership. Banks had never stolen any union funds, Hall maintained.

CHIMP ACTOR GETS TEETH INTO ROLE

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Actor Ray Walston, 46, is recovering from painful wounds suffered in the biting embrace of a chimpanzee.

Walston was with the chimpanzee, Jerry, in a car while shooting a scene from the television production My Favorite Martian, in which he stars.

Witnesses said the chimp suddenly threw his arms around the actor. "Everyone thought he was just playing—until Ray started screaming," a bystander said. Walston suffered bites around an eye, behind his ears, on the left jaw and on both hands. It took three hours of surgery to mend the wounds.

To show its regret over the ship blast, the AFL-CIO maritime trades department posted $1,000 reward for information leading to the capture and conviction of the dynamiters. At the same time, Hall said all of the department's 29 maritime unions are supporting the SIU in the present "beef."

But the one man whose support may be crucial in this issue remains silent. AFL-CIO president George Meany has taken no public position on the battle.

Hall said he would not ask Meany to make a public statement because this might lead to Canadian accusations that Meany was thwarting nationalism in the Canadian Labor movement.

The Upper Lakes company, Hall said, is U.S.-owned to the extent of 67 per cent by the Norris Grain Company of Chicago.

Bruce Norris, the Chicago company president, was the brother of James Norris, who at one time had owned the company and who had associated with "hoodlums and racketeers," said Hall.

Committees To Study Power Sale

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Two Canadian-United States committees have been formed to study possible sale of Canada's share of hydro-electric power to be produced in the U.S. under the Columbia River treaty.

This was announced Monday by Charles F. Luce, Bonneville power administrator. He said implementation of the treaty is dependent on arrangements to sell the Canadian-owned power in this country.

Luce said the committees, each composed of four U.S. and four Canadian representatives, were formed last week at meetings in Washington, D.C., between representatives of both governments.

Luce said "the position of the U.S. has been that it would prefer that Canada use its share of treaty power, but if Canada desires to sell such power in the U.S. we would assist in arranging the sale." He said successful marketing would require the best efforts of public and private utilities in the Pacific northwest.

Represented on the committees will be the governments of Canada and British Columbia, the U.S. government, public and private utilities.

Gas Prices Cut

VANCOUVER (CP)—Imperial Oil cut gasoline prices one cent a gallon today at its Vancouver outlets and other major oil companies were expected to fall in line. The cut—reversing recent increases—brought prices back to 38.9 cents a gallon for regular gasoline and 43.9 cents for premium.

Pension Hike Will Not Mean Boost in Rent

OTTAWA (CP)—Rents in government-controlled housing projects for elderly people will not be raised as a result of the proposed $10-old-age pension increase, Revenue Minister Garland's office said today.

In addition, effective today the income limit of $1,500 a year for admission to some of these projects is raised to $1,800 annually. The figure applies to the joint income of an elderly couple.

The statement quoted Mr. Garland, now in Windsor to address the annual conference of Ontario housing authorities, as saying he has read reports of fears that rents in projects occupied by the elderly might be raised to offset the pension increase.

"This, of course, ought not to be so. I wish to announce that this will not be so in any projects over which the federal government has any control."

There now are about 8,000 elderly people living in 20 National Housing Act projects in Canada. These are controlled by the federal government.

The statement also refers to nearly 1,000 rental units built under special federal-provincial agreements for elderly persons as well as other low-income families.

Mr. Garland said he has asked the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to recommend to the federal government's provincial partners in such projects that rents should not be automatically increased because of the $10 additional pension.

Rites Saturday For Owner Of Pioneer Firm

Norman Burnley Hall, well-known city businessman, died today in hospital, age 74.

He was owner of Richard Hall and Co., a coal and insurance business founded by his father when Victoria was in its pioneer days.

Mr. Hall was a charter member of Victoria Gyro Club and active in the Capital City Commercial Club, Victoria Native Sons and Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

He served overseas in the Canadian Army during the First World War.

He is survived by the widow, Bernadette, 645 Ardmore Drive, Sidney; a daughter, Mrs. J. Edward N. Flanagan, a sister, Mrs. R. J. Dunsmuir, both of Victoria, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Hayward's Chapel, followed by interment at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Aged Couple Die In Crash

CRESTON (CP)—An elderly couple from North Vancouver were killed Tuesday and lay for three hours unnoticed in the wreckage of their car.

Police would not divulge their names.

The car left Highway 3 where it skirts the southern tip of Kootenay Lake. It struck a tree.

The accident went unreported for about three hours, police said, because passing motorists could not see the bodies inside the wreckage.

Quemoy Shelled

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists fired 102 shells at the Quemoy Islands Saturday night, the Chinese Nationalist defence ministry reported. It was the heaviest shelling of the complex since Aug. 9, when the Communists fired 115 shells.

Two Tories Try Again 'Rebel' Rejoins Fold

Two former candidates and a federal rebel were nominated Tuesday night to run for the Conservatives in Victoria in the Sept. 30 provincial election.

Chosen by acclamation after two other nominees withdrew were:

W. C. Gelling, 55, former chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, manager of a local office supply firm, who broke away from the federal Tories last year;

Theodore "Ted" Cressy, 63,

Herbert Anscomb Declines

Biggest applause of a crowd of 54 in Sir James Douglas School went to old-time Tory great Herbert Anscomb, who declined a nomination by Bobby Ely.

"We need some of the old warhorses," he said, "and we need his money also."

"I appreciate very much the suggestion, but I am sorry I can't accept," Mr. Anscomb said.

Also nominated was Eric Charman, the Conservative candidate here in the recent federal election. He wasn't at the meeting but had previously told a friend he would not run.

"I can't accept nomination

Ruled Out In Federal Try

Mr. Gelling was the centre of a furious Tory row in April, 1960, when he attempted to wrest the Victoria federal nomination from former MP A. deB. McPhillips. He was not allowed to stand because he had been a member of the local association less than 30 days.

He angrily began to campaign as an independent candidate, but withdrew before election day.

Tuesday, Mr. Gelling branded the Social Credit government "an autocracy."

"Quebec went through this with the Duplessis government," he said.

He said the Conservatives would restore government by elected representatives instead of one-man rule.

"We can give the government of B.C. back to the people," he said.

Mr. Cressy said the Socreds have already brought socialism to B.C. by the B.C. Electric takeover and government ferries.

"The NDP can promise anything because I doubt strongly they would ever have to produce," he said.

His comment on the Liberals: "You don't know whether city businessman who was a candidate here in the 1960 provincial election;

John W. Loader, 59, of 2644 Cadboro Bay Road, recently moved here from Trail, where he was in the radio and television business, and was a Conservative candidate for Rossland-Trail in 1960; any person, regardless how highly we think of him, without his consent," said chairman Gordon Elworthy.

Mr. Loader was also absent at Trail on business.

But Mr. Elworthy read a letter from him agreeing to run.

The letter said Social Credit was misleading the public on two counts—by claiming a constituency would suffer unless it elected a government member and by fostering the fear that support for other parties would split the vote and allow the NDP to become government.

"It is inconceivable that the party would choose the worst as protection against the fox," Mr. Loader said.

They're going with labor or free enterprise."

He said Premier Bennett as a Conservative 12 years ago was "a man of his word."

"But he has wandered from the field of Conservatism. His word is not so good now."

Two examples, Mr. Cressy said, were the premier's opposition to the B.C. Electric takeover in 1960 and his insistence earlier this year there would be no election.

PRESIDENT of the Exchequer Court of Canada, Chief Justice J. T. Thorson announced Tuesday he will resign his post at the end of the year to "devote more time to two favorite projects . . . advancement of the rule of law and advancement of peace."

Justice Thorson is national president of the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament.

Reports reaching a state capital from hundreds of fleeing families told of scores of bodies left in makeshift morgues and scores of injured refugees crowding country hospitals.

Western Parana was hit hardest. Fires there cover an area 100 miles long and 40 to 50 miles wide. Flames spread 20 miles a day over the weekend but rescued workers say the advance has subsided.

Tons of food, clothing and medical supplies have been shipped to disaster areas. One U.S. Air Force plane flew in 30 tons of supplies Tuesday.

President Joao Goulart toured Parana Tuesday and promised 1,500,000,000 cruzeiros ($1,630,000) in federal aid. Newspapers said Pope Paul pledged 3,000,000 cruzeiros ($38,000) to aid victims.

Public health authorities were reported worried by several cases of typhoid and fear the disease may spread. Vaccines are being prepared for shipment.

MIAMI (UPI)—Cuban exile sources here Tuesday reported bitter fighting between guerrillas and Castro troops in central Cuba with heavy casualties on both sides.

Four underground groups in the field in Cuba were said to have pooled their resources in a 20-day series of running skirmishes with Castro regulars. Nearly 200 battle casualties, included 144 killed, were reported.

The newspaper says Lalouette was understood to have recruited the support of West Germany, Italy and the Vatican to form an informal committee to bring pressure on Lodge.

"Diplomats say that the purpose of Gen. de Gaulle's intervention is to end United States influence in Viet Nam, to find a means of conciliation between the Communist-ruled north and the non-Communist south and to re-establish the influence once enjoyed by France in all of Viet Nam," the dispatch continues.

You Have Only One Chance!

KAMLOOPS — "Government doesn't affect me." That's what my seat mate on the train told me. He's wrong, dangerously wrong.

Government concerns every one of us. Good government means sound financing, more jobs, more opportunity. Bad government can mean high taxes, unemployment, insecurity. We are all ahead when government is good.

The strength of democracy is that every responsible citizen can decide if his government will be good or bad. Everyone can help determine the strength of our economy, of our opportunity, our security. Our chance . . . our only chance . . . comes Election Day.

The election September 30 is more important than most. Because the Bennett government has done things harmful to most citizens of B.C. Mr. Bennett has scared off industry, cost us jobs, cheapened our schools, broken his promises. You can choose between Mr. Bennett's old harmful ways, and the new progressive proposals of the Conservative party.

Many able men and women share my dislike of Mr. Bennett's way. Some of them stand with me as Conservative candidates, and would sit with me in a Conservative cabinet. We are all pledged to ensure that this Province gets the respectable, honest and efficient government it must have.

DIEF LIKES 'HIS' HIKE IN PENSIONS

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — John Diefenbaker, leader of Canada's Progressive Conservative party, said Tuesday he is extremely pleased with the announcement that Canadian old-age pensions would be increased.

Prime Minister Pearson announced Monday in Ottawa that, if Parliament approves, old-age pensions will go up $10 a month in October, to $75 a month.

"I am a good prophet," said the 67-year-old former prime minister, adding that he had predicted the increase earlier.

'FINANCED WITH MONEY FROM EAST'

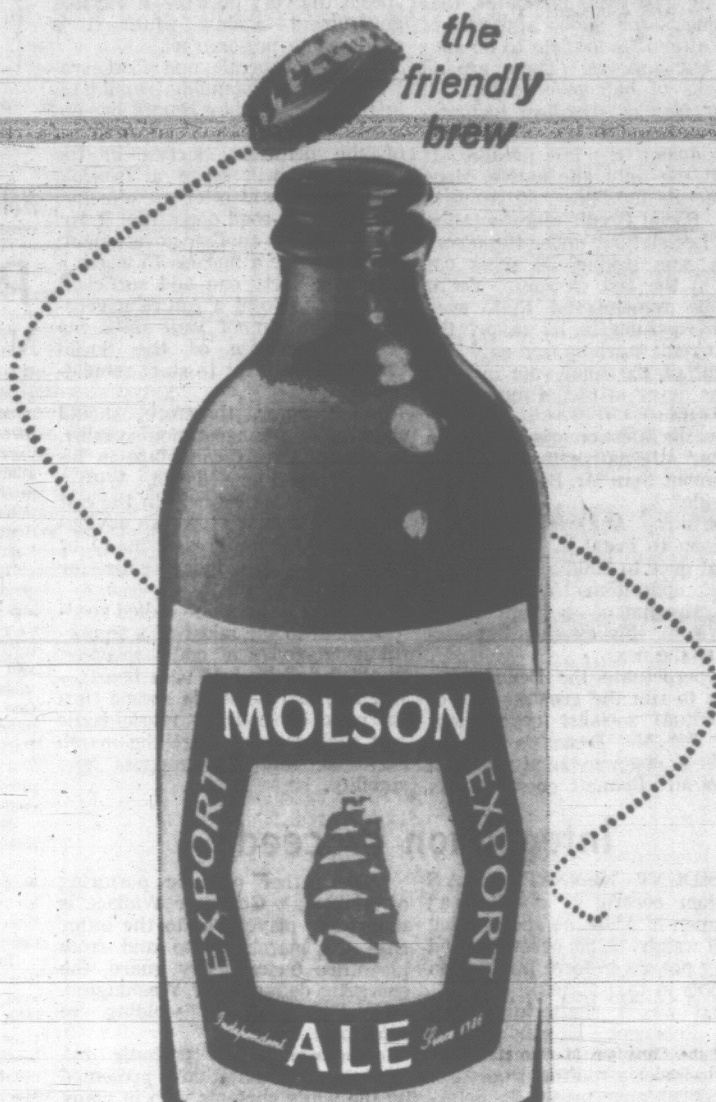

WAC Charges Tory Smear

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—Premier Bennett, leaving on a campaign swing through central and northern British Columbia, said Tuesday night he is the victim of a Progressive Conservative smear campaign financed with money from eastern Canada. He would not say who was producing the money, but added: "It isn't coming from orphans and widows." In a public statement Mr. Bennett attacked Progressive Conservative leader Davie Fulton. "Political patronage hit an all-time high when Fulton was in Ottawa," he said.

"No federal justice minister should appoint a partner in his own law firm, no matter how qualified, as a supreme court judge," he said. When asked for a name, the premier replied: "No, no. I won't give you a name. We are not conducting a name-calling campaign."

HAZARDOUS ESCAPE ON STOLEN NAVY SHIP 91 Starving Cubans Safe

MERIDAN (AP) — Meridan authorities gave food and medicine today to 91 emaciated Cubans who stole one of Fidel Castro's naval vessels and made a perilous five-day voyage to the island of Cozumel near here.

The refugees told of heroism and suffering in first reports reaching Meridan.

An account by the correspondent of the newspaper Diario de Yucatan told this story:

The mass escape of 41 men, 28 women and 22 children, was led by a former Cuban naval officer, Rafael Rodriguez.

The main group made a grueling trek to an undiscovered rendezvous on the southern coast of Cuba.

Restore the Centre

A PART FROM A PROPORTION of double-dyed partisans, most people in the province today are wondering how to vote at the forthcoming election.

They see many faults in the Social Credit government's record. They are disturbed by past scandals; by high-handed gambling with their money in power projects; by a lack of frank communication between the government and the people which is masked by cheery slogans; by past-tense mandates, that is, requests for public approval of policy after it is too late to do anything but approve. These are all marks of bad government. But fear of socialism has persuaded many to vote for Social Credit during the last decade. It seemed the only alternative, since the Liberals and Conservatives were weak. Social Credit representation in the Legislature, under these conditions, was sizable—31 seats out of 52 in the last election. Yet it must be remembered that, even with everything in its favor, the Social Credit machine won only 38.8 per cent of the total vote in 1960 and has never attracted more than 45 per cent.

Now the question arises: Is there no other alternative to a socialist government than Mr. Bennett's personal rule?

There is. And we had better start soon to install it. We should begin at once to build a strong non-socialist opposition to the Social Credit government—perhaps not to topple it at this election but certainly at the next.

To perpetuate the Bennett regime is to run the greatest risk of an eventual socialist government here. For Mr. Bennett's government is a one-man administration—when Mr. Bennett goes, who in his party would take his place? Merely to ask the question brings the point home. Mr. Bennett's government will not last a day longer than Mr. Bennett; one-man administrations are always a gamble.

The longer the Social Credit government remains in power, the greater the likelihood that eventual rejection of it will result in a swing to the far left. Mr. Bennett's regime therefore carries within itself the seeds which in time would sprout the very growth—a socialist government—against which it is supposed to preserve us.

Where Liberals and Conservatives offer outstanding candidates in this election they should be supported. A healthy representation of the orthodox parties in the Legislature will serve a two-fold purpose. It will offer an effective middle-of-the-road opposition if Mr. Bennett forms another government; it will provide a nucleus to which a deserving party can add sufficient members to form a future government. We cannot wait until the eventual collapse of the Social Credit government to start rebuilding.

Each voter, therefore, should choose the strongest non-socialist, non-Social Credit candidate in his local race and vote him in. With a nucleus of five members in the last House the Liberals have an obvious edge and the calibre of many of their candidates today calls for continued support.

This is the election—called needlessly and in the midst of a shameful hodge-podge of court reverses, fumbled policies and vain boasts—when British Columbia should turn its back on political razzle-dazzle and slickness and start the march back to sanity, soundness and stability.

Integration Proceeds

PRESIDENT KENNEDY HAS taken control of national guardmen in Alabama and is using the full weight of his executive and military powers to force integration of schools in that state.

What was a shattering action under President Eisenhower in Arkansas a few years ago has now become almost a routine procedure. The federal government is determined to see that the rulings of the Supreme Court are upheld and that Negro school children shall receive equal treatment with white.

The integration efforts in Alabama and elsewhere are, of course, only token actions. One or two Negro children are entered in white student bodies numbering thousands. But it is the principle that is at stake now; more extensive implementation will follow.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran

THE DEATH THIS WEEK OF Mr. Justice Cornelius O'Halloran leaves the city, province and nation poorer by the loss of a man who was noted alike for his legal brilliance and his insistence on preserving the legal rights of all petitioners before the bar of justice.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran's original approach to legal problems was displayed in many judgments written during his 25 years on the British Columbia Court of Appeals and not least in some of his notable dissenting judgments which pioneered concepts of law later accepted by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Interrupted only by service overseas in the First World War, Mr. Justice O'Halloran's connections with the legal life of the province spanned a period of 48 years—years of service and well-earned prestige.

Don't Shoot the Piano Player . . .

THE SOUR COMMENTS OF the heads of two local old age pensioners' groups as reported in the press will do little to help their organizations and much to disturb both old age pensioners and the taxpayers who provide pension funds.

The burden of their remarks was that "we'll have to take what they give us but we should have a lot more." Under a proper system of contributory pensions the answer to this would be obvious: "Very good. Put more in and you'll get more out." But in the present case, where the pensions are paid by a general tax levy on incomes and sales, it would be more in keeping to accept the latest increase gracefully, if not with gratitude at least with an appreciation that few if any countries in the world look after their elderly folk better than does Canada.

It is hard to believe that the quoted officials spoke for their members. Everyone desires a comfortable living for older citizens in their closing years. And the taxpayers of Canada are not doing badly by their senior citizens in paying out nearly $1 billion a year in old age benefits, when the treasury is millions of dollars in deficit.

Deficits mean borrowing, borrowing means inflation, and inflation means hardship for pensioners.

Paying for Devaluation

THE CONSUMER PRICE INDEX for July registered the largest month-to-month increase since late 1960 and reflected the fact that the cost of living in Canada was almost two per cent higher at mid-year than it was 12 months earlier.

Also up at the end of July was the wholesale price index for industrial materials which was 1.6 per cent above the level of July last year.

Most of the increase in these two vital indices is accounted for by the devaluation of the Canadian dollar. It took almost two years for the full effect of this action to work its way into the price structure by way of an automatic increase of 10 per cent in the cost of imported goods.

Economists are wondering now what effects the rises in living costs and industrial materials will have on Canadian business. With competition still stiff, manufacturing firms will find it difficult to boost prices and yet, at the same time, will find profits shaved as a result of higher costs. In addition, higher living costs are sure to be reflected in wage demands in some areas at least, adding to a squeeze on profits which could inhibit expansion plans of many industries.

In this province, where the bulk of the wealth is generated by basic resource industries which have benefitted from devaluation more than they have suffered, the sharp effect of increased costs has been partially offset by rising prosperity. It's well to remember, though, that for most of the country the beneficial effect has not been so marked.

And here's another thing we can tell them . . . By 1993 we will have the home owner's grant up to $6,857 and 31 cents . . .

FROM OTTAWA

Parliamentarians Go Abroad for Answers

MR. GORDON CHURCHILL, a wandering Conservative scholar, is now in Britain on a mission which has caused a good deal of puzzled speculation in the national capital. The former minister, apparently, intends to study at first hand the methods and organizational technique of the British Conservative Party.

There seems to be general agreement that Mr. Churchill, a strategist who achieved surprising success in 1957 and 1958, is the right man for this mission if the mission has much to offer. One can also understand Mr. Churchill's intense interest in a British Conservative Party which has enjoyed since the First World War a political domination comparable to that of the Liberals in this country.

No doubt Mr. Churchill will be courteously received at the Conservative central office which is staffed by extremely well-mannered and competent people. But his welcome may be somewhat less warm than that which Mr. Douglas can count upon at Transport House.

In the first place the British Conservatives have been sufficiently shrewd to avoid anything resembling exclusive links with Conservative parties in other countries. In the second, Mr. Churchill was a leading minister in a Canadian government which failed to endear itself to Mr. Macmillan and his associates.

Why Here?

The British may, of course, be disposed to let bygones be bygones. In any event, Mr. Churchill will probably have little difficulty in pursuing his political studies. By whatever process of reasoning, however, has he persuaded himself that the secret to Canadian success is now in custody of the British Conservatives?

This is a puzzle and it would be a puzzle even if the world had never heard of Christine Keeler and her curious assortment of friends. One would not expect political methods and techniques worked out for a tight little island (and-unitary kingdom) to yield satisfactory results when transplanted to a sprawling Canadian federation in which problems, difficult enough in themselves, have been rendered even less tractable by the resurgence of the old struggle between the founding races.

In any case, Mr. Churchill's confidence in British Conservative methods may come at the moment as a distinct surprise to the British Conservatives themselves.

The postwar success of Mr. Macmillan's party may owe something to the peculiar talents of British organizers but they probably owe a great deal more to the experiences of the British public. It has long been accepted that the Labor Party can win an election only if it appeals successfully to a large segment of middle class voters.

By the end of the 1940s it could no longer do this because too many people were fed up with the restrictions, irritations and frustrations of Socialist rule. They were attracted to a rival party which, among other things, promised to build houses faster than Labor could build them—and did in fact make good this claim.

Restored Confidence

More remarkable is the Conservative recovery after Suez when the return of a Labor government was for some time widely expected. But the primary condition of this recovery was the replacement of Sir Anthony Eden by Mr. Macmillan, who did much to restore confidence by his own unruffled demeanor and good sense.

There have been demands for a change in Canadian Conservative leadership but no one can accuse Mr. Churchill of promoting them. He is considered, no doubt correctly, to be Mr. Diefenbaker's right hand man.

It would appear from various stories in Conservative newspapers that Mr. Churchill has been impressed by the ability of the British party to maintain its ties with the electorate in the long intervals between elections. The British Conservatives seem much less confident that they have found the key to success.

Last February the Profumo scandal had yet to burst on the nation. The death of Mr. Gaitskell had, however, cast a dark shadow over Labor prospects. Even so, this correspondent found a mood of pessimism among eminent British Conservatives. The government was gravely troubled by problems of persistent unemployment closely resembling our own. Its trade policy was in ruins. Waning popularity was reflected in a long list of by-election reverses. Middle class voters were turning to the Liberals in sufficient numbers to ensure Labor victories—or else staying sullenly at home, with the same result.

It is not easy to believe that matters have been improved by Miss Keeler's contribution to island politics. The more general view is that British Conservative stock has sunk to a postwar low.

This makes the timing of Mr. Churchill's visit mysterious if its purposes are indeed those reported by the newspapers.

More Prescient

But study is often rewarding and Mr. Churchill may be more prescient than his critics realize. There are other matters than organization to be investigated in Britain. The Canadian Conservative Party seemed about two years ago to have run down its fund of political ideas. At the recent session it seemed content to exploit (not very successfully) the more glaring mistakes of a new administration without offering anything very new or impressive of its own.

It is generally agreed that the British Conservatives were remarkably fertile of ideas in the period when Lord Hailsham and the group about him were struggling to adapt British conservatism to the radically new conditions of the postwar welfare state. This may perhaps explain Mr. Churchill's conviction that the answers to his problems are to be found in Britain.

But the flight to the Liberals during the past year or two seems to have been inspired largely by the Conservative failure to go on generating the ideas that carried Sir Winston back and later, after Suez, restored an almost shattered party.

In the circumstances Mr. Churchill's odyssey is not easily explained. But this is not to condemn it. One can hope for some improvement in a House led by well-travelled parliamentarians. With Mr. Diefenbaker invigorated by his travels on the continent, Mr. Douglas re-instructed by his sojourn in Sweden, Mr. Churchill back from his post-graduate studies in Britain and ministers reporting in from capitals as far removed as Kuala Lumpur, there ought to be a saltier tang to parliamentary debates when the House resumes next month.

Aid to the Have-Nots Totals Billions

THE rejection of President Kennedy's foreign aid program by the House of Representatives, which reduced the Administration's suggested figure by some $600 million, comes at a time when competition between Russia and the West to win friends and influence people through economic aid is being intensified.

Mr. Khrushchev more and more needs to prove to Communists outside Russia that peaceful coexistence and economic competition with the capitalist world can pay political dividends. Economic aid to the under-developed and emerging countries is a major means to this end, despite what Peking says.

Whatever advantages America and Russia have gained from past foreign aid investments, the poor nations of the world have been clear beneficiaries, at any rate in the economic sense.

Large Total

Since 1945 the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union, the four main "givers," have together spent nearly $135 billion in government aid (economic and military) according to an estimate based on statistics from Western and Communist sources.

Of this about $105 billion has come from the United States (distributed to 111 countries), more than $4.5 billion from Britain, about $3.7 billion from France and between $1.5 and $1.5 billion from Russia. The Western totals exclude sums from private investors.

The total amount of foreign aid to under-developed countries from non-Communist Europe, the U.S., Canada and Japan is now well over $9 billion a year in both government and private investment. Last year the U.S. donated about $4.8 billion in long-term aid to developing countries. France was second, Britain third and West Germany fourth.

West Germany has become an important "giver" in recent years. Up to June 30 she had paid out $1.9 billion in economic assistance to 65 countries.

More than half of this went to Asian countries. About $1 billion has also been set aside under loan agreements to finance 75 projects in various countries.

Since 1945 British assistance, government and private, has topped the $9 billion level—about the same amount as Britain has received in American aid. Half of British economic aid has come from government sources, disbursed through loans and outright grants. Last year government aid reached $900 million. Private British finance also provides an average rate of $900 million a year.

France, like West Germany, spends a higher proportion of her gross national product on foreign aid than Britain, and in the past few years has been second to the U.S. in economic assistance, particularly to her former territories.

Britain has doubled her spending on foreign aid in the past five years, but she will never again be the major supplier of external finance for other countries which she was for well over 100 years until the U.S. took over her role after the last war.

The Americans make no bones about the purpose of their foreign aid programs. A Washington statement described aid as "a primary support of the foreign policy of the United States." They have no doubt that their $105 billion investment since 1945 has prevented Communist takeovers in Western Europe and other areas.

Late Starter

Some Western officials tend to underplay the extent of Soviet foreign aid. Russia, with a shattered economy to rebuild immediately after the war—and because of Stalin's mistakes—was a late starter. But under Mr. Khrushchev she has made considerable efforts in the past seven years.

The Soviet Union has given about $3.6 billion in economic credits to under-developed countries, and more than 20 newly independent countries are receiving Soviet aid, according to a Soviet statement.

This is the first time they have given figures of their foreign aid. Economic assistance to the Communist satellites was not disclosed, but this has been estimated by Western sources to total about $10 billion since 1945. This is no mean effort when one remembers that the bulk of the Soviet Union is itself under-developed.

With Soviet aid to China now virtually at a standstill, India is likely to be a main beneficiary.

Apart from India, chief recipients of Soviet help are the United Arab Republic (including Syria), Iraq, Afghanistan, Indonesia, Ghana, Guinea, Ethiopia and Cuba.

The Soviet bloc suffers the same problems as the West in dealing with newly independent countries and their peoples. But despite these difficulties and with Mr. Khrushchev in business to convince the world of Soviet power, economically as well as militarily, Soviet purse strings are bound to be loosened—and the Western effort will have to be expanded to maintain its present lead in the field of "peaceful coexistence."

DENNIS THE MENACE

RANGOON, BURMA

Halfway To Peking

By JOSEPH ALSOP

IN its present stage, this disordered but lovely small country can best be described as halfway to Peking. Gen. Ne Win, boss of Burma by virtue of an army coup d'état, started his career as a stout anti-Communist. In principle, he is still anti-Communist, and he is certainly a patriot who wants above all things to insure Burma's independence. Yet the road he has taken nonetheless must finally lead to semi-subordination to Peking unless he changes direction pretty abruptly at some later date.

To be specific, Ne Win's National Revolutionary Council of army officers has now begun negotiations for a peace settlement with the principle faction of the Burmese Communists, the so-called "White Flags" headed by Thakin Than Tun.

As far as Ne Win is concerned, the object of these negotiations is clearly to end the interminable civil war here. Thus he hopes to get cracking with his "Burmese way to socialism," which chiefly seems to mean national ownership of just about everything in sight, including the stalls of the street peddlers.

The motive of Thakin Than Tun, meanwhile, is obviously to obtain recognition and standing in Burma, comparable to the recognition and standing accorded to the Cuban Communist party in the early stage of the Castro revolution. As Than Tun, by general admission, is much the cleverest politician in Burma today, he no doubt hopes to improve his position rather rapidly, once he has been recognized and given an open political role.

Peaceful Agreement

No one can of course be sure that the present negotiations will produce a positive result; but most people here expect them to end in a peace agreement between Gen. Ne Win and the majority faction of the Burmese Communists. What makes this prospect so particularly interesting is the recent development of communism in Burma.

In brief, peace with the government has already been rejected by the minority Communist group, the "Red Flags," led by Thakin Soe. But this minority is unimportant, being composed of only a few hundred guerrilla fighters. Their political character may be judged by Thakin Soe's current line, that Mao Tse-tung is not nearly Stalinist enough.

Thakin Than Tun's group, in contrast, is large and powerful; and until only 10 or 12 months ago he and his followers were supposed to be adherents of Moscow in the Peking-Moscow feud. They have now gone over, however, to the side of Peking.

An important episode in this decision in Peking's favor was clearly the return from China of a number of key party members and Communist ex-army officers who had spent years in training there.

The new party line was clearly enunciated at a press conference by the delegation spokesman, Yebaw Htay. He denounced India for "attacking" China; he sharply attacked the nuclear test ban treaty; and in general he took the straight Peking line.

Significant Result

The really significant result of the new pro-Peking Communist line will only appear if and when the Communists reach a peace agreement with Ne Win. In this event, the newly recognized and accepted Communist leaders will constitute a powerful pressure-group, always tending to push Ne Win and his government towards an alignment with Peking crudely similar to Castro's alignment with Moscow.

The somber, isolated Ne Win is certainly no Castro. He might be more popular than he is if he resembled Castro a bit more. He has also been putting out some anchors to windward, for instance by striking up a friendship with the strongly pro-Western Prime Minister of Thailand, Gen. Sarit Thanarat. He will certainly fight hard against giving the Communists in Burma anything like the predominant power they now have in Cuba.

But the direction Gen. Ne Win has taken is pretty clear nonetheless. His own increasing isolation may help to push him down this road if the Communists rally to his support after the peace agreement.

Above all, he will find it very difficult not to go to the road's end if he is also pushed by events elsewhere in Asia—on the Indian frontier, for example. That is why halfway to Peking reasonably sums up the present position here.

Stout People and Hunger

I doubt if thin people can conceive of the suffering that some stout persons undergo because of their tremendous and compelling and almost constant hunger. Here is a letter from a young woman of 24 who says that all her life she has had to fight overweight. As she says, in her last high school year, her weight shot up to 147 pounds, which was bad for a girl only 5 feet 5 inches tall. Somehow she managed to take off 30 pounds so as to get back to 117. She then looked very well.

But since then she has suffered so much from violent hunger that she has had first to stuff herself, and then to stick her finger down her throat so as to vomit all of the food. She admits she doesn't like this practice; it makes her feel ashamed; it makes her disposition unbearable, and it disgusts and outrages her mother. The girl not only devours most of the food that comes into the house, but she is constantly raiding the refrigerator. Her parents with whom she lives are angry with her because they feel she is wasting too much money on food. Actually she has none left for clothes, which is sad. Her work is deteriorating and her memory is terrible.

She says that of course she would very much like to handle the situation in a different and better way, but she feels that for her this is impossible. She says that even on 900 calories a day she can gain a pound and a half. She can't bear the thought of becoming a fat woman. Another woman of this type writes me to say that her hunger is "terrifying." All day and half the night she can think only of food.

I realize how foolish it is to say to these people, "Stay on a 1,000-calorie diet." For them it is almost impossible. I have known a number of people who weighed between 300 and 400 pounds, and with my help took off perhaps 100 pounds; but then, in a few weeks, they went right back to their original weight. I know a taxman who weighs 400 pounds, and he always carries around with him a bag of sandwiches which he keeps eating, even while he is at work. His hunger is unbearable.

I remember well a woman who came into my office weighing 320 pounds. Her mother and three sisters were almost exactly like her in build and weight. As she said, it was hard for her to reduce when she and her sisters went to her mother's house; that lady loved nothing better than to watch her daughters eat and promptly cooked for them a big dish of fat pork sweetbreads!

Occasionally, if a stout woman can fast for a few days, eating nothing, she can develop changes in her blood which will so knock out her appetite that soon she will have no trouble living on but little food. I have seen this happen and of late some physicians are relying on this mode of reducing.

A number of people have been asking me where to go to get the new operation for asthma. They have read reports which made them hope that a real cure has at last been found. In this operation the little carotid body, which helps to regulate blood pressure, is removed from the neck. During the last year, since a paper on this appeared in The Journal of the American Medical Association (June, 1962), I have been asking my friends who specialize in allergy what they think of it. So far, all of them have said they were reluctant to try it and were waiting for reports to come in from men they know and trust.

Now, I learn from a letter in The New England Journal of Medicine by Dr. F. W. Ballit, secretary of the Council of the New England Society of Allergy, that his group of experts do not see any reason why the operation should work, and they do not feel that the value of the procedure has been sufficiently proved. They suspect that much of whatever benefit is obtained comes from the drug ACTH (like Cortisone), which is given daily after the operation.

Dr. Richard H. Overholt, in an answering letter, stated that only some 30 per cent of his patients have received great benefit from the operation; 40 per cent had partial benefit, which means that a remaining 30 per cent were not helped. I certainly hope that the operation proves to be useful, but in cases like this I prefer that my patients not be used as guinea-pigs.

HOME GARDEN

Peony Foliage Useful Too

Happy we should be with plants which serve more than one purpose.

New gardeners feel that the primary purpose of plants is to produce flowers for the adornment of their gardens, but as experience increases and perception sharpens, other attributes become important.

Consider foliage as an instance.

Peonies have large, showy blossoms frequently well perfumed, yet even the later blooming varieties seldom last over a period longer than three to four weeks.

However, peony foliage retains its beauty and usefulness as a garden decoration until the end of September.

During the summer months, the plentiful food and water supplied to the plants will keep the leaves in good condition and their functioning contributes to the health of the underground storage tubers, which, in turn are responsible for next year's flowers.

According to the different varieties of peonies, the leaves during late summer become tinged with a warm nut brown, a dusky pink or a dark plum coloring. Some assume a reddish edging to the green, and we feel that their decorative value is high.

When September comes with its host of flower shows needing abundant flowers to be cut for beautifying halls, the peony foliage may be taken from the plants without harming the tubers. The coloring of the leaves indicates maturity and their function is just about finished.

Their lovely muted colorings blend with zinnias, marigolds, chrysanthemums, all colors of Michaelmas-daisies, dahlias and the heleniums, most of which are practically stripped of their own foliage when used as cut flowers.

I make a rule to cut only one complete leaf stem from an individual peony plant at one time, so that if they are still partially active, all food supply will not suddenly cease.

During the month, a succession of cutting will pretty well use all the foliage by the end of the month, and we can then dig the tubers for division and replanting if we need increase.

Labor Leader Condemns South Africa

AMSTERDAM (Reuters) — Harold Wilson, opposition Labor Party leader, Monday attacked the "naked racism" of the South African government and called for a complete ban on arms exports to South Africa.

He told the eighth congress of the Socialist International here that South African racism is a threat to the integrity of neighboring territories.

Wilson added it is no longer an internal affair but a challenge to the whole free world and the great principles of the unity of nations.

"This congress must express its utter condemnation of apartheid (racial separation) and should also call for a complete arms ban on South Africa. This is the least we can do."

"The United States government has taken a firm stand on this and it is time for European nations to do the same."

'Cheap Place to Take Stand'

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
COLOMBO (AP)—In Ceylon's story of oil, politics and diplomacy it is difficult to distinguish ideology from incompetence, stubbornness from hastiness.

A key point may be a statement attributed to a U.S. official in Washington:

"Ceylon is a cheap place to stand on a principle."

The principle is that of not giving aid to countries that seize U.S. property without compensation. The United States halted aid to Ceylon last February.

The situation before and since leaves those closest to the scene with varying evaluations. Marxists here depict it all as a clash of old-fashioned oil company imperialism with nationalism. Some others suspect poor government tactics on all sides.

The oil companies involved are Burmah - Shell, based in Britain, and Esso and Caltex, based in the United States. For decades, they provided the needs of this tropical island off the southern tip of India.

SOVIETS LOWER
The Soviet Union started undercutting the companies' prices for all from Middle Eastern fields. In 1961 Ceylon's Commerce Minister T. B. Ilangaratna established a government company, Ceylon Petroleum Corporation (CPC), to import cheaper Russian oil products.

To put CPC into business the Ceylonese government seized 178 service stations, 88 kerosene outlets and other facilities from the three companies.

Washington and London objected on behalf of the companies. Ceylon responded they would get fair compensation and would be allowed to continue to operate on the "basis of fair competition."

CPC quickly took about half the retail business.

About this time an American-owned utility company was nationalized in Brazil. Senator Bourke Hickenlooper, an Iowa Republican, wrote into the U.S. aid bill a prohibition against helping countries that failed to provide adequate and speedy compensation for nationalized property.

The party leader was speaking to a Port George constituency convention which nominated by acclamation Ray Williston, lands and forests minister in the last legislature, as Social Credit candidate in the Sept. 30 provincial election.

He said the Liberals and Conservatives, as the two main national parties, have been responsible for much of the disunity in the country and that "in the future we'll have a re-division of political waters on the federal scene."

He made no reference to Creditist leader Real Caouette but said later in an interview there was no chance of a reconciliation with the Quebec wing "as long as we have the attitude being developed by Caouette."

'Hot Potato' In N. Zealand
AUCKLAND (CP) — The weekly newspaper Truth says the New Zealand government is "in a spot" over the visit on Sept. 15 of Robert N. Thompson, leader of the Canadian Social Credit party.

Thompson has been invited here by the New Zealand Social Credit League, which plans to contest all seats in the Nov. 30 general election. The league believes Thompson's visit will enhance the party's prestige.

Truth says "the big question is will the government accord him privileges to which he is entitled as an executive member of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association of Canada?"

"It seems there is reluctance on the part of officials to commit themselves before political bosses make up their minds how they are going to handle this hot potato."

The U.S. ambassador, Miss Frances Willis, warned Ceylon's prime minister, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, of this. But little happened until the deadline on U.S. aid drew near in February.

At stake were $1,300,000 in grants and $3,000,000 in loans, big amounts in an underdeveloped country of 10,600,000 persons.

There is a suspicion that leftists deliberately dragged out talks between government and companies. It is possible they wanted to force Washington to stop aid so they could accuse the United States of trying to dictate to Ceylon and say Russia was a better friend.

Some feel the drag was a result of normal delays in the Ceylonese bureaucracy, while the oil companies took a too tough line.

The halt of aid brought a strong reaction. Miss Willis was burned in effigy. The Communists and two other Marxist parties got together for the first time in decades. They have stayed together in an important realignment of political forces.

The Ilangaratna forces then began to devise ways to restrict private oil company operations further in the name of saving scarce foreign exchange. They asked the companies for oil tank facilities because Russia wanted to send larger shipments. The companies refused and this was cited as an example of their unco-operativeness.

The government played its final ace. Last month it passed a law giving CPC the exclusive right of retail petroleum sales in Ceylon except for naval bunkering and aviation fuel.

The new law, effective Jan. 1 or earlier, means the private companies are stuck with their property here. In theory they might get money for the approximately one-third of their service stations seized in 1962. Most of the other two-thirds will become useless since CPC will need three stations at each crossroads.

The three companies intend to fight the case through Ceylonese courts, without hope of winning. They want to establish the principle of resisting and keep their claim open in case the political climate changes.

The British government, which owns part of Burmah-Shell, seems less noticeably disturbed than the United States. British investments in Ceylon's tea and rubber total more than $500,000,000. Tea is the backbone of Ceylon's economy.

Lovelier, more interesting to shop in than ever before

Although we are 60 years young in Vancouver, we have been in Victoria for just nine years ... and we have thoroughly enjoyed each one of those years more than the last.

Victoria and Sabas hit it off perfectly right from the very start, mainly because we both feel the same way when it comes to doing business together with fairness and principal.

Yes, Victoria has been nice to Sabas, and we extend a great big THANKS for the support it has given us ... for making possible this expanded store which we pledge to keep worthy of your confidence and goodwill.

There are now Three Exciting Floors

- A main floor more full than ever of the LADIES' FASHION ACCESSORIES you love.
- A brand new lower floor for the finest of FASHION FABRICS.

Pac Pete Buys El Paso Assets

CALGARY (CP) — Pacific Petroleum Ltd. announced Tuesday the purchase of all non-total more than 8,000,000 acres.

Pacific has interests in 32 of the 47 wells which have been drilled to date in the Fort Nelson district where proved gas reserves now are estimated at 2,000,000,000 cubic feet.

Construction of a pipeline to deliver Fort Nelson gas to Canadian and United States markets is scheduled to begin late this year.

Most of the El Paso acreage is in the Fort Nelson district of British Columbia where some of the most prolific gas wells ever drilled in Canada have been completed in recent years.

The El Paso holdings include a 50 per cent interest in the largest of these wells, which was drilled in Kotocho Lake field northeast of Fort Nelson.

Pacific also held an interest in the Kotocho Lake well and was joint owner with El Paso of a number of other major wells in the Fort Nelson area.

With the acquisition of El Paso's interests, Pacific's land holdings in British Columbia are now more than 8,000,000 acres.

'BIG' MARKET FOR CANADIAN AUTO PARTS

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian auto parts manufacturers seeking markets in the European auto industry face some tough—but not impossible—hurdles.

For those that succeed, the market could be a big one. That's the picture set out in a report by an 11-man auto parts trade mission.

by the trade department, which studied the French, German and British auto industries last June.

The report issued Tuesday said the European industry, which makes some 6,500,000 autos yearly, buys most of its parts in its home market.

Increase in two-car families also will be a factor, he said. Mr. Scott predicted that the 1964 model year would be "no worse" than 1963 sales, which topped 1962 figures. This would result in three consecutive high volume auto sales years.

SEATTLE (AP) — The Boeing Company has won a research contract to develop a quick-reacting rocket booster called Hix for an anti-missile missile.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat: United Kingdom 1,050,000 bushels, Venezuela 150,000.

Prices on the grain exchange were generally firm, influenced by reported negotiations between Canada and Russia for Canadian wheat.

Buying was prompted by a possibility Russian interest might extend to commodities other than wheat.

AT NEW YORK among Canadian issues traded, Aluminum Ltd. and Canadian Pacific fell 1/2 and Dome Mines 1/4. Distillers Seagrams gained 1/4. International Nickel 1/4 and Walker Gooderham 1/4.

Prices on the American exchange also advanced in active trading. Canadian Javelin and Scurry Rainbow Oil gained 1/4 and Preston fell 1/16.

AT TORONTO Falconbridge rose 1/4 and Denison 1/4 and International Nickel dipped 1/4 and Noranda 1/4 among senior base metals.

In mines, Dome was up 50 cents to $31.63, and Leitch 15 cents to $2.30.

Canadian Delhi advanced 20 cents to $4.15 and Medallion slipped five cents to $4.30 among western oils.

On the foreign market, Moore Corporation was down 1/4 and Great Lakes Paper was quoted at 21 1/2.

AT MONTREAL the market continued to follow the lead of the New York market—bolstered by progress toward a tax reduction today.

Trading was fairly active as prices showed substantial gains in all sectors.

AT LONDON, quiet conditions prevailed on stock markets today. Movements were slight and mixed. Gilt-edged showed scattered gains of 1/16 or so.

Dollar stocks were mostly higher reflecting Wall Street's Tuesday recovery.

Among Canadian issues, gains of a point or more went to Trans Canada Pipe, International Nickel, Hiram Walker and Albitol. Imperial Oil was also firm. B.A. Oil was an isolated dull spot. Canadian banks advanced.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light. Bethlehem Copper was up 1/4.

S EXCHANGE — Banks buying cheques at 1 1/2 per cent, notes at 1 1/2 per cent, and buying silver at 95 1/2. Selling cheques at 1 1/2 per cent, notes at 1 1/2 per cent, and selling silver at 95 1/2.

TOFINO CRABMEN CAN JUSTLY CRAB

By PAT DUFOUR

Tofino, the small fishing village that squats close to Long Beach on the west coast, has a peaceful air. Gardens of the sunburnt houses that hug its hills are pungent with flowers.

Its harbor woos the tourists with the simple things of life as they watch the fish and crab boats bob against the jetties.

But scratch beneath the surface and there is discontent and concern, especially among the men who wrestle their living from the sea.

Their incomes today are so precarious that many are tempted to "throw in the towel" and turn to other crafts. They're concerned with mounting debts, and a fishery department that threatens to allow depletion of our natural sea-food resources.

FISHERMAN SEES DANGER
Long Beach crab, well-known to most gourmets, is in danger of being "fished out" according to John Svoboda, a fisherman for 21 years.

Reasons for this are numerous, although indiscriminate crabbing stands high on the list. Regulations demand that crabs caught be six inches long, male or non-egg-bearing females.

Commercial fishermen, says Mr. Svoboda are as guilty as anyone. "We are all greedy. But the worst offenders are the "druggers" who keep the crabs they catch and alibi themselves by saying that the crabs just happened to get caught in their nets."

When Mr. Svoboda first went to Tofino he was able to build a new house, buy some acres of land and a 36-foot crab boat, Silver Slipper.

Poor harvests of crabs and fish have resulted in the family "being mortgaged to the hilt." Mr. Svoboda has had to retire because of a heart condition brought on by worry.

SONS ON THE JOB

Now his two sons, Ralph, 32 and John, 19, are out every day in the Silver Slipper fighting a continuous battle to pull the family finances "out of the red."

Commercial crabbers use clams as bait and even these are fast disappearing from our West Coast.

Explains Mr. Svoboda, "No one minds the tourist who goes along the beach and digs himself a few razor clams. But, I've seen professional clam diggers descend on Tofino and raid our beaches barren."

"Four professionals from Washington dug 200 pounds of clams in six days. In their own state they would have been jailed for that. Washington sets a limit on the number of clams to be taken. You have to have a permit in summer and can only dig at certain seasons."

The Tofino crab canneries is also feeling the pinch. In operation for two years, they now confine their crab activities to winter months and rely on fish canning during the summer to keep going.

Pacific gales are another

Victoria Daily Times WED., SEPT. 11, 1963

threat to the crab fishing. "In one year we can lose as much as $4,000 in equipment," reports Mr. Svoboda.

The average crab pot costs $35 and floats, $3. The Svobodas usually have 400 pots out at a time and one storm can put their loss in the $1,000 bracket.

People who find the pots often turn them back to the fishermen and collect $5 per pot for "salvage" but many, says Mr. Svoboda, are "dishonest and keep them."

Even those who return the pots collect their money but keep the floats to sell them to tourists or decorate their resorts."

In order to make ends meet, the Svoboda boys are now adapting their $30,000 boat for fish trolling. But fish are also becoming scarce in West Coast waters.

It is practically impossible for a housewife to buy fish in Tofino. I solved the problem by visiting a fish camp on the jetty and coxing a fisherman to sell me one.

In spite of warning signals of coming scarcity, owners of pleasure yachts, many from across the border, make their summer headquarters on the West Coast. They bring along canning equipment and, according to local reports, "fish and can like fiends all summer."

What are the remedies? Convinced that the fisheries department is not sufficiently manned to enforce the present laws, Mr. Svoboda feels that making commercial fishermen deputy agents might be a step in the right direction.

Strict rotation of fishing areas in order to allow crabs and fish to build up is another suggestion. Seasonal restrictions, he insists, are essential.

And, he hopes, that the day will come when the government will consist "of statesmen and not politicians."

With homespun logic he explains, "A government and the people it governs should be like a family. The head of the family, whether it is the father or the government, should not have to woo the support of the children in order to carry out discipline that is necessary for the group's health."

"When politicians worry less about votes and more about the trust they've been given, Canada will go ahead and our natural resources will not be whittled away as they are now."

Guilty Plea In Break-In

DUNCAN—Clarence Hunt, of Vancouver and Nanaimo, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court, Tuesday, to breaking and entering, and committing an indictable offence, August 29, at a local coin laundry.

He was remanded in custody to await a pre-sentence report. Hunt surrendered himself in Calgary, and was escorted by police to Duncan on Monday.

FIVE PERSONS CHARGED IN LIQUOR CRACKDOWN

CHEMAINUS—Five persons appeared in local magistrate's court, Tuesday, on liquor offences.

Max Norris, of Chemainus, was sentenced to 30 days in Oakalla when he was unable to pay a fine of $50 for being in a beer parlor, when interdicted.

Chemainus youth, Al Skalbania, pleaded guilty to being a minor in a beer parlor, and was fined $25. For supplying liquor to a minor, Donald McLeod of Chemainus was fined $50.

Two local residents, Maurcen Russell and Robert Stewart, were each fined $25 when they pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place.

John Hieta, Esquimalt, careless driving, $15.
Al Musick, North Surrey, backing into intersection when unsafe, $15.

Dies In Fall

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—Kenneth Melvin, 24, of Lethbridge, died in hospital Tuesday, hours after he fell from a window on the second storey of a two-suite residence here.

Melvin played hockey with Lethbridge Native Sons and Lethbridge Maple Leafs.

a "water diviner" to find a well for their new elementary school.

A driller went down 212 feet to find water for the school on West Saanich Road at Durrance. But even at that depth the water only flowed at 2½ gallons a minute. The board had hoped for a flow of at least six gallons a minute.

The cost is expected to be about $3,000 because the driller first tried to find water at another site but gave up at 74 feet.

John Williams of Ladysmith, operator of Island Drillers, said if the board had asked for a "water diviner" he would have found one for the job. (A diviner or "water witch" uses a mystic willow wand to indicate location of water. Many people swear by it.)

"But it doesn't mean he would have found water any quicker," he said. "I've kept an open mind on water divining. In some cases it seems to work and in others it doesn't."

He said there is no lack of water underground on the Saanich peninsula, but not all of it is to be found near the surface.

"We sometimes have to go through bedrock to find water. That's what happened in the present case."

Mr. Williams is confident that the flow from the 212-foot well will be sufficient to look after present needs.

Victoria, B.C.

Dear Fellow Citizen:

I am supporting Social Credit and Dr. Charles Ennals in this election because the present government is in my opinion a very good one, and because the issue is clearly Free Enterprise or Socialism.

In my opinion, to all practical purposes, a vote for Mr. MacFarlane is a vote for Mr. Strachan, a vote Liberal or Conservative is a vote for the NDP.

A vote for Dr. Ennals is a vote for a continuation of a government that has been, and is good for the majority of the people in B.C.

Yours sincerely,
JUSTIN HARBORD.

SPORTS DIARY

By SHIRLEY POVICH
(The Washington Post)

WASHINGTON—At Los Angeles last Thursday Willie Davis took the morning off from his tasks as an outfielder for the Dodgers and took himself a bride. "We'll spend our honeymoon in New York during the World Series against the Yankees," said the happy newwed. That seemed to make sense, at the time.

That baseball is notoriously without sentiment, the young Davis's may be discovering for themselves. There will, indeed, be a World Series in New York in the first week in October but whether the Dodgers, and hence the Davis's, will be a party to it is now shrouded by more than a film of doubt.

Two things have been getting in the way of Willie's plans. One of these is the Dodgers and the kind of ball they have been playing, and the other is the St. Louis Cardinals and the kind of ball they are playing. The unfeeling Cardinals have won 10 of their last 11 and have ambitious designs on the Davis's honeymoon suite in that New York hotel.

The seven-game lead the Dodgers took into September has been shrivelling at a rate to send Angelinos to the bomb shelter. Still fresh in their memory is the Dodgers' swoon of last September when they blew the pennant, the playoff, and all notions that team pride, at least, would carry them through.

The Cardinals have been putting on a rush that has caused the Dodgers lead to a mere three games with 18 games remaining for the Cardinals' season. This is more than ample time for the Dodgers to blow it again. Last year they were four games in front with seven games to play and flunked out when put to pressure by San Francisco.

That Dodger collapse of 1962 was baseball's most notorious debacle. Not only did they lose their last four in a row, when victory in any one of them would have clinched the pennant, but they blew 10 of their last 13. Nor is it a pleasant memory for Los Angeles that the team that applied the coup de grace on the last day of the season in a 1-0 game was the Cardinals.

The Giants, the club that charged on the Dodgers last September, are out of it but there was something gleeful about it last weekend when they helped the Dodger skid by winning two out of three. At about the same time, the Cardinals were assembling No. 9 in a nine-game winning streak to announce their presence in the race.

The Dodgers are now sorely beset. Except for Tommy Davis, second in the league batting race, Alston doesn't know where the big hit is coming from. The Dodgers have been getting neither the long ball nor the timely one. Frank Howard, who did hit 25 home runs, has been benched. First baseman Bill Skowron from the Yankees has been a .224 batting bust. Willie Davis picked a .230 year in which to get married.

Maury Wills, who stole those 101 bases last year, has thieved only 30. Alston's pitching that took the Dodgers into their erstwhile big lead is so frayed that only Sandy Koufax is a solid risk. Don Drysdale is hurting from an attack of shingles and Johnny Podres has been dropped from the regular rotation.

The Cardinals are not only charging, but appear to have a bigger quota of better ball players. Dick Groat at shortstop in his first year with the Cards has fired the team with his league-leading batting average. Ken Boyer at third is the finest in the league and a long ball hitter. Bill White at first and Curt Flood in the outfield are hot, and the Cards' pitching is as deep as the Dodgers, now rates better. Also, Stan Musial is lurking on the bench.

The remaining schedule may or may not favor the Dodgers. Nine of their remaining 19 games are with second division clubs, while the Cardinals are favored with only five games against the lowly set. But the bulk of the Dodgers' games are on the road, with the Cardinals playing all but four at home.

The showdown is scheduled perhaps for next week, when the Dodgers take their case to St. Louis for a three-game series. The pivotal game there could be the one in which Sandy Koufax faces Curt Simmons, in a contest that will populate even the rafters in many old sportsman's park.

The man with the biggest stake in the proceedings of the next fortnight is Dodger manager Alston. Anything short of a pennant for the Dodgers could cost him his job. The Dodgers' bosses insisted at the end of last season that Alston was blameless for the collapse of the team's big lead. But if failure by the Dodgers becomes a twice-told tale in consecutive years, Alston could finish second in the post-season debate in the front office.

ILLEGAL EQUIPMENT

VITRA Cracks Down On Pair of Drivers

Competing with what the Vancouver Island Track Racing Association has ruled as illegal equipment has cost Jim Berry the individual high point championship at Western Speedway.

The VITRA technical committee seized five cars at random for the purpose of inspection after the last stock car meet at the speedway.

Of the five, Berry, Wally Lum, Brian Willson, Gordie Alberg and Bob Browne, Berry and Lum were ruled to be running illegally under VITRA rules, and were stripped of their points for the year.

Berry had first place all tied up, as second place driver Willson could not have collected enough points in the final event this Saturday to take over top spot.

The ruling gives Willson, winner last year, the championship for the second straight time.

Referees to Meet

The Lower Island Junior Soccer League will hold a referees' school at Jaycee Park at Hillside and Cook tonight and next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Browne has clinched second spot. Lum was not in contention.

Fred Bull, Harold Sjöstrom and Bill Smith will be battling it out for the next three spots Saturday, a 50-lap championship race.

Time trials start at 7:30

DRUCE COMPLIMENTS SPEEDY GAELS ...

'West Doesn't' Hold Patent on Running Game'

By GEORGE CAMPBELL
(Special to The Times)

OSHAWA—A true note of respect is a compliment from an opponent, and that's what the interpretation is among supporters of the Oshawa Green Gaels and Tom Druce's statement here Tuesday afternoon that "more lacrosse teams in the East should follow the example set by coach Jim Bishop of Oshawa Green Gaels."

Druce, veteran gutted-stick star of fairly recent years, is now successful coach of the Minto Cup defenders, had nothing but praise and admiration for the fast, clean and wide-open play of the Gaels, as they won the first game of the best-of-seven series, 10-7, in the nearby Whitby Arena, on Monday night.

Bishop doesn't agree that his club has adopted the Western style of play and points out that the West has no patent rights on the running game. The rapid-fire, short passing and running style has always been the pattern taught by Bishop for 17 years.

Leg-weary from their long train ride from the West Coast, the Gaels arrived only a couple of hours before game-time on Monday evening. Local observers are unanimous that tonight's game, second of the series, will be a more accurate test of the Shamrocks' real strength and ability. They were impressed by the four-goal performance of Bill Munroe, Victoria's team captain with a scorching shot.

Munroe's display, the amazing speed of the Dillon brothers, Ranjit and Nirmal, and goal-minding of Bob Fisher were the vocal points of discussion, as fans commented on Monday's game.

Druce also was satisfied with Fisher's performance on Monday and intimated that he would have him on the pads again tonight. There had been considerable talk of Norm Nestman, goalie of the Vancouver Vindex club, taking over the post. Nestman, picked up by Victoria for this series, starred for them when they defeated Brampton last year.

Bishop doesn't have any problem in this department. His 15-year-old sensation, Merv Marshall, earned the respect of the Shamrocks on Monday night and his own fans insist he didn't play quite as well as he did in some of the sensational sessions he had during the Eastern Canada final against Brampton.

Paul MacDonald, of Long Branch Castrolites, picked by Gaels for the finals, was a steady performer in the opener.

Bishop said he may dress John McAuley, high-scoring Brampton defenceman, for tonight's game and perhaps Jim Richardson, also of the Brampton club.

Dwight Davies, Oshawa's best checker, will not play tonight. He suffered a badly bruised elbow in a tangle with the sideboards. Art Tarbet of the Shamrocks came out of the game with a charley-horse injury and he was listed as a doubtful starter.

Ticket demand was almost doubled for tonight's game, assuring a sellout crowd—since the Whitby Arena was almost filled for the opening game.

Veteran lacrosse observers are raving about the speed and clean play, two of the dominating factors in Monday's entertainment.

Coast Fitba' Schedule A Most Unique Thing!

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The most unique thing about the Pacific Coast Soccer League is its schedule.

There isn't any.

The West Coast's premier fitba' circuit has, in recent years, operated its schedule of games on a day-to-day basis. One day it's this, the next it's that.

The 1963-64 season opens Saturday and nothing has changed.

Just the schedule!

The date-makers set up three games for the opening weekend but Bill Findler, the prime minister of the eight-team league, has decided it would be advisable to make some changes.

CANADIANS IN VICTORIA

Originally, the openers were to be: Saturday, Vancouver Canadians vs. Victoria United at Royal Athletic Park; Sunday, Columbus vs. Vancouver Firefighters at Callister Park; and, New Westminster Royals vs. Seattle Hungarians at White City Stadium in Seattle.

Pete Mainardi, the Columbus manager, begged Mr. Findler's pardon.

The Columbus team, Mainardi informed Mr. Findler, would be unable to field a full team this weekend. Would he, please, make the necessary changes?

Mr. Findler is an obliging soul. So, today, the weekend's games are: United vs. Canadians at Victoria; Wallace-Pilseiners vs. Hungarians at Seattle, and, Firefighters vs. Royals at Vancouver.

Columbus takes it easy.

STILL TIME

The United-Canadian match hasn't been affected, but don't bet on it. There are still two full days before game time.

The schedule changes have caused the small hairs on the back of Wallace Milligan's neck to stand on end. Commented the United manager:

"What would happen if we phoned to say we couldn't field a team? We'd forfeit the two points, you can bet on that."

Milligan has his problems but he's ready to go ahead anyway.

While he won't come right out and say it, Milligan indicates slight concern over his forwards—or, specifically, the lack of them.

United's defence, as always, appears to be Victoria's strongest point. The forward line is the question mark.

For example: Bill Hamilton, one of the team's more capable goal-getters, might have to start at centre-half instead of centre-forward.

Geoff Hill, perhaps the best centre-half in the league last year, hasn't indicated to Milligan if he (Hill) would be able to play Saturday. If Hill does start, Milligan's troubled mind might rest easy.

NO WONDER HIS WIFE WAS PERSPIRING SOME

LONDON (AP)—Shipyard worker William Clark has collected the first big pool win of the British soccer season—£72,358 ($217,074) on a farthing (one-quarter cent) bet.

Clark, who lives in Glasgow, successfully picked out last Saturday's soccer games ending in ties.

The 30-year-old Scot went home Tuesday after playing in an amateur soccer game and found his wife, May, sitting with an evening paper in her hands and perspiration running down her forehead. She had been checking his coupon.

SHORTS FROM EVERYWHERE

Death Takes Trio Of Sports Figures

This also happened in the world of sport.

Death tapped the shoulder of three sports figures... In Bethesda, Md., 17-year-old football player Sam Bittling died after surgery for a blood clot on the brain... He had become ill during team calisthenics but had not participated in contact drills... In Stans, Switzerland, former world slalom champion Georges Schneider, 43, was shot in a hunting accident... At Traverse City, Mich., William "Willie" Heston, Michigan's first all-American and one of the game's great halfbacks, died at 84...

Trying to crack the lineup of a Stanley Cup champion team can be as difficult as filling an inside straight... But in the Toronto Maple Leafs' camp the word is that Mike Corbett, a junior last year, is one who may make the leap...

Russia's Alexander Kupriov is a year older but he hasn't lost his strength... The Soviet strongman retained his world middleweight lifting title Tuesday by hoisting 962.5 pounds at Stockholm...

Hungary's Mihaly Huszaka was second, Czechoslovakia's Hans Zdravila third... Detroit got a long look from Avery Brundage Tuesday and the good word that she may get the 1968 summer Olympic games...

President of the International Olympic Committee, Brundage said Detroit has an advantage over other cities (Lyon, France; Mexico City and Buenos Aires) "because it has been on the list longer"...

Second on Monday but 15th on Tuesday, Vancouver's Dave Miller, finished in a tie for fifth place in the International Star Class World's Championships (sailing) at Chicago...

Tom Blackaller of San Francisco was the winner...

Lee Grosscup has changed his mind and will bid for the quarterback job with Saskatchewan Roughriders... He reported Tuesday after indicating he might go to Oakland...

Montreal Canadiens completed an 11-player trade with Springfield of the AHL... Canyans picked up five players (Ted Harris, John Chaszewski, Terry Gray, Bruce Cline and Wayne Larkin), despatched Brian Smith, John Rodger, Gary Bergman, Wayne Boddy, Fred Hills and Lorne O'Donnell... The Habs opened camp today in Montreal...

Toronto Argonauts, wallowing under five straight losses, learned that punter-halfback Dave Mann, operated on Aug. 10 for removal of a torn knee cartilage, may be ready to play Sunday against Hamilton... Said a team doctor: "Most operations of this kind take eight weeks recovery but Dave is ready. I've never heard of anyone getting over this operation so quickly."

Officials of the Richmond Curling Club say the bonspiel will run Nov. 24-29, with every rink entered guaranteed six games.

Most Homers by New Grandpa—Musial, 1

Koufax Keeps Winning; Cards Three In Rear

Associated Press

The remarkable Stan Musial set another major league record: Most home runs by a new grandfather, 1.

And the St. Louis Cardinals kept charging on. Sandy Koufax broke his own National League strikeout mark as Los Angeles Dodgers stayed three games in front of Cardinals in the National League pennant race.

Musial was up most of the night waiting for the birth of his first grandchild; then smacked a two-run homer as Cardinals defeated Chicago Cubs 8-0 Tuesday night, for their 13th victory in 14 games.

Koufax won his 23rd game against only five losses, and struck out nine Pittsburgh Pirates in a 4-2 victory. That gave him 276 strikeouts for the season. His old record was 269 in 1961.

Third-place Milwaukee Braves fell eight games off the pace, losing 4-3 to Cincinnati Reds. In other action, New York Mets whipped San Francisco Giants 4-2 and Philadelphia Phillies slugged Houston Colts 16-0.

17th FOR GIBSON

Musial's first inning homer was all Bob Gibson needed to record his 17th victory. It followed a single by Dick Groat, just restored to the line-up after an injury, and was Musial's 11th of the year and 474th of his career. Musial also produced a run-scoring single.

Gibson added a three-run homer in the second, with Groat on base again, this time with a double.

Wally Moon hit a two-run homer in the seventh for Dodgers to run the score to 4-0. Pirates got their first run in the bottom of the seventh with the help of an error. Bob Clemente hit a solo homer in the eighth for Pirates.

Aloha Nui, Kakou, Bo. A great big welcome to you, Bo.

Bo, of course, is Bo Belinsky, baseball's akamai kane—bad boy—who was shipped off to Hawaii Islanders when Los Angeles Angels became disenchanted with his services.

But Bo's back. They didn't carry him off the field at Los Angeles with leis dripping from his shoulders Tuesday night, but then he wasn't around when Angels finally defeated Boston Red Sox 6-5 in 10 innings.

WORTH 2½ STARS

Bo allowed eight hits, struck out four and walked none before he left to read the reviews of his return engagement on the mainland. He should get 2½ stars.

Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter for Los Angeles last year, was farmed out after compiling a 1-7 record, a 6.39 earned run average and a remarkable record for getting into trouble. He won four of five decisions with Hawaii while drawing large crowds.

Notified that he was starting against Red Sox, the 26-year-old left hander who insists the screwball is his best pitch, proved he hasn't changed much when he said:

CHANGED HIS MIND

"If I don't draw at least 13,000, I'll slash my wrists."

He fortunately changed his mind when he learned the game would be televised locally. Attendance was 4,649.

While Belinsky was holding the centre of the American League stage, Kansas City Athletics knocked off the first-place New York Yankees for the second night in a row, 2-0.

Minnesota Twins regained second place as Bob Allison hit two homers in a 5-4 decision over Cleveland Indians, Baltimore Orioles knocked Chicago White Sox into third by beating White Sox 2-1 and Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators split. Senators won 9-8 before Tigers took the nightcap 4-1.

Richmond Staging Grey Cup Bonspiel

VANCOUVER—A curling bonspiel has been added to the list of festivities for Grey Cup week in Vancouver.

Officials of the Richmond Curling Club say the bonspiel will run Nov. 24-29, with every rink entered guaranteed six games.

SAM JOINS 49ERS

Joe Perry Out, Etcheverry In

Joe Perry, 200-pound fullback who gouged almost five miles out of opposing National Football League lines, is looking for a job.

He was placed on waivers Tuesday as Baltimore Colts cut back to a mandatory 37-man roster limit for this weekend's opening games.

Perry broke into pro football when he was signed as a free agent in 1948 by San Francisco 49ers, then of the old All-America Conference. He was still with the 49ers when the club went into the NFL two years later.

Perry, who holds the league's all-time rushing record of 1,713 carries for 8,280 yards, went to Baltimore in 1961 and was made expendable this year by the outstanding showing of fullback

Redskins Drop No. 2 Quarterback

Coach Red Hickey said the 49ers signed Etcheverry, 33, "as a quarterback insurance. John Brodie is still our No. 1 man." Etcheverry played 11 seasons with Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League before going to St. Louis in 1961. He was cut by the Cards last month.

Washington Redskins released three players, including quarterback Galen Hall who was in his second season in the league and

Here is the team-by-team breakdown: Baltimore—Cut fullback Joe Perry, kicker Grady Wade and tackle Chuck Hinton.

Washington—Released quarterback Galen Hall, fullback Ron Hatcher and defensive back Ted Rzemoluch.

Los Angeles—Asked waivers on defensive back Carver Shannon, formerly with Winnipeg and Hamilton of the CFL, and end Gary Henson.

Philadelphia—Cut tackle Jim McCusker and fullback Tom Woodeschick and placed linebacker Mike Woulfe on injured reserve list.

Green Bay—Asked waivers on tackle-end Tony Liscio and linebacker Ed Holler.

Chicago—Traded tackle Art Anderson to Pittsburgh for future draft choice.

Nothing Could Touch Ragusa

DONCASTER, England (Reuters)—The three-year-old colt Ragusa, an odds-on favorite, won the St. Leger racing classic here today after elaborate measures were taken to prevent dopers from "getting to" the seven-horse field.

"You're just naturally cantankerous, Sluggo... Reelin' about my call before Lefty's slow ball even reaches the plate!"

NHL All-Stars Open Season October 5

MONTREAL (CP)—The official opening of the 1963-64 National Hockey League season will be Oct. 5 when the All-Stars take on the Stanley Cup champion Maple Leafs in Toronto, the league announced today.

Boston Bruins will meet Montreal Canadiens in Boston Oct. 8 in the first league game.

Chicago Black Hawks entertain New York Rangers Oct. 9 in their opener. The next day Chicago travels to Detroit to play the Red Wings.

Montreal and Toronto play their first home games Saturday, Oct. 12. Canadiens will meet New York while Leafs take on the Bruins.

New York Rangers are last to open the season at home. They face-off against Detroit, October 16.

Each team will play 70 games with the season finishing March 22.

Hobbs, Bish Win

Jack Hobbs and E. M. Bish won the Yarrows Cup in men's doubles lawn-bowling competition last weekend, defeating Bert Tallack and E. Yerex, 2-1 in the final game.

A 10-foot-high steel fence with barbed wire protected the horses, security men were on guard around the clock and well-fancied horses were switched from stable to stable in special protective measures.

Reason for the big precautions was Ragusa, trained in Ireland and owned by Jim Mullion.

Doubts still surround French-owned Relko who won the English Derby three months ago. Inquiries are continuing into whether Relko was doped.

The Relko affair is one of several puzzling and bothering British race authorities.

RELKO WITHDRAWN

Ragusa was made favorite for the race worth $32,400 after Relko fell lame before the Irish Derby and failed to run. Ragusa won that one. Relko was entered for the St. Leger but was withdrawn.

After a photo finish for second place, Star Moss was placed second and Fighting Ship third. Merchant Venturer was fourth.

The event—last horse-race classic of the British flat season—was over one mile, six furlongs and 132 yards.

Ragusa won by six lengths. The win was worth $32,338 ($37,014) to owner Mullion.

The St. Leger, first run in 1776, is the oldest of the British classic races for three-year-olds.

Ragusa was a 2-to-5 favorite. Star Moss was 8 to 1 and Fighting Ship 28 to 1.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Don Drysdale is pulling an Ozzie Nelson—the Dodgers' pitching ace has his whole family in show business.

The William Morris Agency, in a package deal, represents Don, his pretty wife, Ginger, and their daughter, Kelly, three.

Don even has a Hollywood press agent.

Not even Bo Belinsky has gone Hollywood to that extent. Drysdale has a one-word explanation for his interest in show business: Money.

"It used to be every fan letter I ever got had something to do with baseball," he says. "Now, ever since I did that commercial, I get five times as much mail and the letters all begin the same: 'Are you still using that greasy kid stuff?' Makes you think."

ADMITTS HE'S NO ACTOR

Frank Sinatra has signed Drysdale to a recording contract with Reprise-Warner Brothers Records. Television and movie producers—hoping to cash in on the potent chance that the Dodgers will be in the World Series—are after him for parts.

Drysdale, a handsome giant in the John Wayne tradition, is a natural for he-man roles. He's the first to admit he's no actor.

"I'd like to study but I don't think I'll have the time—I'm getting too many offers to star in shows,"

Ginger, his wife, is a former Rose princess—and still looks it. She has been doing a lot of commercials under the name of Ginger Drysdale but her husband says she will use her maiden name in the future.

THAT DID IT

"She was all set to do a big commercial for an oil company when someone asked her if she were any relation to me. It cost her the job."

A rival oil company sponsors the Dodgers on radio and television.

The baby is signed for commercial television modeling, too.

Drysdale doesn't let his acting career interfere with his baseball.

"It's strictly a winter job for me. It beats hanging around the house."

Drysdale, at more than $40,000, is the Dodgers' highest paid hurler. One agency source says he may double that figure in show business next winter.

"As long as he keeps winning ball games he's a clinch," the source says. "A losing season will be time enough to take acting lessons."

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick met with major league representatives Tuesday and received full support of individual Triple A working agreements for the 1964 season.

The assurance that each of the 20 major league teams will have a full working agreement with each of the 20 Triple A teams gave the commissioner an opportunity to attempt geographic reorganization of the Pacific Coast League and the International League.

"The object of the meeting," said Frick, "was to lay the groundwork for our December meetings in San Diego and Los Angeles. I am going to talk with representatives of the two Triple A leagues and by the time the winter meetings come about we will be ready for action."

Butte Boy Bops Billy But Cowan Marches On

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Meticulous Labron Harris, ignoring the soggy going, moved closer to a second-straight United States amateur golf title Tuesday with a sub-par effort few of his rivals could match.

The husky 21-year-old Oklahoma State University mathematic student sloshed over Wankonda's hills and narrow fairways for a 6 and 5-verdict over John McKey of Orlando, Fla.

That put the defending champion into the first of today's two 18-hole rounds along with 63 other shot makers, including Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont.

Rochester Club In Leafs' Hands

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League have gained almost complete control of the Rochester Americans by guaranteeing this city hockey for at least three years.

The Leafs, NHL champions, had owned 53 per cent of the Americans' stock while local interests controlled 45 per cent.

Five local owners turned over their 40 per cent to the Leafs last week on condition Rochester would continue in the American Hockey League. Rochester finished third in the western division last season.

Butte Boy Bops Billy But Cowan Marches On

Among them are such potent challengers as Deane Beman, who won the crown in 1960; Charlie Coe, twice a wearer of the mantle; Steve Spray and Dick Sikes, a pair of collegiate champions, and Billy Joe Patton.

Cowan defeated Lawrence Bell of Allentown, Pa., 5 and 4. Bill Pidlaski of Winnipeg defeated Dan Murphy of Texarkana, Ark., 4 and 3. But another Canadian, Bill Wakeham of Victoria, lost 4 and 2 to Ed Zemlak, Butte, Mont.

Cowan, Wakeham, Pidlaski and Eric Hanson of Etobicoke, Ont., all had byes Monday. Tuesday, Hanson lost, 2 and 1, to Jim English of Littleton, Colo.

Half-Hour Drive Then Take Five

By The Reading Laboratory
(Eighth in a Series)

No body is really sure just how learning works. There is a whole host of plausible theories on the psychological market but there are still large gaps in our knowledge. We do know enough about learning to figure out some productive study methods, and perhaps more important, we know something about forgetting, too.

We know, for instance, that your learning is restricted by your span of concentration, and we know that the average span of concentration for a student on a single subject is about 50 minutes. That's why your classes are usually 50 minutes long.

We know that you can learn meaningful material more easily than you can memorize nonsense syllables—and that you can retain the meaningful material longer. We know that most forgetting occurs immediately after learning because the continued flow of new material makes it difficult for a new concept to "take." On the other hand, if you can still remember something the day after you learned it, you can be sure you won't forget it easily.

This just scratches the surface of learning theory, but it's enough to help you plan your study time more intelligently. For instance, if your span of concentration is only 50 minutes, isn't it silly to study one subject for three or four hours straight through?

Pointless to Memorize

Since the influx of new material speeds up forgetting, doesn't it follow that if you study for several hours without reinforcement, you'll forget most of what you learned in the first hour? And if meaningful material is the easiest to learn, isn't it pointless to memorize without trying to understand what you're memorizing?

Here's the way you ought to study to make the facts of learning work for you:

● Study in spurts. Study for about a half-hour, then take a five-minute break.

● Really turn your mind on full power for each "study spurt." Get the most out of each spurt. Be active, involved and thinking.

● Switch subjects. Spend two half-hour periods on one subject then switch to another. It'll keep your mind fresh.

● Spend the first five minutes of each half-hour period reviewing the previous half-hour. This kind of regular reinforcement will eliminate a lot of forgetting.

● If you have to memorize something, understand it first.

● Take notes as you study—just key words to help you remember. Your memory is tricky; don't trust it.

● At the end of each week, make a quick review of the week's study.

Make your mind work for you; don't work against it.

Lindsay Raps Adult Drivers For 'Loss of Responsibility'

Superintendent of Motor Vehicles George Lindsay warned Tuesday of a "loss of responsibility" by adult drivers.

Strong steps are needed to cure the trend he said, while launching the fall program of Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol. Mr. Lindsay told the Victoria Kiwanis Club at a luncheon at the Crystal Garden that children's safety patrols were doing an excellent job.

But he asked: "Just where do we adults lose our sense of responsibility? Where do we carry safety to the senior level?"

He said there were 700 school buses in B.C., handling 60,000 children daily under supervision, with only minor trouble.

"But after they are taken from this protection and into your own automobile these are the results—221 children under 14 killed, and 9,161 injured during the past year."

Mr. Lindsay said the overall traffic accident toll was increasing.

"Last year we killed 385 people. We injured more than 18,000."

The Kiwanis program, he said, was excellent. He paid tribute on behalf of the Motor Vehicles Branch, and asserted that "there should be more programs of this nature commenced throughout B.C."

Driver-training could well be made an extra-curricular activity in schools, he said.

"This would bring greater responsibility from our children as they grow older."

Mr. Lindsay, also a director of the Canadian Automobile Association, said he was amazed to learn the Kiwanis program was carried out without monetary consideration.

"If there is any need for it," he said, "all you have to do is ask."

The Kiwanis program has been conducted for 27 years at Greater Victoria schools, and costs more than $2,000 annually.

PNE Results

Latest lists of results released by officials of the Pacific National Exhibition include two Victorians as prize winners in the dog show and obedience trials.

"Sunnyvale's Okanagan Prince," owned by Mrs. Ruth Hindle of 729 Vanalman Ave., tied for first place in the second trial of the novice "A" class of licensed obedience trials.

"Sweetheart Knight Viktor," a dachshund owned by Elizabeth Burchett of 2660 Arbutus, placed second in the sporting hounds classification in the all-breed dog championship shows.

... And Specifically, The Lack of Experts

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Lindsay, B.C. Superintendent of Motor Vehicles, blamed automotive retailers for the lack of qualified mechanical information in traffic accident litigation.

"There is a complete lack of trained mechanical minds that will go into a car and look at it as to the mechanical condition of vehicles involved in accidents," he said.

He spoke at a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, which is comprised of automobile retailers, repair firms, oil company officials and other leaders in the industry.

He said automotive employers and employees are neglecting their responsibility when they refuse to appear in court.

"They are the only people with the required mechanical knowledge," he said.

He said that too often unqualified mechanics or police constables are called upon to provide information that decides the outcome of court cases.

Big Dealer From Texas to Make Stand Here

The world's top-ranking bridge player, Texan Oswald Jacoby, will take on all comers in the Empress Hotel next week.

Mr. Jacoby, holder of more points than any other player in the world, will play every day from Monday to the following Sunday in the north-western regional championship tournament of the American Contract Bridge League.

There will be accommomodation for 700 players at a time and up to 100 spectators. Mr. Jacoby goes into action at a charity pairs contest in aid of the Canadian Cancer Society in the Empress ballroom starting at 8 p.m. Monday.

The tournament will be officially opened by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes at 9 p.m.

Anyone in Victoria who wants to play in the tournament may do so on payment of an entry fee varying with different events.

But kibitzers can watch the tournament free.

Mr. Jacoby, who will play in all events, now has 7,482 points—more than 800 points more than Charles Goren whom he displaced as top bridge player early in 1962.

Mr. Jacoby will be partnered by his wife in the charity pairs and the mixed pairs event. They will be partnered by Jack Goldie and Bill Simpson-Baile, both of Victoria, in the team-of-four.

Mr. Jacoby will play with Eric Goodwin of Victoria in the men's pairs and with Peter Pender, also of Victoria in the open pairs. He will likely play in the masters' pairs with Mrs. Jacoby. The Los Angeles unit of the American Contract Bridge League is sponsoring the Victoria tournament, which will run as follows:

Men's and women's pairs, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons; mixed pairs Tuesday and Wednesday evenings; masters' pairs Thursday afternoon and evening; team-of-four, Friday afternoon and evening; four-session open pairs Saturday and Sunday afternoon and evening.

The masters pairs is restricted to players holding 50 masters' points or more. For players with less than 50, there will be masters' 49ers pairs on Thursday afternoon and evening. Starting times are at 1:30 and 8 p.m., except Sunday, when events will begin at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Top event is the four-session open pairs championship. Two qualifying sessions will be held Saturday and the finals on Sunday afternoon and evening.

For players who do not wish to enter championship events there will be side events in the Empress tea lounge and the Georgian lounge.

Arthur Mayse

We're here today and gone tomorrow: one week, for instance, a B.C. Electric employee and the next a Bennett boy with a smile sticker on the rear bumper and a house to sell in a hurry.

This being the case, we could do worse than take a coffee break with Don Whyte, a Victoria real estate man who among his exploits once persuaded a family to take on a haunted house complete with the murder victim's ghost.

"I told them about the ghost, of course," says Mr. Whyte, "since I felt they had a right to know what that funny little creak-creak in the back stairs meant. But they didn't object, and they seemed perfectly satisfied. The ghost too... at least he hasn't been heard from lately."

We then withdrew from the spirit world, and at my request, Mr. Whyte drew on his experience for some tips on how not to sell a house.

One surefire way of hanging onto your abode, even though you've put it on the market, is to insist upon an unrealistic price. We all want to make a profit on our property, a desire which the real estate agent heartily endorses. But we can't always do so, and if we persist, may wind up with a loss.

The market, Mr. Whyte explains, is not static. It has been known to go up and down like a yo-yo, and even in times of settled prosperity, can fluctuate considerably in six months.

In October, a month which runs heavy to transfers and retirements, or in June when lawn and flowers are at their best, your sale chances are brightest.

But even in those peak areas, the overpriced house is likely to linger on the owner's hands.

"People's attitudes have changed," Mr. Whyte points out. "For one thing, they're better shoppers. Then too, the choice these days is pretty wide. It used to be that you could set an asking price and come down from it. But not any more. The average buyer doesn't bargain. He just moves on, down the block to the next nice three-bedroom bungalow on the agent's list."

Another excellent way to undermine a sale is to let your domicile tell a story of hit-or-miss house and yard-keeping. No need to redecorate. Chances are the prospective buyer's wife will take one look at the color scheme you found so easy to live with and mentally substitute a nice, lively coral for that perfectly nauseous green.

"But tidy up," urges Don Whyte. "A cracked window is money off the price. If your place is bright, clean and cheery, it's already half sold."

He stirred his coffee — second cup — and said, "A house is a woman's workshop as well as her home. And the thing she hates most is to clean up after another woman. There have been times when we even urged a family to move their beatup, dingy furniture out and a cleanup crew in."

This is going to hurt, but another way to ensure the sight of a prospect's departing back is to insist on compensation for the wall-to-wall carpets and built-in electric oven. You look on these as extras, but the buyer sees them as a make-weight that may persuade him into an offer of purchase.

By the same token, many a sale is queered by trailing your agent and his client from room to room with such suggestions as, "We're quite willing to sell you the living room curtains too," or "Our fridge fits that corner so nicely, perhaps you'd like to buy it."

So, Mr. Whyte advises, don't try to kill two birds with one stone. If you want to unload the furnishings, truck them to an auctioneer.

Matter of fact, it's a smart notion to let agent and clients have the place to themselves. With you tagging along, they are reluctant to criticize. This means the agent can't explain or argue where it counts, which is on the spot. "Then there are the children," concluded Don Whyte, a mild and kindly man. "So devastatingly honest... So eager to help." He flexed his fingers slightly. "A basement takes in water. We admit it, we don't disguise the fact. So down trots Junior to tell the nice people how he paddled his rubber seal around the furnace..."

I'm not suggesting anything, mind. But I remembered Mr. Whyte's haunted house, heading back to my typewriter, and found myself speculating about that funny little squeak in the basement stairs.

NDP EDUCATION PLAN

Free Textbooks Free Tuition

Free textbooks, free university tuition and a junior college for Nanaimo top the New Democratic Party's election platform on education, issued today by leader Robert Strachan.

Mr. Strachan said the NDP's plan to lift education costs from municipalities would be "gradual" assumption by the provincial government of the operating expense of primary and secondary schools.

The NDP program also includes:

A night college for Vancouver; Establishment of five "model schools" to develop new teaching techniques;

A technical diploma-granting college at Burnaby; New audio-visual teaching aids;

A new teacher training college in the Interior.

DEADLINE 1970

Mr. Strachan said the Nanaimo area junior college should be established before 1970. It would develop out of expanded technical training facilities, he said.

The NDP would provide free textbooks for all students, Mr. Strachan said. It would also provide free tuition and living expenses for university and technical college students "where required" instead of the present system of student loans.

Mr. Strachan said the present government loads municipalities with the costs of providing education but dictates the policy.

PAY FULL OPERATION

The NDP would gradually assume the operating costs and would continue to provide at least 50 per cent of building costs, he said.

The cost of technical education would be met from industrial taxes, Mr. Strachan said, although he does not propose any new tax on business.

In the field of higher education, the NDP supports the Macdonald Report recommendations and would accelerate their implementation.

Mr. Strachan said this means financial aid for Victoria University to handle an enrolment of 3,000 by 1965.

At the same time the NDP would seek grants from the federal government to cover graduate education.

"B.C.'s greatest natural resource is her people, yet more than half of them of working age are untrained," Mr. Strachan said.

"If we are not to become a technological and educational slum, we must have an education system capable of training all our people for living and working in the 20th century."

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1963—PAGE 13

BUT SOME INFECTED WITH VOTE FEVER

Isolation Prescribed For MDs in Election

By FRANK BUTTER

B.C. doctors have been told to keep out of the election campaign, except to support members of their profession who are candidates.

But medicare and the situation in Oak Bay are forcing them in.

The only doctor candidate on Vancouver Island is Sacred Dr. Charles Ennals of Oak Bay.

And, he claims, he has the support of a considerable number of local doctors.

Three other doctors running are Liberal Pat McGeer in Point Grey and Conservatives Dr. W. O. Green and Dr. Al. Trott of Cranbrook and Columbia.

Although they are unwilling to be drawn into political battles, the doctors have been instructed by the B.C. Medical Association to correct "lies or misrepresentation" on medicare, which the New Democratic Party is making a major issue.

In Oak Bay well-known local physician Dr. Peter Banks branded "a Liberal smear" reports he was working for Dr. Ennals.

However, he said he would be pleased to "encourage and congratulate" any doctor who is a candidate.

He described Dr. Ennals as "a bright young doctor with a lot of background in medical economics."

In fact, Dr. Ennals wrote his graduate thesis on the economics of medicare in 1962.

Saanich NDP candidate John Windsor, quoting from a copy of it, said Dr. Ennals figured the cost of medicare at $42,400,000, excluding drugs.

This, Mr. Windsor said, is mighty close to the NDP estimate of $50,000,000, including drugs, and a long way from Premier Bennett's estimate of up to $250,000,000.

Dr. Banks said BCMA president Dr. W. G. McClure has written all members, warning them not to get embroiled in partisan politics, and he intends to abide by the caution.

The letter adds: "To those doctors whose personal political convictions have led them to seek public office under various party banners, my congratulations. We need more of our profession in government."

Bennett Bounces to Lion Roar

The B.C. Lions, marching song is now being heard on the hustings—in support of Premier Bennett, who eagerly purchased a commercial in the middle of Monday's televised football game.

Lions' general manager Herb Capozzi was nominated as a Sacred candidate in North Vancouver Tuesday and Sacred supporters roared the Lion's tune.

Sub Commander Presents Plaque To City Hall

City Hall is to have a constant reminder of three U.S. submarines which visited local waters last week.

The commanding officer of U.S.S. Rasher, Lieut. Commander James Tregurtha, presented the mayor with a special plaque commemorating the largest-ever concentration of subs here.

U.S.S. Rasher arrived Monday for several days. U.S.S. Segundo and U.S.S. Spinax sailed at the weekend after a week in port.

Another Remand For Accused In Murder Case

John Stanley Crocker, charged with the murder of his distant relative, Joseph George, on North Galiano Island, was again remanded when he appeared in provincial magistrate's court this morning.

Magistrate J. A. Byers was told that a preliminary hearing of the charge will be held Sept. 23.

$48,000 Losses In Tofino Fire

A flash fire Tuesday night destroyed $40,000 in equipment and an $8,000 gravel truck at a logging camp near Tofino, it was learned today.

The equipment belonged to B.C. Mobile Co., contractors for B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

Victoria Conservatives have managed to come up with one innovation in the campaign—the only candidate around here with a beard. It's John Loader, who grew it in Trail.

Two predictions from two parties today that there will be a minority government after the election.

That's what former Tory leader Deane Finlayson said in Nanaimo and Vancouver East Liberal candidate Lloyd Little predicted the Liberals would hold the balance of power in a minority house.

A Conservative crossed party lines to publicly endorse the Liberal candidate in Grand Forks Tuesday.

Leo Mills said he knew leader Dave Fulton would be annoyed, but the "local situation" demanded his support for Liberal Milo McGarry, who was largely responsible for a $1,000,000 hospital there.

Meetings tonight: Conservatives of Saanich and Esquimalt will both nominate candidates at a joint convention at 8 in Harmony Hall, Town and Country shopping centre.

Scores in Saanich at 8 in Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall.

Traffic Jams When Bridge Gets Stuck Up

The Johnson St. bridge went up to the top of its arch this morning and then wouldn't come down again.

And it happened just after 8 a.m. when the peak early-morning traffic was streaming to the bridge in both directions.

There was a colossal traffic jam before police managed to re-route traffic over Point Ellice Bridge. Then an emergency gasoline engine was used to slowly lower the bridge.

As soon as rush-hour traffic passed, the bridge and approaches were sealed off to traffic and engineers tried to locate the trouble.

It was an electrical short-circuit. And the engineers went almost all through every circuit on the bridge before locating the trouble.

The bridge went into normal operation at 11:30.

Three Youths Seen With Murder Victim

City detectives have discovered that George Down was with two or three young men half an hour before he was killed in the Hudson's Bay Parkade 13 days ago.

They have found a witness who saw the 17-year-old delivery boy in a booth at Coffee Mac's Restaurant on Gorge Road. He was sitting with several young men.

But the informant was not able to say for certain if Down left the restaurant with them. Detective Inspector Charles Webb said this morning.

It's the latest break in the puzzling mystery that began at 4:30 a.m. Aug. 30 when two policemen found Down's battered body on a ramp in the parkade.

Police estimate he was killed at 1:15 a.m. He died from blows on the back of the head. Insp. Webb said he would like to hear from anyone who was in Coffee Mac's the morning of the murder. He said his men are trying to discover who was with Down in the booth.

The inspector repeated the offer of a reward of $500 for information that leads to conviction of the killer.

INSTALLED TODAY as president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce was Edwin E. Pearman, who succeeds John Wallace. Installation took place at annual meeting in the Empress Hotel at noon.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Beaver Kiwanis Club: 7:30 a.m., Tally-ho, film Peace River District Development.

Victoria Rotary Club: 12:10 p.m., Empress Hotel. Speaker: Bert McGillivray and film "Top of the Continent."

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club: 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Speaker: Alec Merriman on San Juan River fishing.

Inquest Called In Fatal Fall At Shipyard

Inquest into the death of a Yarrow's Ltd. shipyard worker Tuesday afternoon will be held at Hayward's Funeral Home at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Charles O'Hara, 47, 5985 West Saanich Road, was killed when he fell from the deck of a barge to the dock 17 feet below.

Eye-witnesses say the dead man was pulling staging (platform used by workmen) from the inside of a tank in the barge Island Importer when the accident occurred.

He picked up a 36-pound metal staging bracket and threw it over the side of the barge to the dock. Apparently a portion of the bracket caught in his coveralls, and he was pulled over by the weight of the bracket.

SLID INTO HARBOR

He struck a tiller piece first, then hit the log separating the barge from the dock, and slipped into the water.

Yarrow's employee Tom Hetherington was first to reach the accident victim, and he and other workers pulled O'Hara from the water.

Esquimalt police rushed him to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Mr. O'Hara was born in Cornamuckla, County Leitrim, Ireland, and came to Patricia Bay RCAF Station during the Second World War after being wounded while flying with the RAF as an air gunner over enemy territory.

He was married to the former Alice Patricia Bannerman of Athabasca, Alta.

For 14 years, until July, 1961, he worked for CIL, James Island. He put in periods of work at Yarrow's and Victoria Machinery Depot and had returned to Yarrow's only two weeks ago.

He was a member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Sidney.

In addition to his widow he is survived by two daughters, Eileen, 19, Kathleen, 16, and a son, Shan, 12.

Hurt in the accident was Robin Koolos, 1225 Styles. Driver of the car was James Wilson, 515 Mount View.

A man was fined $150 in city magistrate's court Tuesday for not having municipal plates that he could have obtained free of charge.

Sandor Domokos, 1321 Johnson, was checked three times by police for not displaying the plate on his truck.

Magistrate J. A. Byers fined him $25 for the first offence, $50 for the second and $75 for the third.

Domokos said he hadn't realized the plate wouldn't cost him anything.

Could You Be An Artist Or a Hi Fi Builder?

By PENNY SAVER

Have you an art enthusiast in your family? Young or old, they would enjoy trying their hand at a paint-by-number mural.

Called "Masette Boutif" murals these are imprinted on glass cloth or "boutif" cloth backgrounds and come complete with wooden frames. All you have to do is follow the printed outlines with glue then cover with glitter or glass chips. Sets sell for $10.95.

If you are interested in taking up a hobby for the winter months, one store sells books on how to draw and how to mix colors, for $1.25. Same store also carries canvas board at 55¢ and canvas paper panels for $1.50.

Something new on the market is sets of pastels in pencil form. With these new sets priced at $2.75 or $3.50, the former bias and muss of pastel crayons can be avoided. Varnish and matting are available in spray tins ranging in price from $1.40 to $1.75.

Same store also sells spirits of turpentine for 40¢, copal painting medium, 60¢, oil painting restorer, $1, and varnish for $1 to 75¢.

Do you want a hi-fi set? If so, why don't you build your own? Store I was in will guarantee results. Only condition is that you purchase all your equipment from them. Tools, instructions, and supervision are supplied for your convenience. Women are welcome to test their talents along with the men.

Once built, set requires a cabinet and here is where you come in again. Put your own cabinet together without tools. All you do is set things up and push them together. Cabinets are available in beautiful polished woods.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MACARONI SOUFFLE LOAF

Eight ounces (approx. 2 cups) uncooked elbow macaroni, 1½ teaspoons onion salt, ½ cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 8 ounces (approx. ½ cup) process cheese spread, 1½ cups soft day-old bread crumbs, 1½ teaspoons parsley flakes, ½ cup sweet pickle relish, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs, slightly beaten.

Preheat oven to 300 deg. F. (Slow). Grease a 9x5-inch loaf pan.

Cook macaroni for 10 minutes in 6 cups boiling water.

Seasoned with the onion salt. Scald milk with butter or margarine. Add cheese spread; stir until melted.

In large mixing bowl, combine bread crumbs, parsley flakes, relish, salt, pepper and the slightly beaten eggs. Stir in cheese mixture. Blend in the drained cooked macaroni.

Pour into prepared pan, then place loaf pan in a larger pan containing about one-inch of hot water. Bake 1½ hours in preheated oven.

Remove pan from water and continue baking in oven 15 minutes longer until set. Remove from oven, loosen edges of loaf and unmold onto a platter.

Serve hot with tomato sauce made by heating, undiluted, a tin of tomato soup, or with Spanish sauce.

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

Enhance Your Appearance With Simple Makeup Tricks

There are many little tricks in applying makeup which add up to a big difference in the way a woman looks.

For instance, many women prefer cotton to a powder puff when applying powder. The powder does go on more smoothly when cotton is used. The powder should be used generously and then the excess can be removed with another piece of cotton or with a brush designed especially for this.

Most women use too much water when applying mascara. The little brush should be just barely damp when it goes to the lashes. If the brush is too wet the lashes stick together. This causes an artificial beady look.

Many women are distressed by the little vertical lines which sometimes develop on the upper lip. These are aging, and make it difficult to apply lipstick attractively. A brush helps. Actually a brush should always be used for best application.

First outline your lips with the brush and then fill in the rest. It is usually best to follow the natural line of your lips. However, if they are too full you can pull the line in a bit and if they are too thin you can draw your lips on a bit fuller.

If you are bothered with the little lines I mentioned, powder the lips lightly. This sets the color so that it does not run into the lines.

If eyebrows are too wild, even after tweezing out the stray hairs, you can train them. Apply a little soap or a touch of petroleum jelly to them and smooth them into place.

If you tweeze hairs from the chin, be sure not to pull against the way they naturally grow, and do not jerk them out. Exert a steady gentle pull. You may want to have them removed permanently with electrolysis-someday.

If you would like to have my free leaflet about makeup, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "What's Going On?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Parker-Mobey Vows In St. John's Church

Rev. Colin A. Campbell officiated at the recent ceremony uniting Gloria Mobey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mobey, 418 Alpha Terrace, and Jon Stirling Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton R. Parker of Barrie, Ont. White and pink gladioli, and silver, white and pink pew markers set decor at St. John's Anglican Church.

"We Lift Our Hearts, O Father" was played as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Harry Eldon sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride wore an Empire gown of white peau de sole featuring sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, and softly pleated slipper length skirt, which was slightly en train. A finger-tip veil of net misted from a pearly tiara, pink roses were in the bouquet. Only jewelry was a gold cross, gift of the groom.

Maid of honor, Miss Sylvia Mobey, wore a pink satin dress fashioned like the bride's gown. A rose headpiece with shoulder-length veil was en tone and her bouquet was white carnations and pink roses. Flower girl, Jo-Ann Lynn Parker, wore pink nylon chiffon over satin with rose and net headpiece en tone. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations and roses.

Dalbert Kirkpatrick was best man. Ushers were Richard Abbott and Brian Parker. Ring bearer, James Parker, carried rings on a white peau de sole pillow, trimmed with pink.

The wedding supper was held in the Tally-Ho Travelodge. Six pink candles flanked a three-tier heart-shaped cake that centred the bride's table. Low-bowls of gladioli and mixed flowers decorated guest tables. Canon T. W. Scott proposed the toast.

Coffee party, Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, Friday at 11:30 a.m., Hudson's Bay Douglas Room.

Upon return from a honeymoon spent up-island, the couple will make their home at 2615 Savory Road.

For travelling, the bride chose a nutmeg brown wool boucle suit with water melon-toned hat and gloves and black accessories.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Set Date

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Blake, 821 Craigflower Road, announced the engagement of their daughter, Delores Elizabeth (Debbie), to Mr. Raymond John Mellings, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mellings, 816 Craigflower Road. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m., in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Rev. S. L. McCracken will officiate.

Hear Vows

Visitors present at the recent wedding of Gloria Mobey and Mr. Jon Stirling-Parker included Rev. Robert L. Warren and Miss Doris Bader of Burns Lake; Mrs. Walter Bryson, Vancouver; Richard Abbott, Kitchener; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Parker and family, Mrs. Amy Vair and Mrs. Charles Parker of Barrie, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. H. Hammond of Toronto.

Wedding Guests

Victorians who attended the Salt Spring Island wedding of Marguerite Anne Gear to Patrick Douglas Lee included Mr. and Mrs. K. Tabouney, Mr. and Mrs. E. Tabouney, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. David Horsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnston, Miss Gladys Patterson, Ian Shopland, Hudson Lee, and staff of Oak Bay Branch of Bank of Montreal.

Announcement

The engagement is announced of Beverly Jane Thomas, eldest daughter of Mrs. A. Cyril Thomas, 833 Leslie Drive, and the late Mr. Thomas, to Mr. Donald Edward Charles Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Anderson, 904 Island Road. The marriage will take place in Centennial United Church on Saturday, Sept. 28, at 2 p.m., with Dr. S. Parsons officiating.

Aboard Ship

Misses Melda Bradshaw, Victoria, Roberta Bonaguro, Alberni, and Irene Bellamy, Prince Rupert, all 1962 graduates of Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing, left Vancouver recently aboard the Ss. Oriana for an extended tour of New Zealand.

From Banff

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McIntosh have returned to their Beach Drive home after attending the Canadian Bar Association meetings at Banff. They spent the summer months at their country home at Deep Cove.

'Pot of Gold'

Bride-elect Miss Sue Arnold was recently honored at a shower in the Cedar Hill Road home of Mrs. H. O. Watkins. Corsages were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. J. Arnold, and groom-elect's mother, Mrs. B. Rooney. The bride-to-be followed a path leading to a "pot of gold" containing gifts at the foot of a "rainbow." Each guest brought a favorite recipe, including novelty recipes on "How to Preserve a Husband" and "Recipe for a Home." Guests included Mr. R. Hallwright, Mrs. K. Maddock, Mrs. M. Harvey, Mrs. F. Rossen, Mrs. A. Watkins, Mrs. J. Hingley, Mrs. G. Cheston, Mrs. J. McKay, Mrs. D. Freeman, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. M. Ludgate, Mrs. K. Sutcliffe, Misses Sharron Rossen, Donna Cheston and Pam Watkins.

Fashions from Toojays and furs from Scuby will be featured at a fashion show and dessert party to be held in Fellowship Hall by the United Church Women of First United Church next Wednesday at 2 p.m. Seen with the group's president, left, Mrs. A. H. Shoard, are two of the models, Mrs. Rose McKinnon, centre, and Miss Norma Valiant. Mrs. Kay Pulleyblank will play background music on a Hammond organ.

Ceremony on Salt Spring Island

White gladioli, asters and hydrangea set the decor in St. George's Anglican Church at George's, Salt Spring Island, for the recent marriage of Marguerite Anne Gear and Patrick Douglas Lee.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gear and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lee, all of Fulford Harbor. Archdeacon G. H. Holmes officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride wore a dress of white peau de sole with fitted lace bodice and long sleeves. Silk buttons extended from the square scalloped neckline to the waist. The softly pleated bell skirt was slightly en train. A four-tier shoulder-length bou-fant veil of silk net misted from three organza roses. She carried white carnations and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Patricia Holisky, and bridesmaids, the Misses Roberta Akerman and Linda Baker wore identically styled gowns of forest green shot silk organza over peau de sole with headpieces en tone. They carried chrysanthemum, gladioli and variegated periwinkle.

Gilbert Mouat, Vancouver, was best man. Ushering guests to heather-trimmed pews were Colin Evans, Kimberley, B.C., and Leslie Fraser, Lytton.

White and green color theme was carried out in decorations at a reception in Fulford Hall. A three-tier wedding cake, flanked by tall white candles, centred the bride's table. Laurie Mouat proposed the toast.

For travelling on honeymoon the bride wore a suit of wheat linen boucle with toning print lining and overblouse of polished cotton. She wore a whimsie and accessories in malt shade, and her corsage was yellow rosebuds and stephanotis. The newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Plan Trip—At recent meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Pro Patria Branch No. 31, Royal Canadian Legion, plans were made for trip to Nanaimo, Friday, September 27. Those wishing to go were asked to contact the secretary at EV 2-7809. Regular meeting to be held next Tuesday, was cancelled. Plans were also made to hold a card party and home bake sale, October 4. Hilary Acklam Married

Rev. A. J. MacLeod heard the vows between Hilary Jean Acklam, daughter of Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. H. Acklam, 1520 Pear Street and William Frank Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Blake, 821 Craigflower Road. Baskets of gladioli and Esther Reed daisies decorated St. Aidan's United Church for the ceremony. "O Perfect Love" was sung by guests during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper length gown of white lace with lily-point sleeves. The neckline was accented with sequins.

A tulle veil misted from a pearl and orange blossom tiara. "Something old was necklace belonging to bride's great-grandmother. She carried pink sweetheart roses and ivy.

Attendants, the Misses Barbara Blake, Janet Acklam, and Gillian Acklam were identically gowned in nylon over taffeta with lace rosettes at the waist and hemline. Gowns were aqua, yellow, and pink, respectively. They wore shoes and headpieces en tone, and carried white carnations.

Dave Gillan was best man. Jim Garfat and George Musellwhite Jr. ushered guests to pews marked with white bells and rosebuds.

A pink and white wedding cake, decorated with white tulle and pink sweetheart roses and flanked with silver candles, centred the bride's table at a reception in the church hall. P. L. Wilkins proposed the toast.

For travelling up-Island, the bride wore a three-piece blue knit suit with tan and white accessories and white carnation corsage.

The couple will make their home in Halifax, N.S.

Out-of-town guests in the city for the wedding included Mrs. C. E. Robertson, Seattle; Dale Frost, Winnipeg, Man. and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Babcock of North Burnaby.

Golden Wedding At Salt Spring

Pioneer residents of Salt Spring Island, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Case Morris, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a garden party in their home overlooking Ganges harbor.

Members of the family attending were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hart Bradley with daughters, Jennifer and Susan; son-in-law and daughter, Rear-Admiral J. C. Dillon and Mrs. Dillon who, with their children Timothy and Andrea, came from Ottawa for the occasion. Mrs. Morris' sisters, Mrs. Basil Cartwright, Mrs. C. E. N. Thompson, Vancouver, and Miss Gertrude Lang, Victoria, also attended.

Mrs. Morris, the former Violet Lang, came with her family from Cornwall, England, in 1911 to live at Fernwood Farm. Mr. Morris came to Salt Spring Island from Bath, Somerset, England, in 1909. He saw service with the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve in the First World War.

Among the many congratulatory telegrams received by the couple was one from Governor-General Georges Vanier.

DRESS FOR MEN

TORONTO (CP)—Hollywood fashion consultant Alfred Davidson believes Canadian women dress for men while U.S. women dress for the bridge club. Here on a business visit, Mr. Davidson said Toronto women "seem to be interested in dressing in an individual style. They don't say it's in the latest fashion magazine therefore we must buy it."

Miss Dorothy Franklin

Church Worker Speaks Tonight

A description of 30 years church work in Bolivia will be given by Miss Dorothy Franklin, RN, when she speaks at a rally of the Baptist churches, to be held in Douglas Street Baptist Church at 8 p.m. this evening.

Born in England, Miss Franklin came to Canada with her family and received her education in Winnipeg, taking her nurses' training at Winnipeg General Hospital, and also attending Toronto Bible College.

Miss Franklin was appointed to Bolivia in 1934 and has spent most of her time at La Paz, where she began a small clinic in Villa Victoria.

The clinic has now grown considerably. A church, children's playground and a night school for the illiterate have also been added.

Following tonight's meeting, Miss Franklin will travel to Nanaimo, returning to Victoria next Saturday in order to be guest speaker at a Mission Prayer Retreat, to be held at Sylvan Acres Baptist Camp.

The retreat is sponsored by the Baptist Women of Greater Victoria with women taking part from First Baptist, Emmanuel Baptist, Douglas Street Baptist, Stevenson Memorial churches and The Church-by-the-Lake.

Morning and afternoon prayer sessions will be held. Luncheon will be served by the women of First Baptist Church.

Cars will leave Victoria at 10 a.m. Saturday, returning at 4 p.m.

Pink and White

A laundry basket containing gifts was decorated in pink and white and honor guest's chair was trimmed with white bells and pink ribbons when Mrs. Jack Stovel entertained at a grocery shower in her Cook Street home in honor of Mrs. Douglas Wilson, the former Margaret Meulblok.

White carnations were presented to the bride and yellow and pink carnations respectively to her mother, Mrs. J. Meulblok, and the groom's mother, Mrs. W. Wilson. Games were played and refreshments served. Other guests were Mrs. O. Jenkinson, Mrs. E. Moir, Mrs. G. Fink, Mrs. R. H. Hiley, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. B. Wilson, Mrs. J. Jackson, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. E. Parker, Mrs. G. Hill, Mrs. A. Voyer, Mrs. J. Klick, Mrs. G. Stewart, Mrs. A. E. Wilson, Mrs. B. Hyne and the Misses Willy and Tina Meulblok, Maxine Hay, Ellen Hill, Lorraine Hyne, Patty Jackson and Ellen Voyer.

Overseas Trip

Mr. and Mrs. George Finn have returned to their home on Graham Street after spending the past month touring Great Britain, France, Holland and Belgium. They were accompanied by Mrs. Finn's brother, Mr. David Croston. While overseas the travellers visited their home town of Liverpool, England. This was the Finn's first return to their old home since they left for Canada in 1913.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Pro and Con!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is carbon copy letters. That's all I ever get lately. I don't know what there is about a carbon copy letter that makes me feel so excommunicated, but it does. I hate letters that begin, "DEAR EVERYBODY". My family, and even my husband's family have gone off the deep end on letters like this. There are pages of happenings that don't concern me, and news of people I don't even know. And for this I am expected to write a reply! Be a pal, Abby, and print this.

HATES CARBONS
DEAR HATES: Many people would rather get a "DEAR EVERYBODY" letter than none. I know I would. The only time I ever felt "excommunicated" was when I got the last carbon copy. It was not only so faint I could scarcely read it, but the last page was printed backwards and I had to hold it up to a mirror in order to make it out. (Remember, Sis?)

DEAR ABBY: I have a girl friend that I love very much, but I am having trouble trying to get her to go out with me. We would only go to an afternoon movie and could get there on the bus. She keeps telling me that she would like to go, but her mother won't let her, but I have an idea she is just saying that. Do you think it might help if I had my mother call her mother? I am 12 and she is 11.

IN LOVE.
DEAR IN LOVE: Don't have your mother call her mother. The little girl is shy (about five years!) so give her a chance to grow up. And by the way, what's YOUR hurry?

DEAR ABBY: Am I an old Fuddy Duddy, or has respect for high moral standards gone out of style? I just attended a baby shower that was so big and elaborate it was held in the school gym. The expectant mother was dancing around in a maternity dress which she obviously needed. Just five weeks ago I attended the wedding of this girl and she wore a gown of the snowiest white, with a veil. In my day, when a girl made a mistake, she was married quietly and was not honored at a baby shower. What on earth is wrong with the modern girls? This is the third time that's happened to me this year.

DISGUSTED.
DEAR DISGUSTED: All modern girls do not fit the pattern of your above-mentioned friend. The THIRD time? You're running with the wrong crowd.

DEAR ABBY: In MY book, the noblest mother of them all is the unfortunate, heart-broken unwed mother, who gives up her child because deep down in her heart she knows he will be better off with two parents who can give her child a normal home.

KNEW ONE.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby: Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90210. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Can Glazed Chintz Retain Lustre After a Washing?

"Dear Eunice Farmer: How do you retain the glaze on glazed chintz after it has been laundered?" Mrs. H.O.

Dear Mrs. H.O.: This glaze is usually a permanent finish, however it can be lightly starched or starched with a permanent type starch. This is the only help I can give you but I would welcome hearing from you readers if you have any further suggestions to give.

Rising Education Costs Key Issue at UBCM Meet

By STEPHEN SCOTT
DAWSON CREEK (CP)—Rising school costs, particularly in regard to the new regional and district colleges, are expected to produce considerable debate at the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities which opened today.

School costs are mentioned in four of the almost 90 resolutions to be discussed by the 650 to 700 delegates attending the convention.

The costs are only one of the many financial subjects that will occupy the delegates from 122 of 127 organized areas in the province.

The government is asked in many resolutions to ease the financial burden on municipalities.

Some delegates said in interviews they expected that more than usual attention will be paid to the convention's deliberations this year because of the Sept. 30 provincial election.

"There is going to be some bargaining done," said one from the Lower Mainland.

MAYOR JORDON SPEAKS

Mayor L. K. Jordan of Alberni outgoing president, said in his report to the convention this morning that delegates are well aware "of the financial implications contained in the Public Schools Act regarding establishment of school district colleges and regional colleges."

The act was amended at the last session of the legislature to permit the establishment of the colleges, with two planned on the Lower Mainland and two in the Interior as a start.

New Westminster says in a resolution that recent legislation, notably the financing for construction and maintenance of institutions of higher learning by municipalities, "further enlarges the financial responsibilities of municipalities with respect to matters not municipal in character." It says government grants are "outmoded and patently discriminatory."

It asks that provincial government be advised that "the assignment of new and special financial responsibilities, not municipal in character, is both discriminatory and harrasing to municipal government." The seriousness of this added burden should be discussed between the Union and the government.

Saanich says simply that the continual and large increases in the cost of education is causing grave concern to municipalities and asks that the government revise the basis of sharing costs.

Langley asks that the government assume a larger proportion of primary and secondary costs and asks the convention to go on record as being opposed to sharing of higher education costs from property taxation.

Spallumcheen, in a motion endorsed by the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association, asks legislative amendments to permit speeds of 50 miles an hour within municipalities.

Courtenay and Burnaby say municipalities are losing money because of a new system of licensing commercial vehicles.

Mr. Jordan and T. R. B. Adams, executive director, said in their reports that there was considerable difficulty in dealing with the government after the last convention in Kamloops. But a municipal government meeting was held in June.

"I am happy to report that this union has re-established an understanding rapport with the provincial government on a better level than has existed for some considerable time," said Mr. Adams.

Whim Voting Should Stop, Says Writer

Canadian premiers should not be permitted to call elections whenever it suits their whims, Victoria historian James K. Nesbitt said here Tuesday.

"Canada should have fixed election dates like the United States. The constitution there decides when elections will be held—every four or five years to the very day." He was addressing the Burns Society at Holyrood House.

Mr. Nesbitt said the people of British Columbia didn't want the Sept. 30 election, but had to take it because Premier Bennett found it politically expedient.

"Whenever a premier in Canada wants something to keep up interest, or to bums the voters or when he deems it a good time to get back into office, he pulls an election. 'It shouldn't be allowed. However, we the people permit it, and so we should not criticize the premiers for trying to feather their own nests this way."

Mr. Nesbitt said MLAs and MPs should not be permitted to raise their salaries without a vote from the people. He termed the recent pay rise for MPs to $18,000 a year "disgraceful."

Saanich Theft

Eighty pounds of peaches, a power saw and a sander were stolen from a garage in Saanich overnight Saturday.

The theft was reported by Gordon Bell, 6010 Patricia Bay Highway. The garage was unlocked, police said.

WAY PAVED FOR FAMILY REUNION

Deportation Reversed

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is clearing the way for the re-entry to Canada of Mrs. Louie Yuet-Sun, 31-year-old Chinese who left her Canadian son behind when she was deported to Hong Kong in 1961.

An immigration official said Tuesday that Mrs. Louie will be allowed to enter Canada as a landed immigrant along with her husband and two other sons from Hong Kong provided the family meets normal Immigration Act requirements—good health, good character and a suitable occupation.

Mrs. Louie was ordered deported when the former Progressive Conservative government was in power. Former Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough declined to interfere with the deportation order and Mrs. Louie failed in appeals against the order to Ontario courts and the Supreme Court of Canada.

MRS. LOUIE YUET-SUN ... re-entry soon

The deportation order was bitterly opposed in the Commons by the then Liberal opposition, including J. W. Pick-ersill, a former Liberal Immigration minister and now secretary of state.

The Immigration official said Mrs. Louie's case is one of a number of controversial deportation cases that have been reconsidered in recent months by Immigration Minister Favreau.

After reviewing Mrs. Louie's case, Mr. Favreau decided that she should be permitted to enter Canada with her husband and two sons in Hong Kong, provided they can comply with the normal requirements of the Immigration Act. This would enable the members of the family in Hong Kong to be united with the Canadian son, David, born in Ottawa in August, 1958.

REPORT COMING

Mrs. Louie and other members of the family in Hong Kong have filed formal applications for admittance to Canada as immigrants. It is understood that a report on the Hong Kong office's decision now is on its way to Ottawa.

Mrs. Louie entered Canada on a non-immigrant visa in December, 1957, to visit her father. She gave birth to a son the following August and the child automatically became a Canadian citizen.

After the birth she sought to have herself declared a legally landed immigrant. Her application was rejected on grounds that she was a member of a class of persons prohibited entry at that time. The deportation order did not apply to the baby.

The City of New Orleans, now in Jacksonville, Fla., will be remodelled during the next few months.

Show-the-Flag Cruises Urged

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—Commodore A. B. Fraser-Harris, director of aviation for the Royal Canadian Navy, suggested Tuesday that the navy show the flag in foreign ports as a means of promoting Canadian export trade.

He said the external affairs department has asked the navy to make only one foreign cruise during the 1964-65 fiscal year.

Commodore Fraser-Harris, speaking at a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the Air Industries Association of Canada, also said there is lack of a peacetime aim in the defence department and little co-ordination among the three armed services.

Dave Golden, deputy minister of industry and former president, said the management of research and development in Canada is in a "shocking condition" and that the "situation is terrible."

He said there is no overall management of government research efforts such as the National Research Council, Defence Research Board and the research branches of the mines and agriculture departments.

'CHAOTIC STATE'

Stanley Haggett of Winnipeg, president of Bristol Aero-Industries Limited, and new chairman of the association, agreed that research and development are in a "chaotic state."

The roughest blast at the government was delivered by Donald Buchanan of de Havilland Aircraft of Canada.

He said there is lack of co-ordination in government policy. While the trade department was promoting export sales, the finance department was slapping a sales tax on production tooling.

2nd Debut for Mother

Since She May Now Lift Her Face Out of Lines and Wrinkles

The "Wiesbaden Discovery" has now come to Canada. Scientifically named CEF 600, it has been extracted from live tissue and compounded into smooth-flowing 2ND DEBUT. This natural ingredient penetrates the outer facial skin layer and carries into it millions of tiny loads of pure water that skin has lost during natural aging process. This water accumulates under lines and wrinkles and pushes these unwanted indentations upward. Progressively the face feels smoother, fresher. The face and neck look younger again. The result is often so startling you once again enjoy the rapt attentions that were bestowed upon you at the time of your FIRST debut. 2ND DEBUT is greaseless and pleasant to use. Try it today.

Man Jailed For Locking Dog In Car

VANCOUVER (CP)—Norman Nelson, 27, has been jailed for two weeks because he locked his dog in his car for two hours.

He bought the German shepherd from the SPCA July 24. Soon after, citizens complained to the SPCA a dog was trying frantically to get out of Nelson's car.

Nelson unlocked the car two hours later but the dog collapsed and died. While an SPCA inspector tried to revive it, Nelson drove to the SPCA, demanded his money back—and got it.

Blacks Cheer Wrong Team

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Bloody racial disturbances erupted here Saturday as non-whites clashed with police and white spectators during an international rugby football game.

Police used clubs and tear gas and fired shots into the air to put an end to fights and bottle throwing. Some Negroes and other non-whites were arrested.

Trouble started when the South African team took the lead in the match against the touring Australians. From the start, the non-whites had cheered the visitors, a common practice in this strictly segregated country.

RED CROSS ENDORSES PEACE ROLE GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters)—The International Red Cross Movement decided at its centenary congress here Tuesday the Red Cross should intervene to preserve world peace when simultaneously called on by states in conflict.

It took this step by overwhelmingly passing a French-sponsored resolution approving intervention by the Red Cross international committee in the Cuban crisis last October.

The resolution was approved by 49 votes to four with four abstentions. Cuba, Communist China, North Korea and South Africa voted against it.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by children readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume of World Book Encyclopedia to Roger Tow, age 11, of Richmond Hill, Ont., Canada, for his question:

What is a sting ray?

The rays are flat fish, though they are not related to the soles and the flounders. Their remote ancestors gave rise to the sharks, the skates and the sawfishes. All these fellows have skeletons made from gristle or cartilage. They belong in the class Chondrichthyes—meaning the cartilage fishes.

In place of fine, glassy scales, the cartilage fishes have small bony plates embedded in the slimy skins. Instead of having bony gill covers, their gills open to the water by a series of clefts or slits. Gristle fish of many kinds thronged the ancient seas before the first bony fishes appeared. About 150 million years ago, certain gristle fish adapted to life on the ocean floor and became the ancestors of the many rays that live in our warm and temperate waters.

These fish that flopped to the floor of the sea became flat, their fins fused together and their bodies took on a pancake shape. Some kept their fishy tails, others developed whip tails. The sting rays are whip-tailed gristle fish, and their tails are armed with deadly sharp daggers. The sting rays come in assorted sizes, and they tend to prefer life in the tropics. Some of them are no bigger than pancakes and many are six feet long, and a sting ray who lives in Australian waters may be 12 feet long. The rays still like to doze on the sea floor, half buried in the sand. Their gristly sides act like wings which they can flap. When they swim, they glide through the water like slow-moving bats.

The sting of the sting ray is a painful and a dangerous wound. When threatened, the flat fellow swings his barbed tail around to stab his enemy. Mucus from his slimy body is injected into the wound along with sea water. Both the mucus and the sea water tend to poison the deep wound, and the patient should be treated by a doctor. Swimmers and divers in tropical waters should avoid the sting ray, but this is not always possible. A bather may step accidentally upon a small spotted sting ray half buried in the sand. The painful wound is slow to heal and without treatment may be fatal.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT
By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Carroll Baker phoned Beverly Hills police to report that a man was hammering at her door, claiming to be a TV repairman, asking to be let in "to fix your TV set"—at 10 o'clock at night.

"I hope," said her husband, producer Jack Garfein, here in New York, "that it isn't due to the nude scenes Carroll has been doing lately. I have approved of the scenes she did in 'The Carpetbaggers' although I haven't seen them yet."

"Carroll's got censor trouble everywhere," her husband reported.

"She flew to Paris to see about a TV show she did with Sam Wanamaker being banned because of a love scene—with the clothes on. And it looks like her movie, 'Station 6,' is being banned here."

"I approved each one because it was in the context of the story. For actresses to do supposed nude scenes, and wear some kind of flesh-colored tape, is ridiculous! All the authors, John O'Hara and the rest, are depicting love realistically. Why shouldn't actresses do it?"

Jack anticipates that things won't get better.

"An Italian photographer showed up from Rome. After he'd been introduced, he said, 'How about taking your clothes off and swimming in the pool?' They compromised," Jack said, "on a bikini shot."

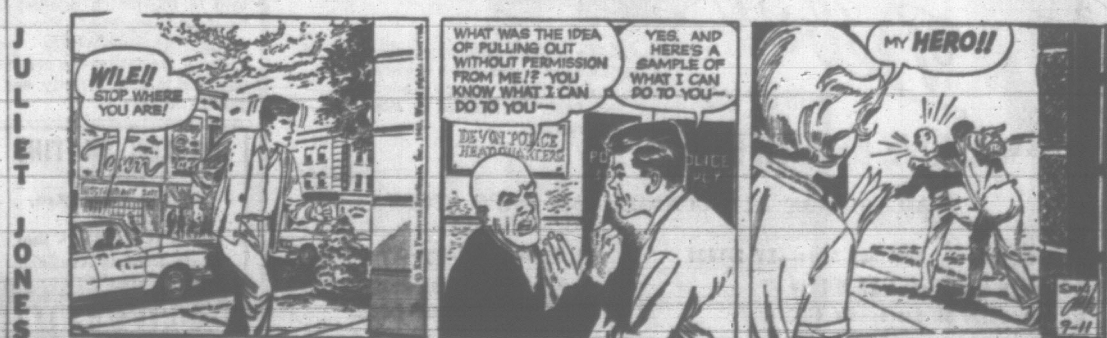

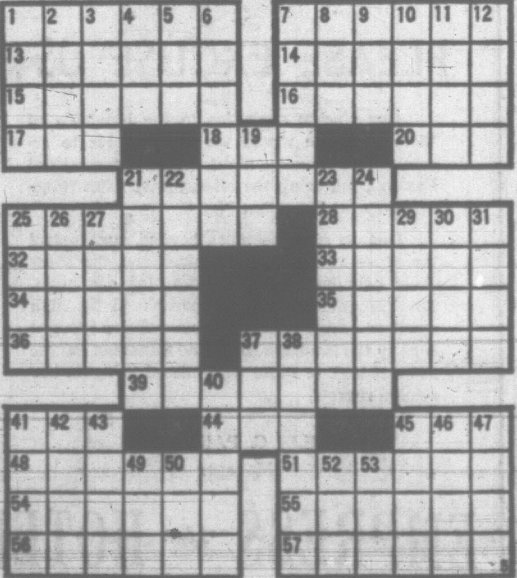

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jack Cassidy turned on the TV set and watched the Mets lose. He hates those summer reruns.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Prosperity is that short period between the last payment and the next loan.

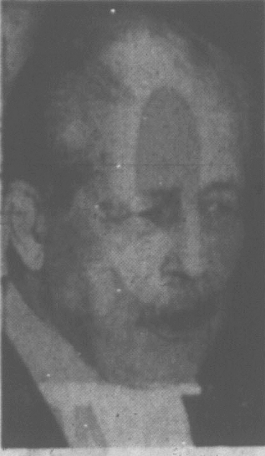

Carroll Baker is moving to a new address; she's there with her two children.

Mac Rises From Ashes
Of Fiery Sex Scandal

HAROLD MACMILLAN

LORD HAILSHAM

JOHN PROFUMO
... security matter

By CAROL KENNEDY
LONDON (CP) — "A great party is not to be brought down because of a scandal by a woman of easy virtue and a proved liar."

Lord Hailsham's angry comment when the Profumo affair blew up in June looked to many people at the time to be an act of hopeless defiance on a par with King Canute's command to the ocean.

How, it was asked, could the Tories survive this one? Events had been conspiring against the government for some time and opinion polls showed the Conservatives sinking fast, with Labor at its highest peak of popularity for 17 years. It wasn't only professional satirists who were sniping at the establishment.

Stormy Commons Debate

Consider the situation June 18, a day after the stormy Commons debate on the security aspects of Profumo sharing a call girl with a Soviet diplomat.

Macmillan had come out of the fray badly, his case virtually reduced to a plea for tolerance because nobody had told him what was going on; he was unwilling to doubt a colleague's word; and anyway, he didn't mix in such sleazy circles.

Even his own backbenchers found it hard to stomach this. "Let him never come back to us!" cried a Tory MP, cruelly quoting Browning's poem The Lost Leader at the bowed and crumpled premier.

Next morning the headlines predicted doom.

Opinion In Suburbs

Macmillan knew that if he could only gain enough time, a test-ban success might well tip the scales of his political survival. He prepared to dig in, fortified by the way opinion was swinging in the "sticks." Twice he publicly indicated he would only go when he was good and ready to go; on television he went so far as to say he hoped to lead the party in the next election.

To add to his worries, another spy story burst (Harold Philby, the vanished foreign correspondent who, it developed, had helped defectors Burgess and Maclean in 1951); the Rachman slum racket threatened trouble and the sordid trial and suicide

The reeking scandal uncovered by the war minister's confession of lies and loose living, plus what looked like the prime minister's negligence in yet another security matter, would surely seal the Conservatives' fate.

So it was thought. In fact, one of the most incredible aspects of the whole incredible sex-and-security tangle, as analysed in a fast-selling paperback called Scandal '63, is the resilient way Macmillan and the Tories have bounced back from what three months ago looked like the point of no return.

"Mac: The end," bannered The Daily Mail.

"Premier likely to resign soon"—The Daily Telegraph.

The Daily Mirror hedged just a fraction: "His future, short of a miracle, will be brief."

Then the miracle happened. It was largely due to three things.

Firstly, the distasteful sight of the Tory party yelling for Macmillan's blood in a panicky attempt to save their electoral skin, yet hopelessly split over the succession.

Secondly, the sudden upsurge of sympathy in the country constituencies for a premier seen fighting for survival—a typically British reaction. There appeared to be a growing feeling it was unfair that he should be toppled because of "that girl."

Thirdly, the signing of the test ban treaty.

NEW APPOINTEE to Vancouver's juvenile probation service is Michael Audain, 26, of Victoria, great-grandson of James Dunsmuir, turn-of-the-century premier of B.C. Audain hit the news headlines two years ago when he was jailed for entering a Negroes-only cafe in Mississippi while taking part in the U.S. anti-segregation movement.

Does Income Affect How You Travel?

Why are interviewers in a traffic survey asking residents how much they earn?

Because your travel habits depend on how much you have to spend.

For instance, if you have no job you are more likely to take a bus or walk than to drive a Cadillac.

The explanation was offered today by George Forrester, an official of Traffic Research Corporation of Toronto.

The consulting firm is taking a survey here for Capital Region Planning Board. The question on income has been "causing a little trouble," said Mr. Forrester.

Fourteen interviewers began the survey Monday to establish the travel pattern of Greater Victorians and residents of outlying districts.

Mr. Forrester said different cities show different patterns. "In Toronto, for instance, people travel 40 miles to work and 40 miles home without thinking about it."

"If Victorians were faced with that, they'd visualize themselves starving along the way."

The survey is being conducted for the Capital Region Planning Board, and will last six days a week for about a month.

2,700 Guards Defect

BONN (AP) — About 2,700 East German police and border guards have fled to the West since the Communists built the wall dividing Berlin two years ago, the West German government said Tuesday. The figure includes those who jumped the wall and those who made it through other parts of the 375-mile-long Iron Curtain.

SALLY ANN GIVES FOOD TO SONS

AGASSIZ, B.C. (UPI) — The Salvation Army is giving food vouchers to needy members of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect camped outside the federal prison at Agassiz.

The 600 Freedomites in the make-shift tent camp have not received welfare or social assistance since leaving Vancouver last month.

BURNING, BOMBING, PRISON, HUNGER STRIKES

Big Fanny Has Seen It All

By BRUCE LEVET T
AGASSIZ, B.C. (CP) — "I do not lie."

Mrs. Florence (Big Fanny) Storgoff regards her standing as spokesman for the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors as a mission and a sacred trust.

She sat heavily onto a striped mattress cover in a sublimely popular grove beside the road and said it again.

"I do not lie."

Across the road was the small green tent she shares with her husband Fred, a husky mill-worker and a logger when he works.

"Right now I'm a watchman," he says in Russian. "I watch."

Fanny speaks for a people whose men wear their beards in the flowing fashion of biblical patriarchs; for women who cover their hair with embroidered babushkas; for neat, soft-spoken children and typical teen-agers.

SOME FANATICS
Some are moderates. Others are fanatics with prison records for burning, bombing and nude parading.

And, while hunger strikes and fasting are among the main weapons of protest adopted by the Sons:

"Always there is food for the children."

The road she camps beside began 55 years ago for Fanny, born into a farming family in a Russian village on the Turkish border.

It led from Russia, which she left with her family at the age of three, down through Saskatchewan, into California and back to British Columbia. It has been lit at night by the glare of burning homes and torn apart by explosives. It has led into prison and out again.

And there have been detours which were to have led to Uruguay, Russia and Brazil but didn't.

WAS ON FARM
Big Fanny grew to the age of 15 on the family farm at Canora, Sask. Then the family moved to Richmond, Calif., for a year.

"My brother wanted to marry a German girl and my mother said 'no, we will go to British Columbia where he can marry a good Doukhobor girl.'"

The family moved to Vancouver where Fanny met and married Fred and where one of their two daughters was born.

"The grandchildren call me 'Baba,'" she says.

Fanny and Fred moved to the Kootenay Valley but when "the trouble" started, she was sent to a special Doukhobor compound on Piers Island near Victoria.

Still later the provincial police — watching a Kootenay home burn — "got mixed up in the names" and Fanny went to Kingston Penitentiary for three years for arson.

Shortly after she returned in 1950, Fred went to jail for three years for nude parading "and because they told him to bomb the railroad."

Whenever Fanny stops to talk, a crowd gathers. They sit with her on the mattress cover and lean against the trees.

"I have been spokesman for a year now," she says. "They elected me. I can be spokesman until I make a mistake."

And when that happens? "We kick her," says a voice from the crowd.

"They elect somebody else," says Fanny.

"We watch her," says another voice.

Fanny and some of the Sons of Freedom she speaks for were in the second week of a hunger strike, fasting in sympathy with about 100 brethren in Mountain Prison down the road.

Would there be violence?

"No, we want to live peacefully."

Big Fanny says the Sons want Stefan Sorokin, their spiritual leader, to return from Uruguay where he went 10 years ago in search of a promised land for them. Earlier searches through Russia and Brazil had also failed.

"We can't live without him. He's the one who can solve the problem," she says.

They would "go away" if he returned.

Where would they go? Fanny and the others burned their homes in Krestova in southeastern B.C. when they began their westward trek a year ago.

"We had threats, we were told our homes would be burned with our children in them. So we burned them to save the children. We have no place to go."

Who threatened them? Fanny names a Creston, B.C., man she says is a police agent.

Where would they go if Sorokin returned?

"Anywhere the sun is shining — where God wills it."

Mrs. Storgoff stands five-feet-four. She comes by her nickname honestly.

"I've never weighed less than 230 pounds."

She is known throughout the sect for her borscht. Her small tent is as neat as was her house in Krestova.

Her blue-grey eyes, shaded by Mamie Eisenhower bangs, are sunken. Sometimes she wears glasses.

"You are hungry for the first three days," she says of the hunger strike. "After that, you don't notice it."

She takes a tuck in the waistband of her voluminous, ankle-length skirt to show it now is about two sizes too large.

Big Fanny speaks with a sincerity as intense as her heavy Russian accent.

There was a time when Doukhobor leaders suggested she confess to the arson charges against her — become a martyr.

"I said — pardon me for saying it — 'to hell with you.'"

"I do not lie."

U.S. Sounds Air Pollution Alarm

By MORTON MINTZ

WASHINGTON — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff (D-Conn.) said this week "man-made fallout" is far more plentiful and "potentially more dangerous" than the contamination of nuclear weapons testing.

He also testified before a senate public works subcommittee that "if we hadn't been lucky"—if a mass of dirty air that hovered last winter over the eastern seaboard from Richmond to Boston hadn't been blown out to sea—"the United States might have suffered the worst air pollution calamity in history."

After the hearing, Dr. Richard A. Prindle, the top air pollution medical expert of the public health service, told a reporter that hundreds might have died had the contaminated air mass remained eight days or even fewer, rather than about 3½.

Weather systems in the northern hemisphere move from west to east, and, said Ribicoff, the set of meteorological circumstances that had developed here showed up several days later in London. The result there was an estimated 750 deaths.

Vernon G. Mackenzie, chief of the air pollution division of the public health service, said this was hundreds below what it would have been had it not been for passage of Britain's clean air act.

That law is said to be roughly comparable to bills being considered by the Senate public works subcommittee.

'Against Teachings Of Bible'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former president Truman said today racial intermarriage is against the teachings of the Bible and he hopes it wouldn't become widespread in the United States.

Truman was asked by reporters on his early-morning walk if he thought intermarriage would become prevalent.

"I hope not," he said. "I don't believe in it. What's that word about four feet long? Miscegenation?"

He advised his questioners to read the Bible and said they would learn racial intermarriage is opposed to bible teachings.

He praised President Kennedy for federalizing the Alabama National Guard to help integrate schools there.

Mackenzie said the London disaster teaches that air pollution in seveee form can bring on acute illness and sudden death, and that air pollution controls—such as would be furthered by bills passed by the House and introduced in the Senate—"can drastically curtail the ill effects of air pollution."

Mackenzie said that "we already know how to control the vast majority of significant sources of air pollution... there is no technical reason, for example, for the existence of most of the plumes of smoke and dust that are still to be seen in many places" (The Washington Post.)

Which whisky uses the water from a red granite burn?

Water, soft water, is one of the most important influences on the flavour of a whisky. And the water from a red granite stream is the softest and purest.

Next time you drink Ballantine's, you'll sense how the stream runs in the taste.

It is differences like this that prove—the more you know about Scotch, the more you like Ballantine's.

play the part score contract.

With a good hand you transfer, then go to game. This keeps the play in the no-trump hand and the advantage of having the lead come up to him will frequently be worth the game-making trick.

North's two heart response was the Jacoby Transfer Bid for spades. After South went to two spades as ordered North jumped to game. West opened the queue of hearts and South proceeded to get rid of one of dummy's clubs before starting after the trumps. We had no trouble making his contract. He had to lose one trick in each suit except hearts, but four tricks are needed to set four spades.

Had North played four spades, as he surely would have without the JTB at his disposal, he also might have made the game. There is no telling what East would have opened.

Had East led a club, West would have picked up two tricks right off the bat and there would have been no way for North to avoid the loss of two more tricks later.

Plot Charged By Expelled Chinese Reds

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A group of Chinese expelled from Russia Saturday for trying to smuggle in propaganda had accused the Soviet Union of plotting with the Chinese Nationalists against Communist China, a newspaper alleged today.

The report appeared in the youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda and Western observers said the charge was one of the most far-reaching yet in the sharpening Sino-Soviet ideological dispute.

Komsomolskaya Pravda, giving further details of incidents Saturday at Naushki, on Russia's border with Mongolia, also disclosed for the first time that a total of 73 Chinese students and 19 trainees were involved.

Russia has charged the Chinese were trying to smuggle in banned publications and accused them of "behaving like hooligans and even using fists" when prevented from doing so.

The newspaper disclosed the Chinese had accused Russia of having "concluded a secret pact with Chiang Kai-shek directed at People's China."

This allegation, which Komsomolskaya Pravda described as "outrageous," was made during a meeting organized at the border station by the Chinese.

IWA Protests Compensation Board Policy

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 30,000-member B.C. branch of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) charged Tuesday that the province's Workmen's Compensation Act is unfairly applied.

In a 45-page brief submitted to the Compensation Act inquiry being conducted by retired chief justice A. C. Desbrisay, the union said hardship is caused to thousands of injured workers because of wrong interpretation of the act.

"The concept of workmen's compensation in B.C. is no longer limited to the degree of compensation for injury a workman could gain by an action in common law against his employer," the union brief said.

"... The employers should be responsible not only for the chance events which occasion injury to his employees, but for those working conditions... which gradually or suddenly cause disabling injury or disease to his employees."

PRINCIPLE IGNORED
 The brief said that though the B.C. act holds to this principle, in practice the principle is ignored. The Compensation Board, with few exceptions, interpreted the word "accident"—on the basis of which compensation is granted—in its narrowest terms.

It detailed the case of Mrs. Ethel Scott, who is ill and without funds. Her husband drowned in August, 1961, while working at a west coast of Vancouver Island logging operation. But the Compensation Board informed her claim for a widow's pension was denied because it could not be concluded that "your husband's death arose out of and in the course of his employment."

The IWA brief said a union investigation of the case showed Scott was driving a company truck in the course of his work when it plunged into a river. The IWA appealed to the Compensation Board but got nowhere.

Car for Castro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Soviet-made automobile, gift of Premier Khrushchev, has been presented to Premier Fidel Castro, Havana radio says. The broadcast said the car was given in recognition of the Cuban premier's praise of progress in the Soviet auto industry.

Censorship Protest

KARACHI (Reuters)—News paper men wearing black armbands went on a one-day strike throughout Pakistan Monday, closing all newspapers in protest against sweeping new press restrictions.

Lower Cost Seen In Pension Plan

Improvements In Portable Scheme Discussed at Ottawa Conference

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Lower initial costs and improved fringe benefits in the federal government's Canada Pension Plan may result from discussions at a two-day federal-provincial conference which ended late Tuesday.

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh, who presided, said many ideas were raised and discussed but no quick decisions could be made since she and Citizenship Minister Favreau, the only other federal cabinet minister attending, could not speak for the whole government.

Suggestions to be considered include:

Reducing the initial rate of contributions to the earnings-related portable retirement pensions plan, since they will not now have to bear the cost of a $10 increase in basic old age pensions, which Prime Minister Pearson announced Monday will be paid out of higher taxes.

Raising or modifying the scope of supplementary benefits to be available. The Canada Pension Plan now includes benefits for aged survivors. Miss LaMarsh mentioned that modern welfare thinking tends towards supplements based on living costs for retired persons.

DISCUSS ASSISTANCE

Not directly connected with the Canada Pension Plan was discussion in the conference of increases in the assistance payments, by which the federal treasury contributes to the cost of provincial pensions to the blind, disabled, and to persons in financial need between age 65 and age 70 when the basic old age pension is paid.

Miss LaMarsh said these assistance payments are under review, but all provincial delegates to the two-day pensions conference did not have instructions from their governments to state definite views.

The $10 increase to $75 monthly in the basic old age pension, to be paid out of taxes and become effective from next month onward—instead of the original plan to pay it out of contributions to the Canada Pension Plan early next year—means a reduced burden on the funds of the Canada Pension Plan.

LESS NEEDED

Miss LaMarsh said this means that it will require "considerably less" than the one per cent of salaries contributed by employers and employees—and two per cent contributed by the self-employed, if they wish to join the plan.

The two things which are to be weighed are: Do you leave the two per cent rate to begin with and keep it over a very long period of time, or do you charge a lower rate to begin with and then raise it after a relatively short time?"

For a full program of survivor benefits, including federal help for young widows with growing children—now constitutionally considered a responsibility of provincial governments—an amendment to the British North America Act would be required.

All provinces were not able to give their views on this at this week's conference, but all but Quebec agreed to the change when it was suggested by the former Conservative government. Quebec wanted details of the Dielenbaker government's proposal.

NO OBJECTION

Miss LaMarsh said that while the Quebec delegation to this conference had no power to agree now to the constitutional amendment, it could see no serious reason to object.

Assistance payments to the needy will be studied further. "They are all on a means test," Miss LaMarsh said. "It is a more modern approach to put them on a test of the need of an individual—what it costs to live where he lives."

Current political controversy in at least one of the three provincial general elections appeared to have gone into the federal-provincial conference room.

Ontario Premier Robarts—under pressure from Liberal Leader Wintermeyer to declare whether he fully favors the Canada Pension Plan or not—told the conference Monday morning his government is prepared to amend its already passed portable pensions legislation to fit with the federal plan.

NOT FULL APPROVAL

Miss LaMarsh said Mr. Robarts' words had to be examined carefully and that he didn't seem to go beyond anything he had said earlier. She interpreted him as failing to give complete approval to proceeding with the Canada Pension Plan in Ontario.

Provincial Treasurer James Allan, who headed the Ontario delegation, said after the conference that provincial and federal government experts will meet in 10 days or two weeks to "correlate the two plans and make them compatible."

Ontario will want, however, to continue its general supervision of private pension plans, making sure they are properly funded and portable, while it may drop the compulsory feature of its provincial legislation in favor of the Canada Pension Plan, Mr. Allan told reporters.

Sect Leader Shot, Killed In Pulpit

SEATTLE (AP)—A 33-year-old religious leader was shot to death Tuesday night as startled members of his congregation looked on.

Witnesses said the Rev. William J. Fisk, local head of the Church of Scientology of Washington State, was conducting classes in the church's headquarters here when suddenly he stopped.

"Please, someone get a cop," they quoted him as saying. Then, a single shot was fired and he fell to the floor, they said.

Police said a man they identified as Russell Edward Johnson, 36, walked into headquarters and surrendered a short time later. He was booked without charge.

Police also said they found a pamphlet at the scene of the slaying describing Scientology as "... the study of the human spirit in its relationship to the physical universe and its living forms." The home of the sect is believed to be in England.

Christian Missions Attacked

(Times News Service)

JERUSALEM — British and French diplomatic envoys today protested to the Israeli foreign ministry against violent demonstrations against Christian institutions by Jewish religious zealots Tuesday.

Police sources said a total of 125 persons have been taken into custody in connection with Tuesday's outbreak of anti-missionary demonstrations by an "action group" of zealots in Jerusalem, Haifa and Jaffa.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol denounced the disturbances and promised that those responsible would be brought to trial.

The youths broke into church schools and slapped children, assaulted a policeman and a teacher, molested a Roman Catholic archbishop and caused some damage, witnesses reported.

The demonstrators were said to be members of the Haver Hapellim (Circle of Activists), an association of Orthodox students who favor anti-missionary laws.

Rioters invaded the courtyard of the French-directed convent school of St. Joseph in Jerusalem. Roman Catholic sisters bolted all inner doors and called police, who arrested more than 100 demonstrators for trespassing.

Repulse another group. Jerusalem police repulsed another group trying to break into the Finnish mission school. One demonstrator was arrested on charges of attacking a policeman.

In Jaffa, about 100 demonstrators broke into the Church of Scotland school. School officials said the youths slapped several children, assaulted a teacher and caused some damage. Police seized placards reading, "end the disgrace of missions" and arrested seven demonstrators.

Archbishop George Hakim, leader of the Greek Catholic community in Israel, witnessed the Jaffa demonstration. He told reporters he was "molested and grossly insulted" by the youths.

In Haifa, witnesses said the demonstrators broke into the American-European Beth El Messianic mission children's hostel and school shouting "tyrants" and "hangmen." Both Jews and non-Jews attend the school.

About 36 frightened children hid under beds and in closets. The hostel's physician, Dr. Elisabeth Sterling, was reported to have suffered a broken finger in a scuffle. Nine demonstrators were arrested.

White Students End Mixed School Boycott

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils went to class in integrated Birmingham schools today with no disorders reported.

The same situation existed in desegregated schools at Mobile, Tuskegee and Huntsville. Federalized national guardsmen at Birmingham standing

REFUSING to enter a plea Gareth Martinis, son of a Bronx county judge, was arraigned today in New York on charges of vehicular homicide in connection with a car accident last May in which five persons were killed. 'BETTER NO FOOTBALL THAN LET NEGROES IN'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI)—Football players at desegregated Tuskegee High School voted Tuesday to disband the team and cancel the school's remaining football games.

A statement by the players said "an overwhelming majority" of the team decided not to represent a racially mixed student body. Thirteen Negroes entered the school Tuesday.

B.C. Forest Expands Crofton Pulp Plant

$18.5 Million Project

An $18,500,000 expansion of B.C. Forest Products' bleached kraft pulp mill at Crofton was announced today by company president T. N. Beaupre.

The expansion, scheduled for completion by July 1965, will employ up to 200 workers during the construction period.

"The hiring of extra labor is contingent on engineering plans now underway and the calling of tenders," a company spokesman said.

Mr. Beaupre said the expansion will add a further 325 tons per day to the mills present output.

MORE PULP, MORE PAPER

On completion, the capacity of the original mill, which came into production in 1958, will have been increased from 425 tons at that time to 950 tons of Kraft pulp and 350 tons of newsprint per day.

This is the second expansion this year by the company. At its annual meeting in March, B.C. Forest Products reported it was expanding its pulp mill by 30,000 tons a year.

"Our decision to expand further was influenced by the increasing world-wide demand for high-quality bleached sulphate pulps," Mr. Beaupre said.

Major expenditures will be for causticizing and liquor preparation, brown stock screening and washing, bleach plant, pulp drying machine, finishing room, fresh water supply and effluent facilities.

MODERN EQUIPMENT

The design and selection of equipment is being directed towards further improvement in pulp qualities, and the most up-to-date equipment in pollution controls will be incorporated.

Mr. Beaupre said the design will also provide for further expansion to ensure that the mill can produce sufficient quantities of chemical pulp for a second newsprint machine and to maintain its supply of market kraft pulps.

In 1962 the company began construction of a newsprint mill on its Crofton site at an estimated cost of $25,000,000.

"This project is progressing most satisfactorily," Mr. Beaupre said, "and production is expected to begin by the middle of 1964."

LAIID GROUNDWORK

"Work was also started to expand the capacity of the Crofton pulp mill by 30,000 tons per year and this laid the groundwork for expansion."

"The initial increase will enable the mill to further the chemical pulp requirements of the first newsprint machine."

Mr. Beaupre said the expanded facilities at Crofton, have given permanent employment to 250 persons at a cost of about $52,000,000.

"They have also contributed to substantially increased payrolls in many logging operations."

He said better utilization of the woods resources of both the company and independent suppliers will be obtained through the use of considerable quantities of salvage wood.

"It will also mean fuller integration of the company's sawmill, plywood and wood products operations at Victoria, Youbou and Hammond." H. A. Simons Ltd. of Vancouver are consulting engineers for the expansion project.

HIT-RUN SUSPECT FOUND 7 YEARS AFTER MISHAP

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 45-year-old salesman was charged today with failing to remain at the scene of an accident—seven years after the accident happened.

Police said Thomas Joseph Dame was arrested by RCMP at 100 Mile House and was returned to Vancouver to face the charge.

In the Jan. 28, 1956 accident, Mrs. Neda Leckich and her daughter Elizabeth, then eight years old, were struck down. Neither was seriously injured.

Police said they traced the owner of the car said to be involved through its licence number given by a witness, but found the owner had moved, leaving no forwarding address.

The RCMP were recently asked to look out for the man after police heard he had been spotted in Vancouver and Kamloops.

'Remove Brother' U.S. Urges Diem

(Times News Service)

SAIGON — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has asked President Ngo Dinh Diem to oust his brother from the government and lift press censorship, a high official source said today.

Lodge told the president "it would be advisable" for his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, to leave the country, the source said.

This was the first time the United States has formally asked for Nhu's ouster, although the state department has said informally it would like to see him go.

Diem told The Associated Press last Thursday Lodge had not approached him on the subject.

No immediate reaction from the Saigon government was reported, but U.S. officials believed the request would be turned down by Diem.

The president has said repeatedly he regards Nhu, his political adviser, as extremely helpful.

The United States feels Nhu holds too much personal power, and objects to his methods in cracking down on Buddhists and other non-Communist opponents of the government.

OCCUPY HIGH SCHOOLS

Troops meanwhile occupied Saigon high schools again today as students talked of continuing a wave of anti-government strikes.

Few incidents were reported, however.

Pupils interviewed at some schools said they wanted to continue the strikes but said security forces were too strong.

They said they resented government statements that the strike wave has been organized by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

ARCHBISHOP Pierre Martin Ngo Dinh Thuc, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem, abruptly left Rome today and said the Vatican had ordered him to stop talking about the situation in his country. The archbishop left on a plane bound for New York 24 hours after cancellation of an audience with Pope Paul.

Reds Launch Big Attack

CAI NUOC (AP) — Massive Communist guerrilla forces launched co-ordinated attacks on South Viet Nam towns Tuesday and set off the bloodiest fighting in the area in many months.

This district capital temporarily was overrun by the Communist Viet Cong and Dam Doi, 20 miles away, was burned and sacked.

Firm, Rival Union Blamed by Banks

MONTREAL (CP)—The Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.) today charged the Canadian Maritime Union (CMU) and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited with responsibility for the bombing last Friday in Chicago of the Upper Lakes vessel Howard L. Shaw.

SIU President Harold Banks, in a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson, said his union was "deeply shocked and surprised" by the violence, and considered it was "extremely detrimental to the position of the SIU at this time."

Mr. Banks' union was blamed by a federal inquiry for most of the labor strife on the Great Lakes in recent months.

Among the chief recommendations of the inquiry were that maritime unions be controlled by a federal trusteeship and that Mr. Banks himself be fired.

The Maritime Trades Department of the AFL-CIO in the United States, of which the SIU is a member, has accused the Upper Lakes company of engineering the Chicago explosion to bring pressure to bear on the Canadian government to act.

He has posted a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the bombers.

The Howard L. Shaw is manned by Canadian Maritime Union crews.

18 Die In Crash

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — An Indian Airlines Viscount airliner carrying 13 passengers and five crew members crashed and burned south of New Delhi today. An airline spokesman said there was no possibility of survivors.

By HAROLD MORRISON WASHINGTON (CP) — Dismissing any thought of a truce, Seafarers Union boss Paul Hall says he'll pursue the Great Lakes shipping battle even if the Canadian Parliament places all maritime unions under trusteeship.

Warning that such legislation might jeopardize the prosperity of Canadian shipping, the hefty president of the Seafarers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) Tuesday blasted the Canadian and U.S. governments, Canadian labor leadership and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

He denied that the SIU had anything to do with the mysterious dynamiting of the company's Howard L. Shaw freighter in Chicago last week and suggested the company's own private detective force may know more about the matter than the SIU.

It was more than a matter of coincidence, Hall said at a press conference, that incidents of violence come up just before SIU and sympathetic unions have to appear in court.

This had happened in the past and in each case, the violence hurt the SIU's case. Therefore, the SIU had nothing to gain from the ship blast but the Upper Lakes Company did, Hall maintained.

He said he regretted the Chicago incident, fearing it would hurt the International Longshoremen's Association. Continued on Page 2

Death-Dealing Storm Lashes Formosans

WOMEN LEAD RACE PROTEST IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Hundreds of white property owners ringed the city hall today in a massed protest against a proposed ordinance that would ban discrimination in real estate deals.

Busload after busload of the demonstrators arrived from their neighborhoods. Police estimated the throng at about 3,000.

Most of the pickets were women.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Typhoon Gloria, with centre winds of 140 miles an hour, smashed across Formosa tonight. It deluged the island with nearly two feet of rain and marooned more than 100,000 persons on dikes along the Tamsui River here.

The massive storm, biggest of the Pacific season so far, roared in from the Philippines, poured 21 inches of rain on Formosa in 36 hours and sent streams surging through cities and villages.

At least five persons were reported killed on Formosa, raising the over-all death toll of the typhoon to at least 22. The storm had left 17 dead in its sweep across the northern Philippines.

Police feared the casualty figures might run into the thousands, with other thousands made homeless by the winds and the floods. U.S. military families were forced to leave their homes on low-lying lands.

BLOWN OFF RAILS

Three persons were killed at Hsinchu near Taipei when the winds blew a train off the rails and sent the engine and first car tumbling down an embankment into a raging river. A mother and her child were killed in a Taipei suburb when their house collapsed.

More than 10,000 rescue workers struggled with rubber rafts and landing barges today to remove more than 100,000 persons who took refuge atop the giant Tamsui River dike.

They were working against both time and tide. When high tide came tonight, the rivers backed up and the water rose swiftly along the dike.

The long downpour filled the reservoir of the new Shihmen dam to overflowing. With all floodgates open, more than 6,000 cubic feet of water a second gushed into the swollen rivers that empty into the Tamsui.

In the harbor of the northern port city of Keelung, dozens of craft floundered helplessly in the rough seas.

Judy Rapped By Premier Of Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Premier Robarts of Ontario today accused Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh of playing provincial politics with the Canada pension plan and said he will deal directly with Prime Minister Pearson on this subject in future.

(See story page 29.)

Mr. Robarts, campaigning for the Sept. 25 provincial general election, told reporters he was "completely astounded" at reading a report quoting Miss LaMarsh as saying Tuesday that Ontario does not know what it is going to do about the pension scheme.

"I am going to have to disregard her completely," the premier said. "It's obvious she is trying to inject herself into this provincial election campaign on an issue of national importance."

Grain Sale Under Wraps

OTTAWA (CP)—Official silence was maintained today on reports that a major grain agreement is being lined up with Soviet Russia.

But informants said the agreement—if it comes—might exceed the amounts involved in each of the long-term accords with Red China, which set out minimum shipments of 112,000,000 bushels.

Chairman W. C. McNamara of the Canadian Wheat Board, in Ottawa for the discussions, was quoted Tuesday night as saying any announcement of a major deal was premature.

About 36 frightened children hid under beds and in closets. The hostel's physician, Dr. Elizabeth Sterling, was reported to have suffered a broken finger in a scuffle. Nine demonstrators were arrested.

White Students End Mixed School Boycott

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Hundreds of white pupils went to class in integrated Birmingham schools today with no disorders reported.

The same situation existed in desegregated schools at Mobile, Tuskegee and Huntsville.

Federalized national guardsmen at Birmingham standing by, ready to go on school property only if asked by city and school officials.

No major crowds congregated on the grounds of West End High, where hundreds of white pupils and some adult demonstrators created disorders Tuesday which brought nine arrests.

The two Negro pupils entered West End half an hour before class time. Police required white boys and girls to enter the building upon arrival or leave the vicinity.

MASSED IN YARD
About 200 white pupils massed in a yard near the school. They attempted first to congregate on the football field but police chased them away. Adult pickets who wanted to stage a march near the school were halted by police.

A caravan of cars bearing National States Rights Party demonstrators passed the school but police refused to let them stop.

REFUSING to enter a plea, Gareth Martinis, son of a Bronx county judge, was arraigned today in New York on charges of vehicular homicide in connection with a car accident last May in which five persons were killed. Judge Joseph A. Sarafite directed that plea of innocent be entered for him. Trial was set for Oct. 15.

'BETTER NO FOOTBALL THAN LET NEGROES IN'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Football players at desegregated Tuskegee High School voted Tuesday to disband the team and cancel the school's remaining football games.

A statement by the players said "an overwhelming majority" of the team decided not to represent a racially mixed student body. Thirteen Negroes entered the school Tuesday.

The youths broke into church schools and slapped children, assaulted a policeman and a teacher, molested a Roman Catholic archbishop and caused some damage, witnesses reported.

The demonstrators were said to be members of the Haver Hapellim (Circle of Activists), an association of Orthodox students who favor anti-missionary laws.

Rioters invaded the courtyard of the French-directed convent school of St. Joseph in Jerusalem. Roman Catholic sisters bolted all inner doors and called police, who arrested more than 100 demonstrators for trespassing.

B.C. Forest Expands Crofton Pulp Plant

$18.5 Million Project

An $18,500,000 expansion of B.C. Forest Products' bleached kraft pulp mill at Crofton was announced today by company president T. N. Beaupre.

The expansion, scheduled for completion by July 1965, will employ up to 200 workers during the construction period.

"The hiring of extra labor is contingent on engineering plans now underway and the calling of tenders," a company spokesman said.

Mr. Beaupre said the expansion will add a further 325 tons per day to the mills present output.

MORE PULP, MORE PAPER
On completion, the capacity of the original mill, which came into production in 1958, will have been increased from 425 tons at that time to 950 tons of Kraft pulp and 350 tons of newsprint per day.

This is the second expansion this year by the company. At its annual meeting in March, B.C. Forest Products reported it was expanding its pulp mill by 30,000 tons a year.

"Our decision to expand further was influenced by the increasing world-wide demand for high-quality bleached sulphate pulps," Mr. Beaupre said.

Major expenditures will be for causticizing and liquor preparation, brown stock screening and washing, bleach plant, pulp drying machine, finishing room, fresh water supply and effluent facilities.

MODERN EQUIPMENT
The design and selection of equipment is being directed towards further improvement in pulp qualities, and the most up-to-date equipment in pollution controls will be incorporated.

Mr. Beaupre said the design will also provide for further expansion to ensure that the mill can produce sufficient quantities of chemical pulp for a second newsprint machine and to maintain its supply of market kraft pulps.

In 1962 the company began construction of a newsprint mill on its Crofton site at an estimated cost of $25,000,000.

"This project is progressing most satisfactorily," Mr. Beaupre said, "and production is expected to begin by the middle of 1964."

LAD GROUNDWORK
"Work was also started to expand the capacity of the Crofton pulp mill by 30,000 tons per year and this laid the groundwork for expansion."

The initial increase will enable the mill to further the chemical pulp requirements of the first newsprint machine.

Mr. Beaupre said the expanded facilities at Crofton, have given permanent employment to 250 persons at a cost of about $32,000,000.

"They have also contributed to substantially increased payrolls in many logging operations."

He said better utilization of the woods resources of both the company and independent suppliers will be obtained through the use of considerable quantities of salvage wood.

"It will also mean fuller integration of the company's sawmill, plywood and wood products operations at Victoria, Youbou and Hammond."

H. A. Simons Ltd. of Vancouver are consulting engineers for the expansion project.

He said he regretted the Chicago incident, fearing it would hurt the International Longshoremen's Association.

HIT-RUN SUSPECT FOUND 7 YEARS AFTER MISHAP

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 45-year-old salesman was charged today with failing to remain at the scene of an accident seven years after the accident happened.

Police said Thomas Joseph Dame was arrested by RCMP at 100 Mile House and was returned to Vancouver to face the charge.

In the Jan. 28, 1956 accident, Mrs. Neda Leckich and her daughter Elizabeth, then eight years old, were struck down. Neither was seriously injured.

Police said they traced the owner of the car said to be involved through its licence number given by a witness, but found the owner had moved, leaving no forwarding address.

The RCMP were recently asked to look out for the man after police heard he had been spotted in Vancouver and Kamloops.

'Remove Brother'
U.S. Urges Diem

(Times News Services)
SAIGON — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has asked President Ngo Dinh Diem to oust his brother from the government and lift press censorship, a high official source said today.

Lodge told the president "it would be advisable" for his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, to leave the country, the source said.

This was the first time the United States has formally asked for Nhu's ouster, although the state department has said informally it would like to see him go.

Diem told The Associated Press last Thursday Lodge had not approached him on the subject.

No immediate reaction from the Saigon government was reported, but U.S. officials believed the request would be turned down by Diem.

The president has said repeatedly he regards Nhu, his political adviser, as extremely helpful.

The United States feels Nhu holds too much personal power, and objects to his methods in cracking down on Buddhists and other non-Communist opponents of the government.

OCCUPY HIGH SCHOOLS
Troops meanwhile occupied Saigon high schools again today as students talked of continuing a wave of anti-government strikes.

Five incidents were reported, however.

Pupils interviewed at some schools said they wanted to continue the strikes but said security forces were too strong.

They said they resented government statements that the strike wave has been organized by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Death-Dealing Storm Lashes Formosans

WOMEN LEAD RACE PROTEST IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Hundreds of white property owners ringed the city hall today in a massed protest against a proposed ordinance that would ban discrimination in real estate deals.

Busload after busload of the demonstrators arrived from their neighborhoods. Police estimated the throng at about 3,000.

Most of the pickets were women.

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Typhoon Gloria, with centre winds of 140 miles an hour, smashed across Formosa tonight. It deluged the island with nearly two feet of rain and marooned more than 100,000 persons on dikes along the Tamsui River here.

The massive storm, biggest of the Pacific season so far, roared in from the Philippines, poured 21 inches of rain on Formosa in 36 hours and sent streams surging through cities and villages.

At least five persons were reported killed on Formosa, raising the over-all death toll of the typhoon to at least 22. The storm had left 17 dead in its sweep across the northern Philippines.

Police feared the casualty figures might run into the thousands, with other thousands made homeless by the winds and the floods. U.S. military families were forced to leave their homes on low-lying lands.

BLOWN OFF RAILS
Three persons were killed at Hsinchu near Taipei when the winds blew a train off the rails and sent the engine and first car tumbling down an embankment into a raging river. A mother and her child were killed in a Taipei suburb when their house collapsed.

More than 10,000 rescue workers struggled with rubber rafts and landing barges today to remove more than 100,000 persons who took refuge atop the giant Tamsui River dike.

They were working against both time and tide. When high tide came tonight, the rivers backed up and the water rose swiftly along the dike.

The long downpour filled the reservoir of the new Shihmen dam to overflowing. With all floodgates open, more than 6,000 cubic feet of water a second gushed into the swollen rivers that empty into the Tamsui.

In the harbor of the northern port city of Keelung, dozens of craft floundered helplessly in the rough seas.

THE MARRIAGE GAME
'He Was Quite a Sportsman'

ALBERTA, B.C. (CP) — David John Centi keeps a pretty tight schedule.

Mrs. Centi testified here Tuesday that her husband kissed her on the cheek and said he had a few things to do before they left on a trip last weekend.

At 4:50 p.m., she said, the 26-year-old millworker telephoned to say he would be home in 20 minutes.

"But I guess he got waylaid by the church. While I was waiting for him he was getting married."

Centi was arrested with wife No. 2 in New Westminster on Sunday. Tuesday he pleaded guilty to bigamy and was remanded for a week for sentence.

Mrs. Centi said the 19-year-old he went through a marriage ceremony with—and her parents—were taken in even after being told Centi was married.

"I telephoned them in July when I heard about the affair," the first wife said.

"But he had given them such a line they didn't even bother to check."

JAILED 3 YEARS

Armored car driver Douglas Brown, who admitted stealing more than $500,000 from his employers, was sentenced in Vancouver today to three years in prison. Brown, 35, was caught in Rio de Janeiro.

Judy Rapped
By Premier Of Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Premier Robarts of Ontario today accused Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh of playing provincial politics with the Canada pension plan and said he will deal directly with Prime Minister Pearson on this subject in future.

(See story page 29.)
Mr. Robarts, campaigning for the Sept. 25 provincial general election, told reporters he was "completely astounded" at reading a report quoting Miss LaMarsh as saying Tuesday that Ontario does not know what it is going to do about the pension scheme.

"I am going to have to disregard her completely," the premier said. "It's obvious she is trying to inject herself into this provincial election campaign on an issue of national importance."

Grain Sale
Under Wraps

OTTAWA (CP) — Official silence was maintained today on reports that a major grain agreement is being lined up with Soviet Russia.

But informants said the agreement—if it comes—might exceed the amounts involved in each of the long-term accords with Red China, which set out minimum shipments of 112,000,000 bushels.

Chairman W. C. McNamara of the Canadian Wheat Board, in Ottawa for the discussions, was quoted Tuesday night as saying any announcement of a major deal was premature.

Woman Brutally Slain
LONDON (UPI) — An attractive 30-year-old woman chiropodist was found brutally slashed to death today in the basement of a Victorian-style Methodist church. Police speculated she may have been the victim of a "Jack-the-Ripper" killer.

Nigerian Jailed
LAGOS, Nigeria (Reuters) — Chief Obafemi Awolowo, leader of Nigeria's opposition Action party, today was sentenced to 10 years in prison for plotting to overthrow the federal government. His deputy leader, Chief Anthony Enahoro, was sentenced Saturday to 15 years.

Mrs. Centi said she called the girl's home when her husband didn't show up on Saturday.

She said she was told "they were all at my husband's wedding."

Her husband was a well-known soccer and baseball player here, she said.

Big Dealer From Texas to Make Stand Here

The world's top-ranking bridge player, Texan Oswald Jacoby, will take on all comers in the Empress Hotel next week.

Mr. Jacoby, holder of more points than any other player in the world, will play every day from Monday to the following Sunday in the north-western regional championship tournament of the American Contract Bridge League.

There will be accommo-

modation for 700 players at a time and up to 100 spectators. Mr. Jacoby goes into action at a charity pairs contest in aid of the Canadian Cancer Society in the Empress ballroom starting at 5 p.m. Monday.

The tournament will be officially opened by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes at 9 p.m.

Anyone in Victoria who wants to play in the tournament may do so on payment of an entry fee varying with different events.

But kibitzers can watch the tournament free.

Mr. Jacoby, who will play in all events, now has 7,482 points—more than 800 points more than Charles Goren whom he displaced as top bridge player early in 1963.

Mr. Jacoby will be partnered by his wife in the charity pairs and the mixed pairs event. They will be partnered by Jack Goldie and Bill Simpson-Balkis, both of Victoria, in the team-of-four.

Mr. Jacoby will play with Eric Goodwin of Victoria in the men's pairs and with Peter Pender, also of Victoria in the open pairs. He will likely play in the masters' pairs with Mrs. Jacoby.

The Los Angeles unit of the American Contract Bridge League is sponsoring the Victoria tournament, which will run as follows:

Men's and women's pairs, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons; mixed pairs Tuesday and Wednesday evenings; masters' pairs Thursday afternoon and evening; team-of-four, Friday afternoon and evening; four session open pairs Saturday and Sunday afternoon and evening.

The masters' pairs is restricted to players holding 50 masters' points or more. For players with less than 50, there will be masters' 49ers pairs on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Starting times are at 1:30

and 8 p.m., except Sunday, when events will begin at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Top event is the four-session open pairs championship. Two qualifying sessions will be held Saturday and the finals on Sunday afternoon and evening.

For players who do not wish to enter championship events there will be side events in the Empress tea lounge and the Georgian lounge.

Mr. Jacoby will lecture on bridge at the Hudson's Bay store on Monday at 3 p.m. He credits his memory as the factor which brought him to his high standing in the world of bridge. He writes a daily column on the game which appears in this newspaper. (See page 22.)

Arthur Mayse

We're here today and gone tomorrow: one week, for instance, a B.C. Electric employee and the next a Bennett boy with a smile sticker on the rear bumper and a house to sell in a hurry.

This being the case, we could do worse than take a coffee-break with Don Whyte, a Victoria real estate man who among his exploits once persuaded a family to take on a haunted house complete with the murder victim's ghost.

"I told them about the ghost, of course," says Mr. Whyte. "Since I felt they had a right to know what that funny little creak-creak in the back stairs meant. But they didn't object, and they seemed perfectly satisfied. The ghost too... at least he hasn't been heard from lately."

We then withdrew from the spirit world, and at my request, Mr. Whyte drew on his experience for some tips on how not to sell a house.

One surefire way of hanging onto your abode, even though you've put it on the market, is to insist upon an unrealistic price. We all want to make a profit on our property, a desire which the real estate agent heartily endorses. But we can't always do so, and if we persist, may wind up with a loss.

The market, Mr. Whyte explains, is not static. It has been known to go up and down like a yo-yo, and even in times of settled prosperity, can fluctuate considerably in six months.

In October, a month which runs heavy to transfers and retirements, or in June when lawns and flowers are at their best, your sale chances are brightest.

But even in those peak areas, the overpriced house is likely to linger on the owner's hands.

"People's attitudes have changed," Mr. Whyte points out. "For one thing, they're better shoppers. Then too, the choice these days is pretty wide. It used to be that you could set an asking price and come down from it. But not any more. The average buyer doesn't bargain. He just moves on down the block to the next nice three-bedroom bungalow on the agent's list."

Another excellent way to undermine a sale is to let your domicile tell a story of hit-or-miss house and yard-keeping. No need to redecorate. Chances are the prospective buyer's wife will take one look at the color scheme you found so easy to live with and mentally substitute a nice, lively coral for that perfectly nauseous green.

"But tidy up," urges Don Whyte. "A cracked window is money off the price. If your house is bright, clean and cheery, it's already half sold."

He stirred his coffee — second cup — and said, "A house is a woman's workshop as well as her home. And the thing she hates most is to clean up after another woman. There have been times when we even urged a family to move their beatup, dingy furniture out and a cleanup crew in."

This is going to hurt, but another way to ensure the sight of a prospect's departing back is to insist on compensation for the wall-to-wall carpets and built-in electric oven. You look on these as extras, but the buyer sees them as a make-weight that may persuade him into an offer of purchase.

By the same token, many a sale is queered by trailing your agent and his client from room to room with such suggestions as, "We're quite willing to sell you the living room curtains too," or "Our fridge fits that corner so nicely, perhaps you'd like to buy it."

So, Mr. Whyte advises, don't try to kill two birds with one stone. If you want to unload the furnishings, truck them to an auctioneer.

Matter of fact, it's a smart notion to let agent and clients have the place to themselves. With you tagging along, they are reluctant to criticize. This means the agent can't explain or argue where it counts, which is on the spot.

"Then there are the children," concluded Don Whyte, a mild and kindly man. "So devastatingly honest... So eager to help." A basement fekes in water. We admit it, we don't disguise the fact. So down trots junior to tell the nice people how he paddled his rubber seal around the furnace...

I'm not suggesting anything, mind. But I remembered Mr. Whyte's haunted house, heading back to my typewriter, and found myself speculating about that funny little squeak in the basement stairs.

NDP EDUCATION PLAN

Free Textbooks Free Tuition

Free textbooks, free university tuition and a junior college for Nanaimo top the New Democratic Party's election platform—on education, issued today by leader Robert Strachan.

Mr. Strachan said the NDP's plan to lift education costs from municipalities would be "gradual" assumption by the provincial government of operating expense of primary and secondary schools.

The NDP program also includes:

- A night college for Vancouver;
- Establishment of five "model schools" to develop new teaching techniques;

A technical diploma-granting college at Burnaby;

- New audio-visual teaching aids;
- A new teacher training college in the Interior.

DEADLINE 1970

Mr. Strachan said the Nanaimo area junior college should be established before 1970. It would develop out of expanded technical training facilities, he said.

The NDP would provide free textbooks for all students, Mr. Strachan said.

It would also provide free tuition and living expenses for university and technical college students "where required" instead of the present system of student loans.

Mr. Strachan said the present government loads municipalities with the costs of providing education but dictates the policy.

PAY FULL OPERATION

The NDP would gradually assume the operating costs and would continue to provide at least 50 per cent of building costs, he said.

The cost of technical education would be met from industrial taxes, Mr. Strachan said, although he does not propose any new tax on business.

In the field of higher education, the NDP supports the Macdonald Report recommendations and would accelerate their implementation.

Mr. Strachan said this means financial aid for Victoria University to handle an enrolment of 3,000 by 1965.

At the same time the NDP would seek grants from the federal government to cover graduate education.

"B.C.'s greatest natural resource is her people, yet more than half of them of working age are untrained," Mr. Strachan said.

"If we are not to become a technological and educational slum, we must have an education system capable of training all our people for living and working in the 20th century."

BUT SOME INFECTED WITH VOTE FEVER

Isolation Prescribed For MDs in Election

By FRANK BUTTER

B.C. doctors have been told to keep out of the election campaign, except to support members of their profession who are candidates.

But medicare and the situation in Oak Bay are forcing them in.

The only doctor candidate on Vancouver Island is Socred Dr. Charles Ennals of Oak Bay.

And, he claims, he has the support of a considerable number of local doctors.

Three other doctors running are Liberal Pat McGeer in Point Grey and Conservatives Dr. W. O. Green and Dr. Al. Trott of Cranbrook and Columbia.

Although they are unwilling to be drawn into political battles, the doctors have been instructed by the B.C. Medical Association to correct "lies or misrepresentation" on medicare, which the New Democratic Party is making a major issue.

In Oak Bay well-known local physician Dr. Peter Banks branded "a Liberal smear" reports he was working for Dr. Ennals.

However, he said he would be pleased to "encourage and congratulate" any doctor who is a candidate.

He described Dr. Ennals as "a bright young doctor with a lot of background in medical economics."

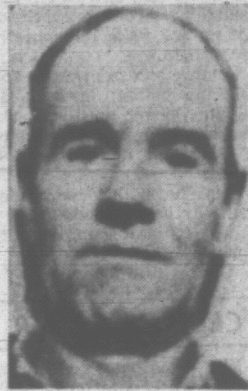

In fact, Dr. Ennals wrote his graduate thesis on the economics of medicare in 1962.

Saanich NDP candidate John Windsor, quoting from a copy of it, said Dr. Ennals figured the cost of medicare at $42,400,000, excluding drugs.

This, Mr. Windsor said, is mighty close to the NDP estimate of $50,000,000, including drugs, and a long way from Premier Bennett's estimate of up to $250,000,000.

Dr. Banks said BCMA president Dr. W. G. McClure has written all members, warning them not to get embroiled in partisan politics, and he intends to abide by the caution.

The letter adds: "To those doctors whose personal political convictions have led them to seek public office under various party banners, my congratulations. We need more of our profession in government."

CHARLES O'HARA... hit dock

Inquest Called In Fatal Fall At Shipyard

Inquest into the death of a Yarrow's Ltd. shipyard worker Tuesday afternoon will be held at Hayward's Funeral Home at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Charles O'Hara, 47, 5336 West Saanich Road, was killed when he fell from the deck of a barge to the dock 17 feet below.

Eye-witnesses say the dead man was pulling staging (platform used by workmen) from the inside of a tank in ship-barge Island Importer when the accident occurred.

He picked up a 36-pound metal staging bracket and threw it over the side of the barge to the dock. Apparently a portion of the bracket caught in his coveralls, and he was pulled over by the weight of the bracket.

SLID INTO HARBOR

He struck a filler piece first, then hit the log separating the barge from the dock, and slipped into the water.

Yarrow's employee Tom Hetherington was first to reach the accident victim, and he and other workers pulled O'Hara from the water.

Esquimalt police rushed him to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Mr. O'Hara was born in Cornamuel, County Leitrim, Ireland, and came to Patricia Bay RCAF Station during the Second World War after being wounded while flying with the RAF as an air gunner over enemy territory.

He was married to the former Alice Patricia Bannerman of Athabasca, Alta.

For 14 years, until July, 1961, he worked for CIL, James Island. He put in periods of work at Yarrow's and Victoria Machinery Depot and had returned to Yarrow's only two weeks ago.

He was a member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans of Sidney.

In addition to his widow he is survived by two daughters, Eileen, 19, Kathleen, 16, and a son, Shan, 12.

Three Youths Seen With Murder Victim

City detectives have discovered that George Down was with two or three young men half an hour before he was killed in the Hudson's Bay Parkade 13 days ago.

They have found a witness who saw the 17-year-old delivery boy in a booth at Coffee Mac's Restaurant on Gorge Road. He was sitting with several young men.

But the informant was not able to say for certain if Down left the restaurant with them, Detective Inspector Charles Webb said this morning.

It's the latest break in the puzzling mystery that began at 4:30 a.m. Aug. 30 when two policemen found Down's battered body on a ramp in the parkade.

Police estimate he was killed at 1:15 a.m. He died from blows on the back of the head.

Insp. Webb said he would like to hear from anyone who was in Coffee Mac's the morning of the murder. He said his men are trying to discover who was with Down in the booth.

The inspector repeated the offer of a reward of $500 for information that leads to conviction of the killer.

INSTALLED TODAY as president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce was Edwin E. Pearlman, who succeeds John Wallace. Installation took place at annual meeting in the Empress Hotel at noon.

The accused with remanded until next Wednesday for trial and Magistrate J. A. Byers set bail at $100.

Joseph B. Hickox, 1025 Pandora, was sentenced to 18 months in jail when he pleaded guilty in Esquimalt magistrate's court this morning to breaking and entering and theft.

Constable Arthur Burton forced entry into Shopwell Grocery, 839 Esquimalt Road, overnight Monday. He took $44 in cash and six packets of cigarettes.

The accused has a police record for car theft and assault, court was told.

Problems of beer workers will come to a head Thursday, when a strike vote is taken throughout B.C. breweries.

Vote is being taken here by Local 280, United Brewery, Flour, Cereals, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers of America.

The provincial mental health service is hiring 71 new staff to handle expanded facilities in the Vancouver area.

Most of the new employees are for service jobs—janitors, cleaners and similar posts—at Woodlands School for Retarded Children where 51 staff are being hired.

Valleyview Hospital for elderly persons is getting an additional 18 psychiatric aides.

Two additional staff are being hired at Essondale.

A few seats are still available on a B.C. Government Employees' one-day bus tour to Harrison Hot Springs and return Saturday. They are available to anyone interested. Full information may be obtained by telephoning EV 2-9311 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. or EV 5-8290 after 6 p.m.

India Air Crash
Kills 18 Aboard

NEW DELHI (UPI)—An Indian airlines plane crashed and burned early today in a remote area of deep ravines south of here, killing all 18 persons aboard.

The plane, a British-built Viscount turbo-prop, carried 13 passengers and five crewmen.

Wirtz Meets Mike

OTTAWA (UPI)—U.S. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz met with Prime Minister Pearson for about 45 minutes today but they came up with no quick solution to the violent Great Lakes labor dispute.

Cowan Defeated

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Dr. John D. McKay of Orlando, Fla., eliminated Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., in the third round of the United States Amateur Golf Championships today, defeating the former Canadian amateur champion 5 and 4.

Plane Found

EDMONTON (CP)—An aircraft missing for about 12 hours was found crashed today 25 miles northeast of Rocky Mountain House, Alta., an RCMP spokesman said here.

The spokesman said no word of David Edwards of Rocky Mountain House, pilot of the downed Cessna 175, has been received but a helicopter or cars would be used to approach the scene.

Yegg Captured

DUBLIN (AP)—Guards seized a burglar rifling the safe in the official residence of President Eamon de Valera today. The 80-year-old president slept in a room above. A police spokesman said guards heard a noise in the president's study and caught the intruder in the act of cramming his pocket with valuables from the safe.

Whites End School
Boycott

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Hundreds of white pupils went to class in integrated Birmingham schools today with no disorders reported.

The same situation existed in desegregated schools at Mobile, Tuskegee and Huntsville.

Federalized national guardsmen at Birmingham are standing by, ready to go on school property only if asked by city and school officials.

No major crowds congregated on the grounds of West End High, where hundreds of white pupils and some adult demonstrators created disorders Tuesday which brought nine arrests.

The two Negro pupils entered West End half an hour before class time. Police required white boys and girls to enter the building upon arrival or leave the vicinity.

MASSSED IN YARD

About 200 white pupils massed in a yard near the school. They attempted first to congregate on the football field but police chased them away. Adult pickets who wanted to stage a march near the school were halted by police.

A caravan of cars bearing National States Rights Party demonstrators passed the school but police refused to let them stop.

THE MARRIAGE GAME

'He Was Quite a Sportsman'

ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—David John Centi keeps a pretty tight schedule.

Mrs. Centi testified here Tuesday that her husband kissed her on the cheek and said he had a few things to do before they left on a trip last weekend.

At 4:50 p.m., she said, the 26-year-old millworker telephoned to say he would be home in 20 minutes.

Christian Missions Attacked

(Times News Services)

JERUSALEM — British and French diplomatic envoys today protested to the Israeli foreign ministry against violent demonstrations against Christian institutions by Jewish religious zealots Tuesday.

Police sources said a total of 126 persons have been taken into custody in connection with Tuesday's outbreak of anti-missionary demonstrations by an "action group" of zealots in Jerusalem, Haifa and Jaffa.

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol denounced the disturbances and promised that those responsible would be brought to trial.

The youths broke into church schools and slapped children, assaulted a policeman and a teacher, molested a Roman Catholic archbishop and caused some damage, witnesses reported.

The demonstrators were said to be members of the Hever Hapellim (Circle of Activists), an association of Orthodox students who favor anti-missionary laws.

Rioters invaded the courtyard of the French-directed convent school of St. Joseph in Jerusalem. Roman Catholic sisters bolted all inner doors and called police, who arrested more than 100 demonstrators for trespassing.

REPUSE ANOTHER GROUP — Jerusalem police repulsed another group trying to break into the Finnish mission school. One demonstrator was arrested on charges of attacking a policeman.

In Jaffa, about 100 demonstrators broke into the Church of Scotland school. School officials said the youths slapped several children, assaulted a teacher and caused some damage. Police seized placards reading, "end the disgrace of missions" and arrested seven demonstrators.

Archbishop George Hakim, leader of the Greek Catholic community in Israel, witnessed the Jaffa demonstration. He told reporters he was "molested and grossly insulted" by the youths.

In Haifa, witnesses said the demonstrators broke into the American-European Beth El Missionist mission children's hostel and school shouting "tyrants" and "hangmen." Both Jews and non-Jews attend the school.

About 36 frightened children hid under beds and in closets. The hostel's physician, Dr. Elisabeth Sterling, was reported to have suffered a broken finger in a scuffle. Nine demonstrators were arrested.

Death-Dealing Storm
Maroons 100,000

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Typhoon Gloria, with centre winds of 140 miles an hour, smashed across Formosa tonight. It deluged the island with nearly two feet of rain and marooned more than 100,000 persons on dikes along the Tamsui River here.

The massive storm, biggest of the Pacific season so far, roared in from the Philippines, poured 21 inches of rain on Formosa in 36 hours and sent streams surging through cities and villages.

At least five persons were reported killed on Formosa, raising the over-all death toll of the typhoon to at least 22. The storm had left 17 dead in its sweep across the northern Philippines.

Grain Sale
Under Wraps

OTTAWA (CP)—Official silence was maintained today on reports that a major grain agreement is being lined up with Soviet Russia.

But informants said the agreement—if it comes—might exceed the amounts involved in each of the long-term accords with Red China, which set out minimum shipments of 112,000 bushels.

Chairman W. C. McNamara of the Canadian Wheat Board, in Ottawa for the discussions, was quoted Tuesday night as saying any announcement of a major deal was premature.

"I telephoned them in July when I heard about the affair," the first wife said.

"But he had given them such a line they didn't even bother to check."

Mrs. Centi said she called the girl's home when her husband didn't show up on Saturday.

She said she was told "they were all at my husband's wedding."

Her husband was a well-known soccer and baseball player here, she said.

"He was quite a hero in Alberni—quite a sportsman in more ways than one."

WOMEN LEAD
RACE PROTEST

CHICAGO (AP)—Hundreds of white property owners ringed the city hall today in a massed protest against a proposed ordinance that would ban discrimination in real estate deals.

Busload after busload of the demonstrators arrived from their neighborhoods. Police estimated the throng at about 3,000.

Most of the pickets were women.

BLOWN OFF RAILS

Three persons were killed at Hsinchu near Taipei when the winds blew a train off the rails and sent the engine and first car tumbling down an embankment into a raging river.

A mother and her child were killed in a Taipei suburb when their house collapsed.

More than 10,000 rescue workers struggled with rubber rafts and landing barges today to remove more than 100,000 persons who took refuge atop the giant Tamsui River dike.

They were working against both time and tide. When high tide came tonight, the rivers backed up and the water rose swiftly along the dike.

The long downpour filled the reservoir of the new Shihmen dam to overflowing. With all floodgates open, more than 6,000 cubic feet of water a second gushed into the swollen rivers that empty into the Tamsui.

In the harbor of the northern port city of Keelung, dozens of craft floundered helplessly in the rough seas.

Firm, Rival Union
Blamed by Banks

MONTREAL (CP)—The Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.) today charged the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC) and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited with responsibility for the bombing last Friday in Chicago of the Upper Lakes vessel Howard L. Shaw.

SIU President Harold Banks, in a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson, said his union was "deeply shocked and surprised" by the violence, and considered it was "extremely detrimental to the position of the SIU at this time."

Mr. Banks' union was blamed by a federal inquiry for most of the labor strife on the Great Lakes in recent months.

Among the chief recommendations of the inquiry were that maritime unions be controlled by a federal trusteeship and that Mr. Banks himself be fired.

The Maritime Trades Department of the AFL-CIO in the United States, of which the SIU is a member, has accused the Upper Lakes company of engineering the Chicago explosion.

SIU Boss Declares War

On Just About Everyone

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Dismissing any thought of a truce, Seafarers Union boss Paul Hall says he'll pursue the Great Lakes shipping battle even if the Canadian Parliament places all maritime unions under trusteeship.

Warning that such legislation might jeopardize the prosperity of Canadian shipping, the hefty president of the Seafarers International Union of North America (AFL-CIO) Tuesday blasted the Canadian and U.S. governments, Canadian labor leadership and Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto.

He denied that the SIU had anything to do with the mysterious dynamiting of the company's Howard L. Shaw freighter in Chicago last week and suggested the company's own private detective force may know more about the matter than the SIU.

"It was more than a matter of coincidence, Hall said at a press conference, that incidents of violence come up just before SIU and sympathetic unions have to appear in court.

This had happened in the past and in each case, the violence hurt the SIU's case. Therefore, the SIU had nothing to gain from the ship blast but the Upper Lakes Company did, Hall maintained.

He said he regretted the Chicago incident, fearing it would hurt the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) — Continued on Page 2

Big Expansion Planned by BCFP

An $18,500,000 expansion of B.C. Forest Products' bleached kraft pulp mill at Crofton was announced today by company president T. N. Beaupre.

The expansion, scheduled for completion by July 1965, will employ up to 200 workers during the construction period.

"The hiring of extra labor is contingent on engineering plans now underway and the calling of tenders," a company spokesman said.

Mr. Beaupre said the expansion will add a further 325 tons per day to the mills present output.

MORE PULP, MORE PAPER

On completion, the capacity of the original mill, which came into production in 1958, will have been increased from 425 tons at that time to 950 tons of Kraft pulp and 350 tons of newsprint per day.

This is the second expansion this year by the company. At its annual meeting in March, B.C. Forest Products reported it was expanding its pulp mill by 30,000 tons a year.

"Our decision to expand further was influenced by the increasing world-wide demand for high-quality bleached sulphate pulps," Mr. Beaupre said.

Major expenditures will be for causticizing and liquor preparation, brown stock screening and washing, bleach plant, pulp drying machine, finishing room, fresh water supply and effluent facilities.

MODERN EQUIPMENT

"The design and selection of equipment is being directed towards further improvement in pulp qualities, and the most up-to-date equipment in pollution controls will be incorporated."

Mr. Beaupre said the design will also provide for further expansion to ensure that the mill can produce sufficient quantities of chemical pulp for a second newsprint machine and to maintain its supply of market kraft pulps.

In 1962 the company began construction of a newsprint mill on its Crofton site at an estimated cost of $25,000,000.

"This project is progressing most satisfactorily," Mr. Beaupre said, "and production is expected to begin by the middle of 1964."

LAID GROUNDWORK

"Work was also started to expand the capacity of the Crofton pulp mill by 30,000 tons per year and this laid the groundwork for expansion."

"The initial increase will enable the mill to further the chemical pulp requirements of the first newsprint machine."

Mr. Beaupre said the expanded facilities at Crofton, have given permanent employment to 250 persons at a cost of about $52,000,000.

"They have also contributed to substantially increased pay."

ARCHBISHOP Pierre Martin

Ngo Dinh Thu, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam, abruptly left Rome today and said the Vatican had ordered him to stop talking about the situation in his country. The archbishop left on a plane bound for New York 24 hours after cancellation of an audience with Pope Paul.

'Remove Brother,
Urges U.S.'

(Times News Services)

SAIGON — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has asked President Ngo Dinh Diem to oust his brother from the government and lift press censorship, a high official source said today.

Lodge told the president "it would be advisable" for his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, to leave the country, the source said.

This was the first time the United States has formally asked for Nhu's ouster, although the state department has said informally it would like to see him go.

Diem told The Associated Press last Thursday Lodge had not approached him on the subject.

No immediate reaction from the Saigon government was reported, but U.S. officials believed the request would be turned down by Diem.

The president has said repeatedly he regards Nhu, his political adviser, as extremely helpful.

The United States feels Nhu holds too much personal power, and objects to his methods in cracking down on Buddhists and other non-Communist opponents of the government.

HIT-RUN SUSPECT FOUND

7 YEARS AFTER MISHAP

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 45-year-old salesman was charged today with failing to remain at the scene of an accident—seven years after the accident happened.

Police said Thomas Joseph Dame was arrested by RCMP at 100 Mile House and was returned to Vancouver to face the charge.

In the Jan. 28, 1956 accident, Mrs. Neda Leckich and her daughter Elizabeth, then eight years old, were struck down. Neither was seriously injured.

Police said they traced the owner of the car said to be involved through its licence number given by a witness, but found the owner had moved, leaving no forwarding address.

The RCMP were recently asked to look out for the man after police heard he had been spotted in Vancouver and Kamloops.

rolls in many logging operations.

He said better utilization of the woods resources of both the company and independent suppliers will be obtained through the use of considerable quantities of salvage wood.

"It will also mean fuller integration of the company's sawmill, plywood and wood products operations at Victoria, Youbou and Hammond."

Judy Rapped By Premier Of Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Premier Robarts of Ontario today accused Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh of playing provincial politics with the Canada pension plan and said he will deal directly with Prime Minister Pearson on this subject in future.

Mr. Robarts, campaigning for the Sept. 25 provincial general election, told reporters he was "completely astounded" at reading a report quoting Miss LaMarsh as saying Tuesday that Ontario does not know what it is going to do about the pension scheme.

"I am going to have to disregard her completely," the premier said. "It's obvious she is trying to inject herself into this provincial election campaign on an issue of national importance."

The bingo will be held in the gymnasium at Work Point Barracks and will be open to the public.

TWO APPOINTED TO UBC SENATE

Deputy Provincial Education Minister Dr. J. F. K. English has been appointed to a three-year term on the Senate of the University of B.C.

The provincial cabinet today also appointed Lt.-Col. W. T. Brown of Vancouver, to fill out the unexpired term of Leon J. Ladner, who has resigned.

LOOK INTO FUTURE

LONDON (Reuters) — Who will be the leaders of China, Russia, France, West Germany and India in another decade?

All five countries are ruled by men who were born in the Victorian era. Their ages reach the amazing total of 371 years.

The senior leader by a good 14 years is West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, 87, who has promised to retire this autumn.

Next in seniority is India's Prime Minister Nehru, 73, followed by French President de Gaulle, 72, and China's Mao Tse-tung, who is 70 this year.

The "junior" of the quintet is Soviet Premier Khrushchev, 69, who said recently he could not continue "forever" as premier and Communist party chief.

MAC AND JACK IN
But Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan, who is also 69, has made it clear that he will continue in his post if his Conservative party wins the next general election.

SAIGON

Saigon high schools again today as students talked of continuing a wave of anti-government strikes.

Few incidents were reported, however.

Pupils interviewed at some schools said they wanted to continue the strikes but said security forces were too strong.

They said they resented government statements that the strike wave has been organized by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

WIRE BRIEFS

166 Cadets Jailed

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuters) — A martial court handed down prison sentences today on 166 war academy cadets for their part in an abortive coup May 21. Seventy-five of them were jailed for four years and deprived of civil rights for life.

Escapes Captured

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Police in Sumas, south of here, have arrested two men who fled a minimum-security work camp near here Friday night. James Francis Etienne, 46, and Jimmy Ignace, 24, were arrested without a struggle and returned to the camp.

Chinese Expelled

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Monday night it has expelled some Communist Chinese citizens from the country for smuggling prohibited publications into Russia.

U.S. Draft Limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Tuesday ordered a halt to the drafting of married men so long as enough single men are available to maintain the strength of the U.S. armed forces.

Ticker Tape for King

NEW YORK (AP) — American and Afghan flags flew on Broadway Tuesday as New York staged a ticker-tape parade for King Mohammed Zahir and Queen Homaira of Afghanistan. The king, 49, is the first Afghan monarch to visit the United States.

'BETTER NO FOOTBALL THAN LET NEGROES IN'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Football players at segregated Tuskegee High School voted Tuesday to disband the team and cancel the school's remaining football games.

A statement by the players said "an overwhelming majority" of the team decided not to represent a racially mixed student body. Thirteen Negroes entered the school Tuesday.

Who Will Replace World Leaders?

DEBRE

More baffling is who will succeed de Gaulle. Political observers in Paris say the likeliest candidate is former premier Michel Debre, who recently regained a seat in the National Assembly.

In New Delhi, political observers regard Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri as the most likely successor to Nehru.

Shastri, only about five feet tall, is 59. He is a devoted and trusted colleague of the premier with a special reputation as a first-rate political peace-maker.

BREZHNEV

Liu, a tall, slender man with streaks of grey in his dark hair, says he's 65, the same age as Premier Chou En-lai.

A longshot contender is Foreign Minister Chen Yi, 61.

In West Germany the ruling Christian Democrats have unanimously elected 66-year-old Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard to succeed Adenauer.

LIU SHAO-CHI

FOR THE INSIDE STORY

New X-Ray Unit Opens

No longer do staff and patients have to stumble over stretchers and wheelchairs in corridors of Royal Jubilee Hospital's X-ray department.

The new X-ray department which officially opened on Tuesday looks more like the spacious lounge of a Hilton Hotel.

Private cubicles adjoin each X-ray unit, and there the out and in-patients can wait in seclusion leaving the corridor open.

There are six radiographic rooms with provision for a seventh. Newest piece of equipment is the fluoroscopic unit which can be used in daylight with the image intensified 1,500 times.

FOR BOYS 15 TO 18

'Y' Youth Programs Get New Emphasis This Fall

YMCA members in the 15-18 age group can expect an organized program of character-building activities this fall.

This was announced by new youth work secretary George Warne, who arrived here Monday. He served two years with the 'Y' in Owen Sound, Ont.

"I find we need more activities for boys from 15-18 years than we have had before. Last year activities were on a casual basis. The door of the youth department room was open and the boys came in after school to use the facilities."

This year he hopes to form new clubs and establish a set program of craft classes for high school boys.

Also on his agenda this year is the formation of a Hi-Y club at Mount View high school if there is interest and school sponsors are available.

Mount View is the only Victoria YMCA's Camp Thun-senior high school in Greater-Victoria at Gintz Lake.

LEGAL FEES ALLOWANCE OVERSPENT

The Attorney-General's department has already used up this year's budget for legal expenses.

The budget allocation for the year ending next March 31 was $125,000.

It's all gone, and the cabinet has issued a special warrant of $21,160 to cover additional expenses.

An official of the department said the costly B.C. Electric case took up some of the money. Another unexpected expense was the investigation into Northern Ontario Natural Gas Co. which involved a trip to New Zealand culminating in charges being laid in Eastern Canada.

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH

BY-LAW No. 2073
